$3000 "Know New England Contest" Starts This Week For Graphic Readers

How Would You Like To Win the $2000 First Prize?—Or One Of 30 Other Cash Prizes—All Are Eligible To Enter Contest Which Runs for 10 Weeks

Starting today in cities and towns in the six New England States is a contest open only to regular or summer residents of New England. The purpose of the contest is to find out who can jumble six words correctly a week, one word for each state, for the next ten weeks, and win $2,000 as a first prize. On another page in this paper appears first announcement of the contest which is sponsored by the New England Press Association, of which this paper is a member. Turn to the page and see how easy it is to solve the first set of jumbled familiar names with a little thought and skill. You will find it a lot of fun, and at the end of ten weeks you may win one of the thirty-one big cash awards.

Simple Rules

The rules of the contest are relatively simple. The contest is open only to bona fide residents of the New England states, with exceptions of the employees of the New England Press Association and of this newspaper and members of their families, and with a further exception of any persons who have won $500 or more in any previous newspaper contest. Beginning this week and for ten weeks to follow, this paper will publish six jumbled names. Each of these names will be jumbled to include syllables or words of some of the five other names. For example: "What are the correct names for these two jumbled New England cities—Fiedelcheste and Springsman?" The correct answers are Manchester and Springfield. The jumbled names appearing together will represent a similar classification — one week six New England manufacturing centers, etc. Each New England state will be represented each week in the six names. It is a part of this contest to find the correct name that goes with each state. Each week the six names will be taken from such classification as New England manufacturers, New England colleges, New England mountains, New England heroes, etc. Neatness does not count, and there is no need to decorate your replies or make them elaborate. Simply fill out the answer form that appears in the advertisement.

Of course in case of ties as many prizes will be reserved as there are persons tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution. That is if, two or more people tie in submitting the correct or nearest correct solutions to the sixty names, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them and will be awarded in the order of the correctness of the solutions of such contestants (without cost) to a second series of sixty names, together with the best letter or not over 200 words on the subject of "Why I Prefer to Read a Weekly Newspaper." In the event of a final tie between two or more contestants for any position in the list of winners, identical prizes will be awarded to the tying contestants.

Send Answers Each Week

Answers each week to the contest should be submitted during the following week. Reasonable facsimiles (hand drawn, not traced) of the "Know New England" Contest Answer Forms may be submitted. Entry forms may be submitted from any of the newspapers co-operating in this contest. Contestants are requested to mail their answers by first-class postage to the "Know New England" Contest, 14 Beacon street, Boston, Massachusetts. Answer forms in this contest for the tenth and last series will be received up to midnight Saturday, September 4, 1937. No answer forms will be accepted and judged which arrive in the contest office later than that date, and all except those sent by mail and postmarked not later than midnight, Saturday, September 4, 1937. In order to qualify for any of the prizes, each contestant is required to send in with an answer form, 10 cents in coin payment, in return for which they will receive at the end of the contest four beautiful photographic prints of New England scenes by the distinguished photographer, Sam Chamberlain. These beautiful pictures, size 8 x 11, are suitable for framing. Purchase of these prints is a condition for entering this contest, and these prints will be mailed to the contestants at the close of the contest.

Use Encyclopedia Britannica

Any person entering the contest and by submission of answers agrees to accept as final decision of the New England Press Association and the contest editor on all matters affecting the conditions of the contest, in making the awards, and procedure and policy with regard to the acceptance of submissions during the contest. The spelling of all New England names in this contest will conform with the spelling as given in the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Make sure that your name and address appears on the answer form, as answer forms received with no names will not be considered or recognized. If there is anything about the contest which you do not understand simply drop a line, telephone to this paper or to the "Know New England Contest Editor" for an explanation. The telephone number in Boston is Capitol 0350. Be sure and enclose a dime with your answer form when sending in each week's solution.

Newton Safety Chapter Meets

The Newton Chapter of the Mass. Safety Council held a meeting on Tuesday night at City Hall. General Daniel Needham, president of the chapter, was in charge of the meeting, and 10 members attended. Secretary Rupert Thompson read minutes of a meeting of the executive committee, and chairman of the various sub-committees made reports. Chief Hughes brought to the meeting a large map showing locations of automobile accidents in this city during the past year and a half, and the types of accidents. He also had a number of photographs of automobiles which had been in accidents, and which had been taken by Robert Lunt, official photographer for the Newton police department.

Alfred M. Miner, reporting for the Engineering Committee, stated that WPA workers have been making surveys in this city of traffic conditions, and will continue to co-operate with the local safety chapter. He paid tribute to the efficiency of the Newton fire department. Raymond Green, acting principal of Newton High School, who has been making a survey of safety education in Newton schools, said he has received reports from all principals of public schools in the city, praised the parochial schools for the work they are doing, and said the work will be continued actively when the schools open next September. M. A. Kraft of the Harvard Bureau of Traffic Research, and a resident of Newtonville, promised the assistance of his school facilities.

General Needham said that the purpose of the Newton Safety Council is to co-operate with city officials, the Mayor and Aldermen in making Newton safer, in assisting department heads to obtain equipment and other aids to promote safety, and to plan a definite program. He said the chapter will try not to be meddlesome or critical, nor to antagonize people. Mr. Needham urged members of the chapter to ask their friends to see the new moving picture entitled "Devil is Driving," a powerful film produced to educate the American public in matters of traffic safety.

General Needham had prepared a constitution and by-laws for the chapter, which were accepted, and at his suggestion articles of incorporation were approved by the members present.

Charles Warren, chairman of the Accidents Facts Division of the Chapter reported that a meeting of that committee had been held on June 25 at City Hall. The matters discussed at the meeting were—the advisability of getting from the Police Department weekly or monthly records of accidents; what kind of statistical data would be interesting to the general public; how should such data be sent to the public; what type of statistical data would be advisable for publicity purposes?

Newtonville Youth Held for Brutal Attack on Girl

Angelo Tocci, 20, of 127 Linwood ave., Newtonville, was arrested last Thursday by Patrolmen Wm. Whelan and Bell charged with having made a brutal attack on Esther Hanscom, 23, of 544 Grove st., Newton Lower Falls. He was arraigned in the Newton court last Friday and Judge Allen ordered him held for the grand jury. Bail of $5000 was furnished by Tocci's father. On the night of June 13 the Hanscom girl left Watertown square to walk to Fair Oaks Avenue, Newtonville, where she had been employed. She observed a man following her along California st. and walked slowly to allow him to pass her. Instead of passing her, he kept alongside of her until opposite Colonial ave., Newtonville. There, he made advances to the girl, dragged her into a field near the Charles River and knocked her down. When the girl resisted, her assailant hit her, broke her nose and blackened both her eyes. The back of her head was also cut. Her attacker then fled. The girl went to 90 Fair Oaks ave., where she had been living. Newton police were notified and Patrolman Whelan went to work on the case, assisted by Patrolman Bell. Whelan drove the girl about Watertown, Nonantum and Newtonville to view several suspects, none of whom she identified. But, when Tocci was pointed out to her on Linwood ave. on last Thursday night, she at once stated he was her assailant. Tocci denied he attacked the young woman and will present several witnesses before the Grand Jury to prove an alibi.

New Playgrounds To Be Opened

When Newton playgrounds open on July 6 they will total 20, instead 18 as last year. Two new playgrounds will be in operation. It is located near Henshaw st., between Cherry and Waltham sts. The other new playground at Cold Spring swamp area covers about 23 acres. For the past four years a large number of men have been at work on this area under ERA and WPA projects, and a huge sum of money has been spent on it through Federal allotments which saved taxpayers of Newton considerable in relief payments. In addition the city also appropriated large sums for material in conjunction with the work done in this area.

Decision For City On Oak Hill Pit

On Monday the Superior Court issued an order denying the motion made by attorneys for George Wilbur of the Highland Sand & Gravel Company of Oak Hill which asked that the matter be recommended to the master who was appointed to sit on this case by the Superior Court. The court decision also overruled the exceptions taken to findings made by the master, which had been made by the attorneys of Wilbur. The findings of the master were favorable to the City of Newton. The next step in the long drawn litigation between the city and Wilbur over the gravel pit operations, which have been declared a nuisance for years by Oak Hill residents, will be for the City Solicitor to ask for a final decree from the court.

A SAFE AND SANE HOLIDAY

Coming on Sunday of this year a considerable part of the usual Fourth of July celebration will take place on Monday. Thousands of persons will observe the long holiday week-end in various ways, and as usual there will undoubtedly be chronicled numerous accounts of tragic events taking place. We trust that everyone will use extreme care and precaution in minimizing the accidents which can be traced to some form of patriotic observance of the Declaration of Independence.

For centuries fireworks have been used in nearly all civilized countries on occasions of national rejoicing. In America fireworks on the Fourth remind us of that great struggle for liberty and as long as that love of freedom endures, fireworks will continue as the particular characteristic of the day. Without them much of the patriotic significance would be lost. And then, too, fireworks provide a means of emotional release for millions of people. Popular fireworks today are safer to use than they have ever been. In some states stringent laws prohibit the use of large and more dangerous types. Manufacturers, too, are interested in safer products and have introduced numerous safety features tending toward a safer and saner celebration. School officials have also been giving greater attention to the training of pupils to be more careful. But too many times the human factor, largely through carelessness and thoughtlessness, causes some accident which brings tragedy and sorrow upon one's loved ones. So once again we say: Be Careful—Keep Your Fourth of July Safe and Sane!

HAVE YOU TRIED OUR PRIZE CONTEST?

Have you tried the first set of jumbled names in the first of a series of ten sets in the "Know New England Contest", starting in this week's issue on page three. If you want fun, thrills, and a chance at various prizes, beginning with a first prize of $2,000 in cash you will want to start right away. The first series, names of manufacturing centres in the six New England states, is comparatively simple. Others to follow will be interesting and entertaining. They will include the jumbled names of one classification, such as six New England Colleges, lakes and the like. And any person with an average knowledge of New England will find educational value in the contest as well as a pleasant summer pastime.

A BENEFICENT EMPLOYER

The last will and testament of the late Charles E. Riley indicates the deep humanitarianism of his character. A generous share of his estate goes to those who served him during his lifetime and will make the later years of their lives far more comfortable than they might have been but for their employer's thoughtfulness.

A reminder—do not forget it is illegal to set off firecrackers and other Fourth of July paraphernalia until after midnight on Sunday night. Query—when is July 4th not July 4th? Ans.—When it is July 5th.

Modern Kitchens

"Planning a modern kitchen is much the same problem to a housewife as planning a new factory is to a manufacturer," says Mr. E. B. Lane, Manager of Standard Sanitary Mfg. Company. "Women should take into consideration the placing of the equipment so the greatest amount of work can be done with the least effort."

Fortunately, modern kitchen equipment has greatly aided in saving steps. Let us take, for example, the new "Hostess" cabinet sink recently placed on the market. Underneath the sink itself are spacious drawers and roomy compartments with sliding racks for wash cloths and special places for soaps. There are generous drainboards and a deep sink well, a convenient hose to aid in washing dishes, and a wide back ledge for brushes, soaps and cleansers.

"Here within easy reach of the housewife are many articles which might ordinarily be scattered to all parts of the kitchen. The space under the sink which might otherwise be cluttered up with pans and dish rags now is available for storage. The 'Hostess' sink has a modern appearance that adds to the appearance of the kitchen."

"Today, the sink, refrigerator, stove, cupboards, and other kitchen fixtures are designed to fit together as units. The 'Hostess' sink is tailored to fit perfectly with other kitchen units."

Newton Republican, July 3, 1875

We are glad to hear that proprietors of drug stores propose to confine their Sunday trade strictly to the sale of medicines. It is clearly against the statute law to sell other articles on Sunday.

Residents of Brighton (Hunnell) Hill, who want to be annexed to Newton, will give the city government and invited guests an opportunity to view that territory at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

One of the pleasantest trips you can make in this vicinity is to go over to Waltham and take passage on the steamer "White Swan," in charge of Captain Gibbs. She makes four trips daily up the river. The boat has been recently renovated and is now one of the staunchest crafts afloat.

The antiques and horrors will parade on the morning of July 5 in grotesque costumes and style.

Nonantum Steam Fire Engine will visit Brookline, by invitation, on Monday at the celebration of the introduction of the water system in that town.

Tuesday afternoon as Mr Young of Newton Centre was passing through Richardson st. with his wife, a Mrs. French who lives on Richardson st., and a 16 year old boy, the horse he was driving took fright at a passing freight train. All four were thrown from the carriage and injured. The carriage, valued at $300, was ruined.

Six hundred and four men were given lodgings at Police Station 1, Newton between January 1 and July 1 of this year; at the West Newton police station 675 tramps were given lodgings during the past 6 months.

Ward 2 seems to be the banner Ward for building this year. Besides several dwellings, the city is at work on the high school building, and will soon commence on the city stables on Washington street.

The Newtonville M. E. Church Sunday school had a pleasant picnic at Harrington's Grove on the Charles River in Waltham last Tuesday. The Newtonville Congregational Church held its annual picnic on Thursday at Lily Point Grove on the Charles.

While going to the fire at Boyd st., Newton, on Tuesday evening, one of the horses on Hook & Ladder Truck from Newtonville, fell and was disabled. The firemen at once manned the ropes, and drew the truck the rest of the way.

John L. Roberts Hook & Ladder Company of Newtonville has voted to disband. The reason given is—that the new location of the truck house, toward West Newton, is so far away, that no member lives within half a mile of it. It will be impossible for them to do duty as promptly as heretofore. They protest against the location of the new house as against the wishes of the people of Newtonville.

The Boston & Albany Railroad has applied for a permit to erect a new station at West Newton. It will be of brick, 100 feet long and 28 feet deep.

Mayor Hyde states that he has, as Chief of Police, put back the policemen at Newton Highlands on Saturday nights and Sunday, as petitioned for.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday afternoon, the matter of annoyance by bathers at Crystal Lake, Newton Centre, was brought up. It was voted to erect bath houses not to exceed $300 in cost.

The Newton Bicycle Club and their lady friends have been invited to take a run out to Arthur Whitaker's famous strawberry farm in Needham, and it is needless to add that the invitation has been accepted.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday evening, Alderman Pettie moved that the pay of engineers in the fire department be restored from $950 to $1080, and that of drivers from $750 to $900.

On Monday forenoon there was a serious accident at Phipps and Train's silk mill at Newton Upper Falls, Norman Probert, a lad 14 years old, while at work, got his leg caught in the machinery. When he was rescued from his perilous position, he was conveyed to the Newton Cottage Hospital where it was found necessary to amputate the limb.

The Board of Aldermen met Thursday evening to discuss the matter of granting a franchise for the street railway from Newton to Waltham. The company was represented by H. B. Parker and J. W. Stover. There was a long discussion over the rails. The company prefers the lighter rail of 35 pounds to the yard, while the highway committee wants the heavier rail, weighing 52 pounds. Mr. Stover said that if the company is compelled to build the railroad by the most expensive plan, it cannot sell tickets for 6 cents each, or 20 for a dollar.

Powers' Paragraphs

Several weeks ago we mentioned that most stores in Newton would be closed on Wednesday afternoons in order that persons working in them, both owners and employees, might have a half day each week for recreation. About all other classes of workers enjoy a Saturday half-holiday, and many do not work on Saturdays. Practically all of the stores in Newton, including units of chain stores, are co-operating in the Wednesday afternoon closing. A few of the smaller markets and grocery stores are not. We urge our readers to patronize those stores which close on Wednesday afternoons, and by so doing help store employees (and owners) to get the same privilege the great majority of us enjoy. Persons observed buying groceries and provisions in the few stores which keep open on Wednesday afternoons, will not gain a reputation for consideration.

General Daniel Needham and Richard J. Dunn, president and vice-president, respectively of the newly formed Newton Chapter of the Mass. Safety Council, have been giving considerable of their time to this movement in order to get it properly started in this city. As both men have many demands on their time, the sacrifices they are making in the cause of safer highways in Newton should stimulate the other members of the Chapter, as well as citizens in general, to co-operate with them.

Colonel Henry Comerais resides at 1224 Beyston st., Upper Falls, which is the Worcester turnpike. He has ample opportunities to observe the terrific speeds at which many automobiles are operated on this super-highway. He says some cars go so fast that it takes two persons to watch them in transit. One to see the car coming; the other to see it going, as it is out of view before one can turn one's head. Incidentally, due to the amount of the turnpike by motorcycle officers of the Newton police, many speeders have been summoned into the Newton court and fined.

The exposures made by the Boston Finance Commission in its investigation of expenditures of the George Robert White Fund are producing another chapter in the history of this fund, created by a philanthropic man who desired to benefit the public and posterity in the city he loved. It is common knowledge that some of the income from the fund created by Mr. White has been wasted. An exorbitant salary was paid for years to men who served as directors of this fund, before it was decided that this big expense was unnecessary. It is not to be wondered that many men, generously inclined, decide not to bequeath large amounts for benevolent purposes, to be publicly administered, when they observe how such funds are oftentimes mispent.

We can understand how newspapers which specialize in sensationalism pander to morbid minded and unintelligent persons. But, we cannot understand why a certain Boston newspaper which we have read ever since we could read, and which, in the past, won a reputation as a decent, family newspaper, tends toward featuring news about degeneracy. This paper during the past week had a full spread on its front page of the arrest in Chicago of a psychopathic who had murdered three persons in New York. Why does it think Massachusetts people are interested in this pervers? And this paper, in common with other newspapers, gives a paragraph, or less, when some respectable person who had lived in Greater Boston is killed by an automobile.

The display of mountain laurel the past two weeks along the Willard Brook reservation between West Townsend and Ashby, and along the Souhegan valley between New Ipswich and Wilton, New Hampshire, has been worth traveling many miles to see. Massachusetts and New Hampshire should pass laws to prevent the commercial use of this beautiful shrub by florists before it becomes practically extinct.

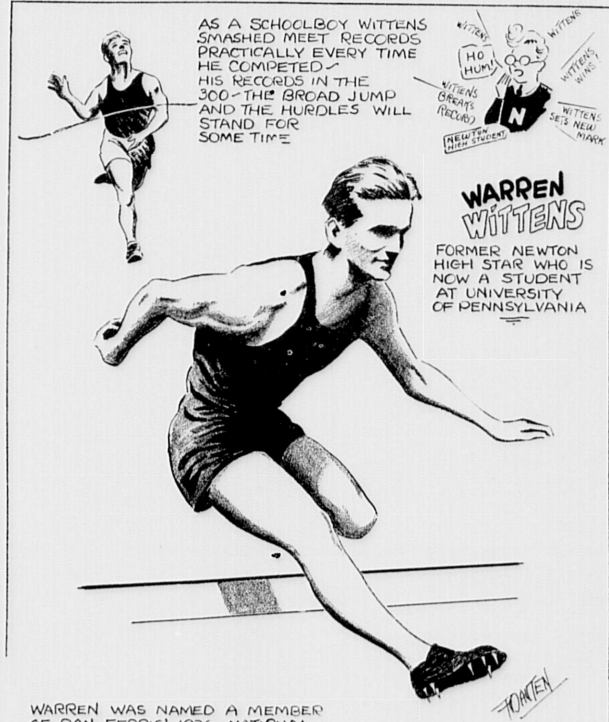

Sometime in the future the annual publication of cautioning "DON'TS" relative to the use of firecrackers, fireworks and explosives as July 4th draws near, will not be necessary. Because, common sense will eventually prohibit the indiscriminate sale of fireworks and firecrackers.

Three young men found guilty of assaulting and attempting to rob a man are punished by receiving a severe lecture from a judge in a superior court in this State, and placed on probation. A man in this county, in whose home three incendiary fires had occurred within a few years, who had collected over $8000 insurance on these fires, and who was finally convicted of arson when another incendiary fire occurs in his home, is sentenced to two years in prison by the same judge—and then the sentence is suspended.

Of course in weeding out WPA workers, political pull does not count, and those most in need are retained. Incidentally, the WPA workers who have been engaged in manual labor are not winning so much, or making so many demands as are the "writers" and "actors," many of whom never earned a living before the WPA in theatrical or literary pursuits.

NEWTON SPORTS REVIEW

No. 3

WARREN WAS NAMED A MEMBER OF DAN FERRIS' 1036 NATIONAL SCHOLASTIC TRACK TEAM.

Warren Wittens, of Ricker rd., subject of Fred Dauten's sports portrait of the week, is the youngest of this series of Newton athletes. He will be twenty years old on August 26th. He was the youngest winner in the New England A. A. U. track and field championships at Lynn last Thursday, having won the 220-yard low hurdles, his favorite event. He is a sophomore at University of Pennsylvania.

Right now Warren is nursing what seems to be justifiable indignation at the New England A. A. U. officials, who had the power to send him to Milwaukee for the National championships this week, but who chose instead Ray Henderson, a hurler whom Warren defeated in the qualifying meet Thursday night. Inasmuch as the National meet is the basis for selecting four teams for summer trips abroad, competition for local championships is keen indeed, and keen is the disappointment of New England champion Warren Wittens.

Last year, after he had finished at Newton High school, Warren went to the National A. A. U. meeting at Princeton, N. J., and won the national junior championship in the low hurdles. The next day he was asked to run in the senior event, and finished fourth in the country's fastest compe-dition. The youngest junior champion crowned, he had the trip independently, and without the help of the A. A. U. Warren could also have made the trip to Milwaukee at his father's expense, but lost interest when the local 3-A. U. fathers ignored him and named the New England intercollegiate champion, whom he had licked on the soft track at Lynn.

Warren Wittens was born in Newton of Belgian-English parentage, and has always lived here. He was placed on the National Scholastic Honor Roll of track athletes last year for running the 220-yard low hurdles in 24.7 seconds. His other records at Newton High are 52s for the 440-yard run, 13.7s for the 120-yard low hurdles, 33 2/5s for the 300-yard run indoors, and two relay records. Another creditable mark is his 22ft. 6in. in the running broad jump, although he is 24 in. short of Milt Green's school record. Warren was the mainstay of the 1936 team at Newton High which went through winter and spring seasons without losing a single meet. He is one of the best of Coach Donald G. Enoch's Newton High track prodigies, and has another able coach at Penn in Lawson Robertson, head American Olympic coach for many years. He stands 5ft. 10in. tall and weighs 153 lbs.

These JUMBLED WORDS represent six New England Manufacturing Centers—one for each state. These six names are made by taking one or more syllables or words from the six correct names and mixing them. For example: "What are correct names for these two jumbled New England Cities—MANISTON and LEWCHESTER?" The correct answer is MANCHESTER and LEWISTON. Simply unscramble these six names and fill in the name correctly spelled for each state on the Answer Form.

START NOW—SEND YOUR ANSWERS EACH WEEK

THE RULES PLEASE READ CAREFULLY!

- 1 The "KNOW NEW ENGLAND" Contest is open to residents and summer visitors in New England with the exception of employees of the New England Press Association, their Advertising Agency or of this Newspaper and members of their families, and with the further exception of any person who has won $500 or more in any previous newspaper contest.
- 2 Beginning the week of June 28, 1937, and continuing each week for ten weeks, this newspaper will publish SIX JUMBLED NAMES. Each of these names will be jumbled to include syllables or words from the six correct names. For example: "What are correct names for these two jumbled New England Cities—MANISTON and LEWCHESTER?" The correct answer is MANCHESTER and LEWISTON. The jumbled names, appearing together will represent a similar classification, one week in New England Manufacturing Centers, the next week six New England Colleges, etc. Each New England state will be represented in the list of winners. It is part of this contest to find the correct name that goes with each State.
- 3 The New England Press Association will award a First Prize of $2,000.00 as a part of $3,000.00 in cash prizes to the person or persons submitting the correct or most correct names for each of the six jumbled names, and in addition, a cash prize of $500.00 to the person or persons submitting the nearest correct solutions shall be eligible for the additional prizes in the order of the correctness of their solutions. Merchandise prizes will be given to the twenty highest contestants in each state, who will receive a Gift Packet containing ten full size packages—one each of the products advertised in this contest.
- 4 Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your replies or make them elaborate.
- 5 In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are persons tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more people tie in submitting the correct or nearest correct solutions to the 60 names, the first two or more contestants will be reserved for them and will be awarded in the order of the correctness of the solutions of such persons without cost, to a second series of 60 names together with the best letter of not over 200 words on the subject "Why I Prefer to Read a Weekly Newspaper." In the event of a final tie between two or more contestants for no position in the list of winners, identical prizes will be awarded to the tying contestants.
- 6 Answers to each weekly contest should be submitted during the following week. Reasonable delay in submitting answers will not be considered. The New England Press Association will not be responsible for answers or communications unduly delayed or lost in transit either from the contestant to the New England Press Association or from the New England Press Association to the contestant.
- 7 In order to qualify for a prize, the contestant is required to accompany each of the 10 series of answers with a remittance of ten cents in coin payment in return for which you will receive four beautiful photographic prints of New England scenes. Picture size 8 x 11, suitable for framing. Purchase of these prints is a condition for entering the contest. These picture prints will be mailed to the contestant at the close of the contest.
- 8 Any person entering the contest and by submission of answers, agrees to accept as final the decision of the New England Press Association and the Contest Editor, on all matters affecting the conduct of the contest, the making of awards, and procedure and policy with regard to the acceptance of submissions during the contest. The sending of these New England Names conforms with that given in the Encyclopedia Britannica. The New England Press Association reserves the right to disqualify any submission which shows evidence of collusion.
- 9 Answer forms to which no names are signed will not be considered, nor will any claims to the ownership of such answers be recognized. The New England Press Association will not be responsible for answers or communications unduly delayed or lost in transit either from the contestant to the New England Press Association or from the New England Press Association to the contestant.
- 10 More than one member of a family may enter this contest if 10 cents is sent with each Answer Form.

Dog Causes Auto Crash and Row

A jay-walking dog caused an automobile crash, a verbal crash and the arrest of an autoist on Tuesday night. Frank Sennott of Arapahoe rd., West Newton was driving his car on Commonwealth ave. at Rowe st., Auburndale when he had to stop it to avoid running over the dog. As he did, a car driven by Bernard Rudnick of 14 Gibbs st., Brookline, hit the rear of the Sennott car. Sennott asked Rudnick to show his license and the latter refused. An argument ensued and Mrs. Sennott stood on the running board of the Rudnick car. As she was standing there, another man, allegedly Robert Cohen of 14 Clements rd., Newton, drove the car along the street for about 100 yards. Sennott obtained complaints against Rudnick for driving so as to endanger, and leaving the scene of an accident without identifying himself. Rudnick was arrested after midnight and arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday. His case will be tried on July 12. Sennott claimed that he and his son received injuries.

Suspend Sentence Of Auto Thief

David Evans, 28, of 1 Robinhood rd., Auburndale, was found guilty in the Newton court on Monday for taking without authority an automobile owned by Michael Vassalotti of the Riverside Sand & Gravel Company. The car was taken from near the gravel pit Saturday afternoon. Evans was arrested about 8 Saturday night at Washington and Adams sts., Newton, by Patrolman Smith. He was given a sentence of 6 months in Middlesex County prison, and the sentence was then suspended.

Charged With Drunken Driving

William C. Mansfield of Carey ave., Lexington, was arrested Saturday night at Commonwealth ave. and Chestnut st., Waban, by Patrolmen L. Murphy and Dwyer on charges of drunkenness and driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday and his case continued until July 7. A car driven by Mrs. E. K. Walker of 54 Carver rd., Newton Highlands, had halted at the "Stop" sign on Chestnut st., at the intersection, when the car driven by Mansfield crashed into it.

Automobile Accidents

Cars driven by Charles Foster of 249 Russell rd., Brookline, and Lindsay Glidden of 105 Union st., Watertown, collided about 8 a. m. Monday at the dangerous intersection of Pearl and Jewett sts., Newton. Foster's car was tipped over and he received a cut on the forehead. He was treated by Dr. Flynn of Washington st.

Life Story of Elizabeth Spear

Miss Lizzie—a portrait of a New England teacher, published by Chapman and Grimes, 110 Mt. Vernon st., Boston, should be of special interest to Newton people.
It centers around the life of Elizabeth Spear and the Newton of 1842, of which she became a resident when she was six months old. It was written as a tribute to one who has been a blessing to many lives. The author, Mary Woodburn Bent, was for five years associated with the Spear School, as student and teacher.
Our busy Mayor, Edwin O. Childs, has written the Foreword; Personal recollections of Senator Arthur Hollis, Leverett D. G. Bentley, of the Boston Globe, and Roy Gardner, a Boston musician, also some of her "girls" in Newton, contribute interest to the material.
The closing chapter was added after the acceptance of the Spear Home, which she became a resident of, to be preserved as a "green spot."

Protect Masonry Walls From Deterioration

The brickwork or stone masonry of a building is subject to leaking sooner or later if not protected from the elements by waterproofing. Like everything else deterioration starts in a small way and may not be noticeable until it has done considerable damage, creating a great expense for repairs. Mortar joints are more or less porous and constant absorbing of water destroys the strength of the mortar and as cold weather sets in the joints will crumble from frost. Ordinary cement mortar joints also shrink, leaving a chance for driving rains to work inside the walls causing them to be continuously damp.
By scientific waterproofing methods the Waples Company have saved many buildings from deterioration and likewise saved owners thousands of dollars in unnecessary repairs. Whether a building is new or old, at comparatively small expense it may be treated by expert waterproofers and saved from driving rain and winter freezing for years to come.

FISHING IS GOOD AT SPENCER LAKE, MAINE

Mrs. Elsa Shaw, formerly of Newton and Watertown, is now managing the Spencer Lake Camps at Gerard, Me. Spencer is 20 miles from the nearest settlement and its very inaccessibility to the general public insures ideal fishing and hunting.
While Spencer is primarily a mecca for sportsmen, it is an ideal spot for the tired business man or woman to relax.
The trip in from Jackman, Maine, (15 miles from the Canadian border on the Quebec Highway) is interesting and beautiful. A motor boat takes one to Attean Falls where a team meets the guest for the 8 mile drive through the woods. One can also arrange to reach the camps by seaplane from Lewiston or Skowhegan, Maine. Spencer enjoys an enviable reputation and Mrs. Shaw is prepared to see that its high standards are maintained.

Women's Club Activities

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Final Events at Swampscott

On Wednesday morning, May 19th, State Federation Clubwomen entered Convention Hall at Swampscott to view "officialdom" upon the stage. Present officers, directors, and chairmen, outgoing and incoming, had gathered to make their bows. The gathering was attractive, with its new features this year. A canopy top of green was most appropriate for this sea-side resort, like a huge umbrella protecting a beach gathering. Green-draped posts at the corners were reminiscent of refreshing summer background of coolness. Cedars and palms added to the atmosphere, and color was supplied in the two huge bouquets placed in front of the speaker's stand. Retiring directors and chairmen sat side by side with those who were to take their places, in a tiered formation at the back of the stage, a pleasing innovation this year. Between them and the audience were the officers, including those who were about to be introduced.

The following ceremonies made a delightful courtesy to those who had served so untrillingly and to those who were to take up their tasks. Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, first vice-president of the State Federation, and "dean of directors", presented each of the directors who had completed her course, "summa cum laude", as Mrs. Hildreth said quaintly. Then each director, with a friendly greeting, presented her successor, and transferred her badge of office from her own shoulder to the newly-elected director's. Mrs. David A. Westcott, "dean of chairmen", performed a similar rite for the retiring and incoming chairmen of departments, and the president, Mrs. John H. Kimball, presented the new officers. Many of the introductions were interesting, humorous, or clever, but there was a bit of monotony in the ceremony for the onlookers, in bidding farewell to old friends, and in seeing new workers enter with courage into their service.

The presentation of many, many gifts as the climax to the session went out of existence this year. Instead of having this deluge of bouquets and gifts presented by the long queue of members of the Meetings committee, dressed in white, as has been the custom for years, all flowers and packages which arrived at Convention Hall were retained at tables near the entrance and were presented informally as the officials marched out to return to the hotel. While far less spectacular, this method has much to commend it. It engenders less feeling of competition and popularity, and places smaller financial burden upon small groups.

New chairmen presented and announced for the coming year are as follows: Mrs. Malcolm Green, of Newton Highlands, International Relations; Mrs. George C. Francis, Chelsea, Mothercraft; Mrs. Arthur G. Fletcher, Canton, Home Economics; Mrs. Barbara F. Williams, Milton, Motion Pictures; Mrs. James A. Potter, West Medford, Physically Handicapped; Mrs. Benjamin F. Kraus, Hyde Park, Radio; Mrs. George T. Hyde, Brockton, Credentials and Registration; and Mrs. Joseph F. Leach, of Walpole, trustee of the Endowment Fund.

The chairmanship of Music, so ably filled by Mrs. Mabel H. Glesian of Chestnut Hill, is vacant for the present, and also that of Social Welfare, held by Mrs. J. Verity Smith.

A beautiful feature, concluding the program, was a tableau and consecration service on the subject of "Peace," arranged by Mrs. Henry W. Inman. Those taking part in the tableau were Mrs. John R. Dallinger, Mrs. Barbara F. Williams, Mrs. L. William Crowell, of Winthrop, as Peace, and Clarence Westphal, of Boston, as a soldier.

On the platform for the peace tableau was a handsome silk flag flying in the breeze from a mechanical standard, that gave it a vivid and realistic effect.

And then, with the sounding of the gavel when Mrs. Kimball adjourned the Annual Meeting, there came the "surprise" which the Meetings committee, headed by Mrs. Charles R. Storey, of Brockton, had been promising, and which had aroused the curiosity of the delegates during the three days. It may sound shocking to state, but officers, directors, and committee chairmen were taken for a ride at the close of the Convention, but it was a gay ride—a note of frivolity and a bit of levity, which was a business of consideration of serious affairs—a "triumphal procession" from the Convention Hall back to the Hotel for the last luncheon.

Huge, gaudy garden umbrellas warned the daring raindrops to stay their coming, as the procession began to form at the auditorium doorway. Pillars and posts along the line of march had been gaily decorated with blue and gold streamers. Heading the parade was a huge "sound" truck, bursting forth with such "electrically transcribed" melodies as "Little Old Lady," "The Isle of Capri," and "The Spinning Wheel."

Behind this, in dignified white array, marched a delegation from the Meetings committee, Mrs. Storey, the chairman, and Miss Margaret S. Brown, vice-chairman, leading. Threatening to annihilate them from the rear, and prancing along in high glee, possibly at the great honor that fell to him, was a grayish pony, about the stature of a good-sized dog driven by Mrs. John H. Kimball—a little nervous, but "game"—in a miniature two-wheeled dog-cart. Protecting her coiffure from the threatening elements was Helmet No. 1 from the Swampscott fire department—a most becoming style of millinery, all agreed.

It must be admitted that Mrs. Storey looked a little dubious when she

Resolutions And Final Reports

The General Federation of Women's Clubs in session at Tulsa, Okla., on Thursday morning, April 29th, launched an attack on Communism and the spread of communistic propaganda in several resolutions adopted. One condemned the use of school and other public buildings for meetings where "propaganda inimical to our democratic form of government" was given out. Another opposed the teaching by public schools teachers of "alien philosophies," under the guise of free speech and liberal thought, forcing their own ideas of government upon students in their formative years. In this resolution the significant statement was that the Federation urged the local clubs to notify school authorities of their disapproval of such methods.

Another resolution called for speedy deportation of illegal entrants and aliens judged to be criminals or detrimental to the welfare of the United States, and also called for the deportation of aliens on relief who have been rendered long enough to have become naturalized but who have not taken this step.

Besides the Emergency Resolution on the "pernicious abuse of the pardon and parole system," as a result of Mrs. St. John's address, there was one more resolution calling for a kindergarten in every school.

The speaker Thursday morning, Mrs. Walter Ferguson, of Tulsa, Columnist for the Scripps-Howard News-papers, in an eloquent, vivid address, held the tense interest of her audience. Speaking of the power of organized women, and of their responsibility in taking up the battle in big issues, she said:

"We have been taught that a nation depends upon its homes, but it is also true that the kind of homes we have depends upon the sort of government we make for ourselves."

"The woman who sits at home believing she is doing her whole duty to her family may by and by find herself without a home to sit in. The time has come when the individual alone can accomplish nothing; we must learn to work in groups," she advised.

Junior Membership was featured at the Thursday afternoon session when three departments, American Home, Education, and Junior Clubwomen, combined in a Forum, under the general topic "Youth." Mrs. Elbert W. Shirk, chairman of the Junior department, presented as speaker Mrs. Al. Herbert Powers, of Oregon, herself a Junior member of the organization, and vice-chairman of the Junior department.

Mrs. Powers gave a graphic composite picture of the world as viewed by 15 young persons of her acquaintance. She urged the clubwomen to stand by and help youth by establishing in their communities the Junior Women's Clubs, a Leisure School, a find-a-job club, and a playground on a vacant lot.

"The goal of youth today is security," Mrs. Powers declared. "They are terribly concerned with the fundamentals of life, schooling, a job, marriage, a little fun. Having seen financial empires topple, railroads wobble, and savings swept away they have no burning desire for great fortunes or enduring fame. Youth prefers safety to splendor. Youth coming of age during the depression has embraced what we once called the basic virtues—humility, thrift and courage."

Thursday evening, April 29th, was General Federation President's Night, in honor of Mrs. Lawson. Speakers presented possibly quite the most thrilling and controversial program of the session. Honorable Burton K. Wheeler, United States Senator from saw her president, Mrs. Kimball, gather up the reins. The equipment looked a bit inadequate and the pony a bit uncertain in frankness. Succeeding this giddy turnout was another, drawn by a stalwart pony a couple of sizes weightier than the first. His cargo was made up of the four vice-presidents, Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, Mrs. David A. Westcott, Mrs. Herbert F. French, and Mrs. Olaf Hoff, Jr., and their big bouquets, compressed into a pretty wicker dog-cart. Bringing up the rear was a large motor truck that bore the new directors and chairmen, also looking like one great bouquet.

All around and behind swarmed the cheering ranks of "privates" in the club army. Others raced ahead to fill verandas of the hotel, ready to hail the grand procession upon its arrival, while camera-men balanced precariously in trees and other vantage points to record the scene.

Dates To Red-Letter

Coming events that every club woman will want to attend begin with the New England Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs at the Poland Spring House, Poland Spring, Me., one of the most famous vacation spots in New England and one of the most beautiful. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 15th, 16th and 17th. This is the first time in its history that the New England Conference has met at Poland Spring. The next is the gala day at the Federation Forest at Petersham, Wednesday, September 29th, with a picnic luncheon in the beautiful forest and an entertainment later in the day. An event always attended by hundreds of club members.

The Fall State Meeting will be held in Plymouth Wednesday, Oct. 29th, and the Triennial of the General Federation, in Kansas City, Mo., from May 10th to 18th, 1938. The Annual State Spring Convention will take place at Swampscott May 24th, 25th and 26th. The Juniors will meet May 23rd.

Families Control Art

First-rate Chinese lacquer work is largely kept in the hands of certain families or districts, where the individuals employed attain wonderful hereditary skill. This accounts in some measure for the fact that no individual names seem to stand out as skillful artists or creators, a piece of work being known to the native connoisseur as the product of such and such a district, not of such a man.

Gang Swims River To Avoid Arrest

A group of Nonantum and Bemis youths celebrated July 4th on July 6th by shooting—not guns or firecrackers, but dice. This type of shooting, though illegal, was far less annoying to the general public than the shooting of explosives on that day. It is quite lawful now to gamble (and lose) large sums of money at horse races and dog races, but according to the very inconsistent social order which prevails in this country, it is unlawful to gamble comparatively small sums of money in a crap game.

Metropolitan policemen had become wise that crap games were being held on the strip of land behind Victory Field Playgrounds at Nonantum, and adjoining the Charles River. This land is owned by the Metropolitan District and is part of the long planned parkway. So, on Monday afternoon Patrolmen Tennis, Smith and Cotten of the Brighton station of the Metropolitan police, attired in civilian clothes, ambled along the river bank, and before the crap shooters became wise, butted into the game. Some of the crap shooters and spectators, about 18 in number, were informally attired. Others were all dolled up. But, all, with two exceptions, plunged into the muddy bank of the river when the police made the raid, and forded the stream to the Watertown shore in water waist high. Patrolmen Tennis grabbed two men; one squirmed loose and "went over the river" to freedom. The other, Samuel Longbottom, Jr. of California st., Nonantum, slipped in the muddy bank and was captured. The other two captives were Francis Griffin, 11a Dalby st., Nonantum, and James Patrick, 390 Pleasant st., Bemis. They were fined $5 each in the Newton court on Tuesday. It cost some of the 15 who escaped more than $5 in damaged clothing. The police also captured two pairs of dice, one pair of which was "loaded." Crap, even as horse and dog racing, can be played crooked.

Traffic Officer Collides With Car

While pursuing a speeder on the Worcester turnpike last Friday night, Patrolman Lawrence Murphy's motorcycle hit the rear bumper of a car driven by Bert Colford of 13 Abbot st., Upper Falls. Colford had stopped at Margaret rd. to make a left turn. Murphy received slight injuries and the motorcycle was damaged.

Summer Music School Opens At Lasell

The American Institute of Normal Methods began its fifty-fourth year at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, on Wednesday morning, July 7. More than 100 students from all over the United States were registered. In addition, a Junior Division of approximately 30 boys and girls of high school age are offered a special curriculum under the direction of Mr. Francis Findlay, Head of the Public School Music Department of the New England Conservatory of Music. Classes in music are offered a select group of boys and girls from the first grade through junior high school at the Williams School in Auburndale, July 12-23, drawn from the Auburndale schools.

The Director of Music of the City of Newton, Mr. Haydn Morgan, is co-operating with the American Institute and will lecture during the course. The Director of the school, Mr. Osbourne McConathy, has just been awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Music by the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. Dr. McConathy will give a special course in conducting and will supervise the presentation of the entire course of study.

The citizens of Newton and Auburndale are invited to attend the special lectures and concerts at the school which include the following programs:

Thursday evening, July 15, Orchestra Concert.

Friday evening, July 16, Lecture by L. Thomas Hopkins of Teachers' College, Columbia.

Sunday evening, July 18, Informal Discussion led by Mr. Haydn Morgan.

Tuesday evening, July 20, Junior Division Orchestra Concert.

Thursday evening, July 22, Memorial Concert of the Works of the late Arthur Foote.

Friday evening, July 23, Lecture by Dr. James L. Mursell, Teachers' College, Columbia.

Saturday morning, July 24, Visiting Day at the Williams School.

Saturday afternoon, July 24, Festival, "Carnival Times in Latin America," under the direction of Stella Marek Cushing.

Monday, July 26, Choral and Orchestral festival including a sequence of choruses from the oratorio, "Elijah," and a condensed stage production of "Samson and Delilah," to be given at the Warren Junior High School.

The school closes on Wednesday, July 28.

Ask County Aid In Repairing Com. Av.

On Tuesday Street Commissioner Mahoney appeared before the Commissioners of Middlesex County at Cambridge and asked that the county assist in financing the resurfacing of Commonwealth avenue starting at Manomet rd., Chestnut Hill. The cost of the work is estimated at $55,000; the city proposes to pay about $20,000 of the cost. The State will pay $26,300, and the county is asked to pay $8,800.

Gets Shot After Shooting Rats

Vito Scantale, 24, of 12 Davis court, West Newton was treated at the Newton Hospital on Saturday for a rifle shot wound above the knee of his right leg. Scantale and his brother had been enjoying some rat hunting at the Viles piggery in Waltham that afternoon and as Scantale was leaving the place, he received a bullet himself. He did not know who fired it, but thought it might have come from a rifle used by some other rat hunter.

To Start Work on Traffic Signals

Street Commissioner Mahoney states that work will be started at once in placing traffic signals at Washington and Jewett sts., and at Watertown and Adams sts. Both will be pedestrian operated signals. That at Washington and Jewett sts. will cost $996; the signal at Adams and Watertown, $689.55. An appropriation for these signals was made a few months ago by the Board of Aldermen and a contract for them was given on May 27 with the Municipal Signal Company of Boston. Other signals which were contracted for at that time with the same company are: Walnut and Centre sts., to cost $2401.70; Walnut and Beacon sts., $2476.80; Washington and Concord sts., $1584.70. It is expected that these signals will also be installed within the next couple of weeks. These signals will be operated automatically by means of pads placed in the roadways. Provision will also be made for pedestrian push-buttons.

The signal at Beacon and Walnut sts. was not favored by the Aldermen. It was suggested that a small traffic island be placed at this intersection, but the State Department of Public Works would not approve this plan. It was then suggested that STOP signs be placed on the Beacon st. sides of the intersection, which is wide open with a clear view from all approaches. There have been a number of collisions at the place in past years, all due to faulty driving on someone's part, as there is no excuse for collisions there.

Truck Hits Man Viewing Fireworks

A truck driven by William C. Karalekas hit Harry Butler of 55 Lexington st., Watertown as the latter was standing on Lowell ave., Newtonville on Monday night watching the fireworks display in Claffin Field. Butler was treated by Dr. V. A. Drosdik and found to have received two broken ribs, and a severe cut on his chest. Karalekas said he was not aware the truck had hit Butler, until he was so informed by a policeman.

Cars Collide At Newtonville

Cars driven by Ferdinand Dorsi of Fayette st., Watertown, and Paul Sherwood of Main st., Waltham, collided on Tuesday afternoon at Nevada and California sts., Newtonville. Ralph Pallone of Waverley ave., Watertown, riding with Dorsi, received injuries and was taken to the Newton Hospital in a police car. Sherwood and Dorsi also claimed to have received injuries.

Speeder Gets Jail Sentence

Earl Beaulieu, 20, of Thompsonville, Connecticut was arrested on the Worcester pike about 5 a. m. Sunday by Patrolmen E. Foley and Gagnon, after they had pursued him about a mile. They observed Beaulieu driving at a high rate of speed, despite a flat tire on his car. In the Newton court on Tuesday Judge Allen gave Beaulieu a sentence of 30 days in jail for driving after his license had been suspended; fined him $25 for driving without a registration, and $5 for speeding. The judge suspended the fines.

House Set Afire At West Newton
At 5:35 Sunday morning fire was discovered in the house at 10 Manhattan terrace, West Newton. The building is owned by Carmela Guerriero of Westland ave., West Newton and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy who had gone to New York on Saturday morning. When the firemen arrived in response to an alarm from Box 3141 they found three separate fires had been set in the cellar. The fact that all doors and windows at the house had been shut, prevented the fire from spreading to the upper part of the dwelling. Chief Randlett reported the fire to the State Fire Marshal's office.

FOR FUTURE USE

Among the four projects which are recommended by the special committee of the Board of Aldermen appointed to consider matters referred to by Mayor Childs in his address to the aldermen last January are three projects pertaining to playgrounds. The playground problem is one which is of vital importance to the future of the city. With almost all large areas being subdivided into house lots the necessity for planning play spaces for the coming youth of the city is obvious.

The committee urges the construction of a service building at the Hawthorne playground. This improvement is essential to the proper handling of this active playground. Without sanitary accommodations and playrooms for the boys and girls of the neighborhood conditions cannot help but be unsatisfactory.

The need for the acquisition of a site for playground purposes for the Horace Mann and Day Junior High School District is one which has been growing more urgent every year. With the probable development of the former Albemarle golf course into a residential district the time is ripe for some definite action. The golf course, now being operated privately as a public course, provides practically the only area large enough for playground purposes in close proximity to these two schools. The longer action is delayed the less the opportunity there will be to acquire the best location and the greater the expense there will be.

The third playground project urged by the committee is the taking of the vacant land between the Allison and Victory playgrounds along the river in Nonantum in order to provide additional play space and make the two fields into one unit. The desirability of this step is further enhanced by the possibility of the extension of the river road from Galen street to Waltham along the river. Last year the Mayor and Aldermen were definitely placed upon record against the use of California street as the extension of this highway by the Metropolitan district and in favor of using presently owned state land along the river bank when this project was undertaken. It is possible that they may need a small strip of the playground land in order to construct a highway of sufficient width. Such action would make it even more desirable that the city acquire what land is necessary to make the two existing playgrounds into one.

Newton residents and readers of the Graphic are showing considerable interest in the "Know New England Contest." Being a leading city of the state and New England in many ways we have fond expectations that the Garden City entrants will share generously in the $3000 cash prizes to be distributed. If you have not already done so get started now on this entertaining and intriguing contest.

Noteworthy New Cliff Estate Home

(From Boston Transcript, June 19)
A well-built English manor appeals to most people, and this probably is one reason for the many home buyers and home builders who visit the special section of the Cliff Estates in Wellesley Hills given over to homes built by Broderick Bros. But that is not the whole story. The houses are not only well built but they were designed by a woman decorator who has incorporated numerous feminine "touches" that are unusual, pleasing and attractive. Then another appealing feature is the setting for these Broderick-built homes. Nature has been kind to this locality, and the builders have taken advantage of it. An English manor house is nearly completed at Monadnock and Edmunds roads, a fine specimen of the Broderick skill and taste. It is the eleventh house in this special section of the Cliff Estates and is bound to attract attention. It occupies a corner lot with more than one acre of land, there are some beautiful large trees, and the house is approached by a gracefully-curving driveway, which passes the front entrance and the motor court. Looking over the estate one is impressed with the fact that it leaves little to be desired by lovers of English manor houses.

Inside, one is impressed by the clever adaptation of the old architectural type represented. The rooms are large and high-vaulted and well suited to entertaining. Oak and walnut panelling gives an air of distinction to the principal rooms. The loggia opening from living room and library is secluded. From it one sees only the shady recesses of a wooded spot. The five master bedrooms have been done with a skillful eye to blending of the colors and all other features have been designed and carried out with care and thought. Dressing rooms have built-in features and bathrooms are classed. There is a three-room suite, with bath, for maids. One item is an oval breakfast room. The basement has been converted to represent the deck of a yacht. At one side of the garage is a sunken garden, with rectangular pool. The garage, by the way, is for three cars with room to spare.

Here is a house that in design, construction and setting is a credit to the Broderick Bros., and their five-year building program for the Cliff Estates.

62 YEARS AGO

Newton Republican, July 10, 1875

The residents of Brighton Hill, which territory became annexed to Newton on July 1st, took occasion last Saturday to formally notice the event.

George Allen, Esq., sent out invitations to members of the city government and others, to meet at his elegant residence at 5 p. m. on Saturday. Mr. Allen had provided chairs under the shade of the trees on his elegant lawn. A fine prospect of the newly acquired territory of 100 acres can be had from his residence. An hour was most pleasantly spent on the lawn. The sixteen families living in the annexed district were well represented. Keller's Band furnished music during the evening. At 6 o'clock Mr. Allen invited the 75 present to his dining room, where he had prepared a bountiful repast.

Rev. Mr. Shinn, following the dinner, called the meeting to order, and reported that several names had been suggested for the new district. As Mr. Hunnewell formerly owned nearly the whole of the territory, Hunnewell Hill had been suggested, but was not liked; Hunnewell Park some preferred. Mayor Hyde said that Eliot Hill had been suggested in honor of John Eliot, apostle to the Indians, and the committee recommended this name. Col. Ellsworth said he had great respect for Eliot, but as we have an Eliot Church, Eliot Hall and Eliot Block in Newton, that is sufficient. In the past, because the railroad locomotives whistled so much rounding the hill, he thought "Whistle Bend" might be appropriate. He favored Hunnewell Park. Hon. J. C. Park did not favor Hunnewell Hill; simply call it Hunnewell. The ladies present favored Hunnewell, and it was voted to call the district by this name.

What is meaner than to steal cherries and other small fruit from people's yards?

The Needham Selectmen voted not to allow the sale of intoxicants in that town, and also not to allow the sale of fireworks on July 3, 4 or 5.

Our readers will notice the advertisement in this issue of the new Mercantile Course of study at Newton High School. It is designed for the special wants of those who cannot go to college, but must end their school days at high school. It is a very thoughtful provision of the school committee.

The Newton Gas Company has a large amount of coal coming in. Several hundred feet of piping has also been received.

Diphtheria has committed serious ravages in the family of E. A. Rumrill of Newton; five of the family have died within three weeks, four of diphtheria.

Charles Hickey, 6-year-old son of John Hickey, who resides at Grace Village, was instantly killed last Saturday when the horses on Jennison's Express became frightened and bolted. The accident happened near the Jackson homestead on Washington st. The horses became frightened by the drums of the Claffin Drum Corps which was escorting the Claffin Guards. The boy, who was crossing the street, was knocked down and a wheel passed over his head.

During the tempest of Saturday night, lightning struck the tower of city hall and the steeple of the Congregational Church at West Newton, cutting the bell rope, but doing little other damage.

Ground was broken for the new aqueduct at Upper Falls on Wednesday. There are plenty about here trying to obtain work.

At the meeting of the Common Council on Monday, Councilman Ward asked the passage of an order appropriating $300 for a bath house at Crystal Lake. People had complained to him about the nuisance of bathers exposing themselves at the lake. Houses are nearby and people driving by the lake had turned back and gone the other way when they saw bathers exposed. Councilman Wood said the police have the power to suppress this nuisance and should do so. If bath houses are built at Crystal Lake, more will be demanded in other parts of the city. The order was not passed.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, July 9, 1887

The high wind on Monday night prevented the planned illumination of boats at Crystal Lake at the July 4th celebration. It is proposed to have it later.

Fourth of July was celebrated here in the usual manner; the din beginning at midnight Sunday night and continuing until Monday evening. About the usual amount of damage was done, everything of an inflammable nature was carried off and made into bonfires. It would probably be impossible to get enough police to restrict the noise to the daytime, but such a consummation would be gratifying to the majority of citizens.

The demand for street cars in Newton seems to increase with the postponement of action by the Aldermen. Meanwhile the application of electricity as a motive power for street cars is being perfected, and by the time the road will be built, electric motors will hardly be an experiment.

Powers' Paragraphs

Recently two headstones have been broken at the old cemetery on Centre st., Newton, where the early settlers of this city are buried. For years we have suggested that a high wire fence be placed around this venerable spot, but our suggestions have fallen on official ears which obviously were not greatly concerned with protecting this city-owned burying ground. It would seem that the Sons of the Revolution, the D. R., the D. A. R., and our more recently formed patriotic organizations might interest themselves in this relic of Colonial days in Newton; this place where repose the remains of men who fought in the Revolution. A person who resides not far from the old cemetery informed us that he had even seen one of the old slabs used as a table for a card game there. The wall at the rear of the cemetery has been partly pulled down by young vandals. And the graves in this and the other two old cemeteries owned by the city should be mowed more frequently than it has been in the past. We hear a lot of blab-blah speeches about love for our country, and about venerating the memory of those who fought for its freedom in 1776. Less hot-air, and more attention to the old cemeteries where soldiers of the Revolution and New England pioneers are buried, would evidence sincerity, if not oratory.

Many persons have wondered what is the reason for the distance marks recently painted on Watertown and Washington sts. at Newtonville and West Newton. The figures were painted by an employee of the Newton Street Department at the request of Andrew Prior, Sealer of Weights and Measures, and serve as memory aids in defining a 3-mile course for the testing of meters on taxis. The course starts near the corner of Lowell ave. and Watertown st., and ends near the Woodland Golf Club on Washington st.

A couple of centuries ago Thomas Gray wrote—"The paths of Glory lead but to the grave." It is feared that Amelia Earhart may have ended her career in a watery grave, but, wé hope she survives and will be rescued. Mrs. Earhart Putnam has displayed reckless courage and great skill, but one can tempt fate once too often. Personally, we consider her "just for fun" flight around the world a stunt for publicity and further fame. Why should the lives of scores of navy aviators be risked to rescue some person who makes an unnecessary hazardous flight, and why should the people of this country be further taxed to finance such rescue expeditions?

The period of torture for sick persons in Newton started with a vengeance on Thursday, July 1, when the sale of fireworks in this city commenced. Firecrackers were being set off incessantly during last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Policemen made no effort to stop children who were violating the law on these days. Thursday night of last week the discharge of firecrackers continued to be heard in our neighborhood until a half hour past midnight. Some policemen to whom we spoke about the violation of the law on these days replied that since permits had been granted for the sale of fireworks, they would not attempt to stop children setting off firecrackers. When the writer was a boy, the ordinary child received 25c or 50c with which to purchase firecrackers or fireworks, and the small quantity of firecrackers thus purchased had to be carefully conserved until July 4th. In recent years children are given so much spending money, that they can purchase firecrackers, torpedoes and caps as soon as the sale of these nuisances is permitted, and continue to buy them until and during the Glorious Fourth. Anyone who has ever had a sick person in their home can sympathize with the bed-ridden who have to endure about a week of nerve-racking noise before and on July 4. Since the police won't enforce the law, as they did years ago, and since so many parents allow their children to do about as they please, without consideration for sick persons, the only relief from the annual "noise week" would seem to be the enactment of a state law forbidding the sale of fireworks until the day before the 4th.

Several days ago a woman telephoned us and expressed somewhat indignant surprise that we had said nothing in this column about an annoying condition she stated had occurred at the two concerts given in Auburndale by the WPA orchestra. This was—the noise made by children while the orchestra was playing.

Newton has had a phenomenal growth during the past 15 years, largely because of the establishment of the zoning ordinance in this city. This ordinance prevented the intrusion of business into residential zones. The ordinance has been well enforced until recently. One person in West Newton, however, for the past two years has been violating it and in recent months has been more and more openly advertising his business. If this person is permitted to continue to disregard the zoning ordinance, others will do likewise.

NEWTON SPORTS REVIEW

No. 4

GALLAGHER IS ALSO VARSITY COACH OF HOCKEY. HE PROVED HIS ABILITY LAST WINTER BY TURNING OUT THE MOST SUCCESSFUL TEAM IN NORTHEASTERN HISTORY

Head coach of hockey and baseball at Northeastern University, where he was graduated only three years ago, Herbert Wendell Gallagher is one of the youngest and most successful coaches in New England. Returning from a highly successful season of playing and coaching hockey in Europe during the winter of the last Olympic Games, he was appointed hockey coach at Northeastern, and this spring, following a phenomenal first season of hockey with the Huskies, he was awarded the baseball job as well.

Herb Gallagher was twenty-six years old in January. He finished at Newton High School in 1930, where his modest athletic record was attested to by a couple of intermediate varsity letters, won in his junior year. His last year in high school, he was made ineligible by the five-year ruling then in effect. But Herb developed rapidly in the off year, and showed up at Northeastern as a first string forward in hockey and a leading pitcher for the baseball team, all in his freshman year. He was the leading light with both teams during the next three years, and was elected captain of both in his last year.

After two seasons with the Norway-Paris ball team in the Pine Tree League, Herb went to Sorel, Quebec, for two years of semi-pro ball, and is now playing for the second-place Malone team in the Northern New York circuit. His progress in amateur hockey is even more interesting, in that it is concerned with the rapid growth of the game in England and Europe. Herb went to London to play with the Earls Court Corinthians, then turned up in 1935-36 at Klagenfurt, Austria, playing and coaching his team to the national championships. He was commissioned to coach the Austrian entry in the 1936 Olympics.

Home again, Herb played hockey with the Boston Olympics, and was soon drafted as head coach of hockey at Northeastern. He was the logical choice for the job, having been acclaimed in 1934 Northeastern's finest athlete in history, at the time he was presented the Doctor Kontoff trophy for the best all-round athlete of the year. When Al McCoy was signed at Colby College, Gallagher was considered to replace him as head coach of baseball, and the Huskies' great hockey season last winter removed any doubt that young Herb could coach. This year he was freshman coach, and next year he will be varsity baseball coach. He married Geraldine Faregard of Norway, Maine, and they have a two-year old daughter, Joyce Dawn Gallagher. employees of the New England Press Association and of this newspaper and members of their families, and with a further exception of any persons who have won $500 or more in any previous newspaper contest. Beginning last week and for ten weeks to follow, this paper will publish six jumbled names. Each of these names will be jumbled to include syllables or words of some of the five other names. For example: "What are the correct names for these two jumbled New England cities—Fieldchester and Springman?" The correct answers are Manchester and Springfield. The jumbled names appearing together will represent a similar classification, — one week six New England manufacturing centers, etc. Each New England state will be represented each week in the six names. It is a part of this contest to find the correct name that goes with each state. Each week the six names will be taken from such classification as New England manufacturers, New England colleges, New England mountains, New England heroes, etc. Neatness does not count, and there is no need to decorate your replies or make them elaborate. Simply fill out the answer form that appears in the advertisement.

Of course in case of ties as many prizes will be reserved as there are persons tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution. That is if, two or more people tie in submitting the correct or nearest correct solutions to the sixty names, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them and will be awarded in the order of the correctness of the solutions of such contestant (without cost) to a second series of sixty names, together with the best letter or not over 200 words on the subject of "Why I Prefer to Read a Weekly Newspaper." In the event of a final tie between two or more contestants for any position in the list of winners, identical prizes will be awarded to the tying contestants.

Send Answers Each Week

Newton Man Re-Elected

Pres. N. E. Medical Centre

With some two hundred doctors and nurses present, the New England Medical Center Association recently held its final meeting of the year on the roof garden of the Boston Floating Hospital. The roof was very artistically decorated and dinner music was furnished by the Yankee Network Artist Bureau. Following the dinner a short business meeting was held in which Mr. William J. Robinson president outlined the work of the association over the past year, and then went on to urge the members into open competition with other hospitals in various fields of activities. An election of officers was held and although Mr. Robinson refused the nomination as president three different times he was finally persuaded to allow his nomination and ultimate election. Entertainment and dancing in the Boston Dispensary hall brought to a close a very enjoyable evening and the most successful year of the association.

Mr. Robinson has been a resident of Newton for some time, living at 77 Montrose st.

MARGUERITE ELLIOT PESSLE

The funeral services for Mrs. Marguerite Elliot Pessle were held on Sunday at Woodlawn Chapel, Everett, the Rev. Robert Elliot Marshall presiding.

Mrs. Pessle was born in Newtonville and was a graduate of Newton High School and of Miss Wheelock's School in Boston. On both her mother's and her father's side she was a descendant of early American colonists.

For a number of years Mrs. Pessle taught kindergarten classes in the public schools of Franklin, N. H., and in her home city of Newton.

In June, 1923, Mrs. Pessle was married to Mr. Frederick O. Pessle of Arcadia, Ohio.

For the past ten years she had been in very poor health and until her mother's passing on June 16th last, had been under the latter's care at the Elliot home, 147 Lowell avenue, Newtonville.

Mrs. Pessle's daughter, Miss Jean Pessle, lives in Arcadia, Ohio.

Studebaker's low price tag means top value

A SENSATION IN GAS AND OIL SAVINGS!

IMPRESSIVELY big in every dimension, the new Studebaker is amazingly low priced to buy. And with its built-in Fram oil cleaner and its gas-saving automatic overdrive, available at slight cost, it's decisively one of the world's least costly cars to run.

And, it's all alone in many innovations... doors that click lightly, tightly and silently without slamming... inimitable Helen Dryden styling... trunks of a roominess to make you gasp... steering that halves the turning effort of parking.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

By JACK MORRIS

NEWTON TWI LEAGUE

Interest continues to center in the National division race. Upper Falls by virtue of successive victories over Center A. C. and Giants have taken first place. Center A. C., through losses to the Falls, Giants and Waban, have dropped to fourth and Nonantum and the Giants are deadlocked in second place. Waban has shown improvement winning 3 out of the last 4 games played, the last being a 15-1 defeat of Center A. C.

In the American division the Pals have taken over the lead by defeating Royals and Y. M. C. A. while Auburndale was losing to the Cabot A. A. The Pals with half of the schedule completed and only two losses seem almost sure of a play off position. The race for the other two positions is still wide open.

The committee for the Louis De Russo benefit game which is to be held Friday evening, July 16, at the Common is actively working. The two teams selected by the umpires—one from the National division and the other from the American division will be announced next Wednesday. Umpires Donahue and Briley have been selected to do the officiating.

The schedule for week of July 12:

American League
Monday—Cabot vs Auburndale at Cabot.

Tuesday—Y. M. C. A. vs Cabot at Cabot.

Wednesday—Cubs vs Royals at West Newton.

Thursday—Royals vs Newton A. A. at Cabot; Auburndale vs Y. M. C. A. at Auburndale.

Friday—Newton A. A. vs Cubs at Victory.

National League
Monday—Nonantum B. C. vs Waban A. C. at Victory.

Tuesday—Waban A. C. vs Corpus Christi at Cold Spring.

Wednesday—Corpus Christi vs Nonantum B. C. at Auburndale; Centre A. C. vs Y. M. C. A. at Highlands.

Thursday—West Newton Giants vs Centre A. C. at West Newton.

Friday—Y. M. C. A. vs W. N. Giants at Upper Falls.

Newton Highlights

Clinton Ferguson, eighteen-year old Waban youth, stroked the Tabor Academy eight to their second successive victory in the Henley regatta in England last Saturday. Ferguson was stroked of the Tabor crew that cleaned up the regatta last year, and they were the first American crew to repeat in this rowing classic. Clinton is better known as one of the nation's premier outboard motorboat drivers, having won three classes out of four in the nationals last summer.

Another Newton lad in the Tabor shell was the coxswain, Francis Butts, of Franklin st., Newton, son of former School Committeeman P. Marsena Butts.

Staff Sgt. Luther R. Armstrong, Battery E, Fort Shafter, Hawaii, whose home is in Newton, was recently cited by Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, Hawaiian Department Commander, for his ability as a baseball player. Sgt. Armstrong played on the championship Honolulu Sector and Hawaiian Department baseball teams and was selected as the All-Sector second baseman.

Policeman Breaks Finger In Scuffle

Inspector Alfred Hammell of the Newton police broke the forefinger on his right hand on Tuesday while struggling with John J. Payne, 52, of 963 Centre st., Newton Centre, as he was taking the latter to police headquarters. Payne's wife went to police headquarters Tuesday afternoon bearing evidence of an assault which she said her husband had committed on her. She obtained complaints against Payne on charges of drunkenness and assault. Hammell was sent to the Payne house to arrest the man. On the way back to headquarters Payne started to struggle with Hammell. Robert Lunt, who was driving the car, stopped the vehicle, and Hammell subdued the prisoner. Payne was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday and his case was continued until July 15.

New Furniture Store In Newton

The Pioneers Furniture Store, well known Boston firm, opens another store at 175 Adams street, on Friday, July 9. The new store will be operated under the direct personal supervision of Mr. H. B. Ullian together with Mr. Jack Freedman, who has been sales manager of the firm for 34 years.

A complete line of furniture, rugs and bedding will be stocked. High grade merchandise only will be carried, and the low prices which will prevail are made possible by the enormous purchasing power of the Pioneers organization. Mr. Ullian stated that he and his company are firm believers in Truth in advertising, and the merchandise that will be advertised in the GRAPHIC each week will be absolutely as represented both as to quality and price.

Surprise Burglar At Chestnut Hill

Patrolman McCormick last Thursday afternoon nearly caught a burglar at the home of Edmund J. Brandon, 150 Beacon st., Chestnut Hill. McCormick was trying doors of unoccupied houses in that neighborhood, and as he approached the Brandon home a Negro, attired in a chauffeur's uniform, emerged from the house and fled. A window at the front of the house had been forced by the burglar. The house was ransacked, but the amount of loot is not yet known. A number of burglaries have occurred at Chestnut Hill recently.

Pay Fines For Fast Driving

Lawrence Kilroy of Pearl st., Newton, was fined $5 by Judge Allen on Friday for speeding, and $5 for not conforming with directions on a traffic sign.

In court the same day Edward Bilski of 204 Concord st., Lower Falls, was fined $5 for speeding. In court on Wednesday Charles Kelway, 17, of Wyman st., Waban was fined $5 for speeding and given a suspended $5 fine for driving a car not properly lighted.

"Irish Lace" Woman Jailed

Jennie Rafferty (alias Reems) was sentenced to serve 3 months in Middlesex County prison by Judge Swift in Middlesex Superior court last Thursday. She was found guilty of having obtained $130 from several Newton residents by selling them lace purported to be real Irish lace, which in reality was cheap lace and not the imported article. The woman was arrested in New Jersey and brought back to Newton by Inspector King.

Fined $50 For Reckless Driving

Bruce Carter of Sherborn was fined $50 in the Newton court last Friday by Judge Allen for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. A charge of driving under the influence of liquor was also made against Carter by Patrolman Dyson of the Metropolitan police. He was found not guilty on this charge. The car hit by Carter was owned by Charles Gangi of John st., Waltham. Persons were injured in the crash.

Fined $100 For Drunken Driving

William Mansfield of Carey ave., Lexington, was fined $100 by Judge Allen in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He appealed. Mansfield was arrested on June 26 after the car he was driving had hit another car at Commonwealth police court, Chestnut st., Waban. The police found a bottle allegedly containing whiskey in Mansfield's car.

Arrested For Toting Gun

Alessandro Lupo, 55, of Billerica was arrested by Inspector Hammell on a warrant on Wednesday for having a loaded revolver in his automobile without having a permit. Press Association Contest Now Sweeping New England

Keen Rivalry Seen Between Six States As Contest Enters Third Big Week—Still Time To Start—Contest Forms For First and Second Week Appear On Page 3

Starting on its third big week, the "Know New England" Contest has grown into one of the most interesting and largest contests ever sponsored in the New England states. People everywhere are beginning to wonder just how much they really know about their own "back yard." Some, seemingly wiser than others, nod their heads and say, "It is too easy." But we are betting on those who have dug out their old history books from the attic; who are consulting maps of the various states; and who have lately browsed a good deal around the town's public library.

$2,000 First Prize
A first prize well worth winning—the prize that somebody is going to win within the next few weeks. Perhaps you will be the winner. Make sure in sending in your answer forms that you have enclosed the required 10 cents, for if this rule is not carefully followed it can mean—even though you have solved the jumbled words correctly—that you will be out of the prize money.

There is still an opportunity for those who missed the first two weeks for the first two sets of jumbled words, and the answer forms will be found in this week's issue along with the third set of jumbled words.

Your opportunity to win the first prize of $2,000 is just as good as the next fellow, or girl. You simply arrange the jumbled words each week in their proper order, using the blank printed in paper for your convenience, and mail into the Contest Editor.

You May Be the Winner
Why not join in the fun—you may be the winner of the first prize of $2,000. Think of what you could do and plan if at the end of the contest a check for $2,000 was presented to you. You could enjoy a trip to Yellowstone Park, or California, or Europe; that new car you long to own, or the purchase of a new home, new clothes, new furniture, or a 1937 car that you have always wished you could own or do.

If you have not already done so, start the contest this week by filling in and mailing the answer forms for the first, second and third week. See page 3 of this paper for details.

Scouts Return From Jamboree In Washington

Two full Troops of Norumbega Council Boy Scouts returned to Newton Saturday night after having taken part in the Greatest Event in the History of the Boy Scouts of America, the First National Jamboree. They were warmly greeted by a crowd of over three hundred people who waited over an hour to welcome the boys back from the capital.

The party headed by Scoutmasters Edward Paterson and Henry D. White, and Assistants Richard Schroeder, Charles Frary, Wayne Dow and Philip Trowbridge could not say enough about this greatest gathering of youth that the North American Continent has ever seen. These 25,000 Scouts had come from every State in the Union and over 400 from across the sea.

Every Scout had a different story. Each had a different impression of the ten days he had spent camped by the banks of the Potomac, under the shadows of the Washington Monument. Using tents they had made themselves the two troops had one of the most impressive camp sites of the New England Continent.

Most of the Norumbega Scouts entered into the great game of swapping. The following are just a few of the exchanges which eventually came into the possession of a local Scout: crabs from Maryland, Rumanian handbags, Canadian belts, English shirts, California red wood, arrowheads from many states, petrified wood, film from Hollywood, alligators from Florida, horned toads from Texas, colored soil from Arizona, pipes from the Berkshires, bells from Connecticut, iron ore, petroleum in bottles, stamps and carved totem poles from the northwest. One lad had a piece of a desk taken from the Texas school explosion, another had parts of the Hindenburg, maple syrup from Vermont, English shouter knots, a French belt, and another a belt of shark skin. Neckerchief slides and neckerchiefs were the most popular items. One sharp trader from Chicago had collected over one hundred different slides, pins, and badges in his wanderings about the camps.

When the local Scouts were not active in trading they were busy in other ways. Each day found the boys taking many interesting sight-seeing trips to different parts of the city. Most of the campers had the opportunity of visiting Mt. Vernon, the Capitol, the White House, the airport, the Lincoln Memorial and many other interesting places. Possibly the most impressive events of the whole Jamboree were the massed shows in the Arena. Each night two different regiments took command of the tremendous show grounds directly under the Washington Monument and demonstrated Scouting typical of their sections of the country. The massed Convocation Service on Sunday and the gigantic fireworks display the following day will long be remembered by every Scout present.

Another Crash At Woodcliff Road

The intersection of the Worcester pike and Woodcliff rd., Newton Highlands, scene of a number of automobile collisions since a traffic light was installed there, witnessed another crash on Monday noon when a car driven by Vincent Parker of Chicago crashed into the rear of a car driven by John Coogan of Hillsdale, New Jersey. Coogan had stopped his car when the traffic signal went amber, and Parker was going so fast he could not stop before ramming Coogan's car. It was the same old story. Parker's wife received cuts on her face and was taken to the Newton Hospital by a passing autoist.

Big Consumption Discolors Water

The hot spell of last week caused a tremendous increase in the use of water in Newton which resulted in sediment filled aqua impura and hundreds of complaints. This condition was not peculiar to Newton. It also occurred in Brookline, Waltham and other nearby places. On Sunday, July 4, the amount of water used in Newton totaled 3,916,923 gallons. On July 5 the amount used was normal—1,720,583 gallons. On Tuesday the consumption was normal until 6 o'clock; but from that hour until 9 p. m. there was a tremendous increase in the drain on the supply. A big majority of Newton residents took baths, and hundreds watered their lawns. The consumption for that day was 7,935,895 gallons. On Wednesday 7,562,598 gallons were used; on Thursday 8,575,233 and on Friday 8,362,405 gallons. On Saturday, with thousands having left the city for beaches and the country, the consumption again returned to normal, 4,424,133 gallons.

Thursday afternoon complaints began to come in from Newton Corner and the low-lying sections of West Newton and Auburndale about the muddy condition of the water. The big drain on the supply had reversed the flow in many of the mains, loosened the sediment which gathers in the pipes, and in districts thus affected, the water was not fit to drink, nor was it very attractive for bathing purposes. On Friday the reservoir had become so low, that the water department commenced to use water from the Metropolitan District supply. Friday afternoon the water became freed from sediment and thirsty householders could again quench their thirst.

Safety Chapter Committee Meets

The executive committee of the Newton Safety Chapter held a meeting on Tuesday night at Police Headquarters, with General Daniel Needham presiding. Through the courtesy of the Dodge Motor Car Company two films were shown by E. J. Graham of that organization. One was "Horse Sense and Horse Power," showing the dangers of reckless and stupid driving. The other film was "Wheels Across Africa," a pictorial story of the Leila Roosevelt Expedition last year. Chairmen of the various sub-committees of the chapter told of the arrangements being made for active functioning by their committees. Each sub-committee will hold a meeting during the summer in preparation for the launching of a safety campaign in September.

Battle Bat In Waban Home

Last Saturday Patrolmen Taffe and Hoyt battled a bat in the residence of Mrs. Edward Richardson at 726 Chestnut st., Waban. The bat had butted into the house the preceding night and an appeal was sent to police headquarters to remove the flying mammal. The police discovered the bat enjoying a good day's sleep behind a window shade. After some scurrying they captured and killed the animal.

Four Of Newton Family Drowned At Calgary, Can.

Edward Wales of 291 Auburn st., Auburndale; his wife, Ethel E. Wales, and their two daughters, Priscilla and Ruth Wales, were drowned last Thursday when the automobile in which they were riding plunged through the rail of a bridge near Calgary, Alberta, and dropped into an irrigation canal. A third daughter, Eleanor W. Wales, managed to crawl through a window of the submerged car, reached the surface of the water, and was pulled from the canal by a man who had witnessed the tragedy. Philip Niedzwiedzki, who saw the accident, stated that the car was traveling about 45 miles an hour, struck a rut as it approached the bridge, and went out of control. A Calgary garage manager said that apparently a tire blowout caused the accident. Eleanor Wales was taken to a Calgary hospital for treatment, and was released several hours later. The bodies of the four victims of the crash were recovered when Calgary police and firemen dragged the car from the canal.

Wales was born in Newton Lower Falls 57 years ago, the son of Levi and Josephine (Richardson) Wales. He was appointed a substitute letter-carrier in 1906 and became a regular carrier in 1912. Since that time he had been employed in the Newton Centre postoffice. Besides his daughter, Eleanor, Mr. Wales is survived by his mother, Mrs. Josephine Wales; a brother, Fred Wales of Springfield; and a sister, Mrs. William Spooner of Newton Lower Falls. Mrs. Ethel (Schupp) Wales was born in Framingham 55 years ago. She is survived by a half-brother, Eugene Schnapp of Waltham, and a sister, Priscilla Wales was 24 years of age, a graduate of Radcliffe College, and had been teaching at the Allen School in West Newton. Esther Wales was 14, and graduated last June from the Levi Warren Junior high school. Eleanor Wales, the only survivor of the family, is 27 years old, a graduate of Boston University and has been teaching school in Peabody, New York.

The family had been taking long automobile trips each summer while Mr. Wales was on his annual vacation and had left Newton on June 26 for an extended tour toward Western Canada. The bodies of the four arrived in Newton on Wednesday. The funeral service will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the Auburndale Congregational Church; Rev. H. J. Wells of Newton Centre will officiate. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Newton Lower Falls.

Weeks Host To Rep. State Comm.

Sinclair Weeks, chairman of the Republican State Committee, was host to that body at a dinner and meeting held at his home, 97 Valentine st., West Newton, on last Thursday evening. About 70 were present. The committee endorsed the action of Chairman Weeks in protesting recently against the nomination of Donald Mayberry of Newton as a member of the new State Appellate Tax Board. Mr. Mayberry later requested the Governor to withdraw the nomination. Resolutions were adopted on the death of former Senator William M. Butler. A discussion was held on the appeal taken to the Supreme Court on the matter of the right to conduct a referendum on the act repealing the pre-primary party convention law.

Pastor of Saint Bernard's Dies

Rev. Joseph H. Casey, pastor of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, died on July 11. He was born in Newburyport on August 25, 1877, attended St. John's Seminary, Brighton, and was ordained on December 22, 1905, by Bishop John Brady. He was assigned to St. Mary's Church, Waltham, as curate, and remained in that parish for about 20 years. He then went to Swampscott as curate for two years and in 1929 was made pastor of St. Andrew's Church, North Billerica. In 1934 he was transferred to St. Bernard's parish to succeed the late Rev. William J. Dwyer.

Father Casey is survived by two brothers, Rev. William J. Casey, pastor of St. Thomas Church, Jamaica Plain, and Daniel Casey of Malden; and a sister, Catherine Casey of Malden. The office for the dead was chanted in the church on Tuesday afternoon and the solemn requiem mass for Father Casey was celebrated on Wednesday morning. The celebrant was his brother, Rev. William J. Casey, assisted by Rev. James Kelley of Jamaica Plain as deacon, and Rev. Patrick Buckley of Cambridge as sub-deacon. The eulogy was delivered by Rev. Thomas Boland of St. Bernard's Church. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Newburyport.

Attending the service were 130 priests, including Francis J. Spellman of Newton Centre, and the following Monsignors: Rev. Richard Neagle of Malden, Rev. Joseph Walsh of Brighton, Rev. Francis Burke of Jamaica Plain, and Rev. Francis Phelan, chancellor of the archdiocese. The music was by the priests' choir of the diocese.

Hearing On Labor Trouble at N'ville

A hearing was held at the State House on Monday before the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration on the differences which caused the recent strike at the Security Mills, Monroe st., Newtonville. A large number of employees went out on strike a couple of months ago. They asked increased wages, better working conditions and recognition of their union. The strike stopped when both management and employees agreed to submit the controversy to the State Board. Frank Goldman, attorney for the mill owners, stated at the hearing that the mill might have to close if the demands had to be met. Hyman Bloomberg represented the employees, as their attorney.

Robertson Gets Permanent Job

Alexander Robertson was appointed on Monday to the position of milk and sanitary inspector of the Newton Health Department. Mr. Robertson, who was formerly connected with the Quincy Health Department, came to Newton last September on a provisional appointment to the position. Recently an examination was taken to fill the job and Robertson received the highest rating. The others certified for the position were Huntington Rutan of Kirkland st., Cambridge and George Buckner of Needham.

CAN INDUSTRY ABSORB THE WPA?

This noontime a group of two hundred or more publishers of weekly and daily newspapers throughout the state, business leaders and WPA and state officials are conferring as to the possibility and as to the methods of private industry absorbing the thousands of WPA workers who were dropped from the rolls this week. The conference was called upon invitation of James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the President. Many persons saw in the issuance of the invitations for this conference a gesture upon the part of the younger Roosevelt for political support in the next state campaign. It has been frequently rumored that the latter will be a candidate for the governorship or lieutenant governorship of Massachusetts in 1938. It is quite obvious that if Mr. Roosevelt can initiate or develop some program toward the accomplishment of this end that it will mean thousands of votes some sixteen months from now. For this reason the political angle cannot be overlooked. Yet it is rather unfortunate and possibly an injustice to him to have the cry of politics so loudly proclaimed.

Those interested in government have realized for many months that the continuous expenditure of huge sums of money upon many unessential and useless projects could not go on. It is also evident that relief must be given to those in need. However, for too many months we have been encouraging too many persons to lean upon the government rather than to make their own efforts to better relief conditions. There is a fairly large minority drawing upon government relief who are content to remain there indefinitely. We have continually maintained that the local administration of relief rather than its administration from Washington would provide a more adequate method of promoting, encouraging, and insisting upon the return to private employment of this group of individuals.

Another vital element in the solving of this problem is found in industry itself. During the depression years conditions were such that it was impractical, if not impossible, to train skilled workers in various trades. Thus there has been for some time a shortage of skilled and efficient labor for many positions which may well still be available, provided there were competent persons to fill them. Business in many lines has been excellent. Reports are frequent of "best business since 1929"—"peak volume now being produced"—and many other similar phrases. But it will not pay to be too optimistic. There is uncertainty in many industries, business is falling off, the peak has been passed. Are we now headed for another decline and another depression? Having achieved a glamorous second term, with the Supreme Court issue probably, although not definitely, decided without major change from our present set-up, with the government unable to balance its budget without drastic reduction and curtailment of expenditures, or even greater burdens of taxation, with the threat of inflation still a haunting spectre in the background, with the question of a third term a possibility but, we believe, a rather remote probability, is the New Deal and the present administration nearing the end of the trail?

These questions make up the vicious cycle of political and social economics that present a problem which apparently is impossible to solve, yet which in time will solve itself—for better or for worse. And for the better if the brains, the wealth, the freedom, and the democracy of this country co-operate upon that basic principle that has been handed down from century upon century—heard, but too seldom heeded—"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

TO HELP YOUR NEIGHBOR—DESTROY RAGWEED

Next week has been designated as Ragweed Week and Mayor Childs has issued a timely proclamation urging that Newton residents co-operate in destroying this weed which is so disagreeable to sufferers from hay fever. It is about the time of year when ragweed has grown to that state where the summer breezes pick up the pollen. This pollen-laden air is taken into the lungs of persons whose nasal membranes are irritated by the ragweed pollen. Sneezing spasms and symptoms similar to summer colds are common. It is a most unpleasant thing to be afflicted with hay fever and the elimination of the ragweed which is so frequently a cause is one of the most effective and desirable means of helping to control it. Even though you may not be affected by ragweed yourself, you may help some fellow citizen who is, by sharing in the effort to destroy this obnoxious plant.

THE COMPROMISE COURT BILL

During the past two weeks Congress has been debating a compromise bill offered in place of the original proposal of President Roosevelt to enlarge the Supreme Court. The compromise bill, nevertheless, fails to alter the principal objection to the entire plan as various members of the U. S. Senate have pointed out. The enlargement of the court with the resultant opportunity to appoint additional members to that body makes it possible for any Chief Executive, now or in the future, to bend the power of the highest court in the land to the will of the President then in office. The sudden death of Senator Robinson this week, prominently mentioned as the administration choice for the existing vacancy on the bench, has changed the picture greatly. Senator Robinson was generally admired for his legislative ability, for his personality and for his staunch support of the New Deal. His critics were largely numbered among those who failed to agree with his politics and can see no good in anyone with whom they do not agree. As an administration spokesman and legislative leader he was important and it is quite possible that his passing may also be accompanied by the shelving of the entire Supreme Court issue.

THE POLITICAL POT SIMMERS

Although the city election is still almost five months away the local political pot has begun to simmer. Rumors are current regarding the candidacy of this and that individual for one position or another. From West Newton, however, comes the first group announcement of candidates for aldermanic and school committee positions. Ward Alderman Gaddis will seek promotion as Alderman-at-large, while Kenneth Tiffin and Ralph Tabor will respectively run for Ward Alderman and School Committeeman. It is quite probable that other announcements of candidacies in other parts of the city as well as further announcements from Ward 3 will be forthcoming shortly and the political pot will begin to boil merrily, although the actual campaign will not get under way until the summer has waned and cooler weather is at hand.

Edward H.

Powers' Paragraphs

Among the activities planned by the group of WPA workers now making a traffic survey in this city is a study of conditions at West Newton square. So far as we can observe, and according to reports from persons in business at West Newton square, existing traffic conditions there are quite satisfactory, and there is no need for any study. Last year five traffic signals were installed at and near the square, and the result was that for months traffic was unnecessarily delayed at that section, and many thousands of motorists greatly inconvenienced. In addition, West Newton business men suffered a serious loss of business. As a result of protests, a few months ago the operation of the many signals at the square and at Chestnut and Washington sts., was abandoned. Since then, traffic has flowed smoothly at West Newton, provision has been made so that pedestrians can cross safely, everyone seems satisfied. So, leave well enough alone. There is no need for further expert treatment of traffic at West Newton. One experience was enough.

On July 4th as we drove through Ashby and Rindge, New Hampshire, we passed a couple of trucks carrying small, racing automobiles to the dirt race-track at Keene. As we passed the location of the race track in Keene, the crowd was already gathering to witness the races that were to be held on that Sunday afternoon. On the following day, July 5th, we read that an Everett youth had been killed while contesting in one of the races, and that two spectators had been injured there; a young woman received a broken leg, and a man had an arm broken when a racing car got out of control. On July 5th a contestant in an automobile race at Weymouth was killed. We have safety drives and more safety drives to lessen the carnage caused by automobiles. Yet, these senseless automobile races are permitted on dirt tracks which make accidents almost certain, with resultant fatalities to the speed-mad youths who contest, and injuries to the spectators who go to such races in anticipation of seeing casualties among the drivers. Furthermore, such races stimulate youths and even girls who see them, to indulge in reckless speeding on highways.

We have received a complaint that in Newton, as elsewhere, persons have been retained on WPA work who are less in need than some who were dropped, and whose families are in comfortable circumstances.

Electrical connections have been laid at Washington and Jewett sts., and Watertown and Adams sts. for the pedestrian traffic signals to be installed there. These signals have long been needed, a number of fatal accidents having occurred at both these places. Personally, we believe there are many intersections in the city where a signal was more needed than the expensive one to be installed at the wide-open intersection of Beacon and Walnut sts. In our opinion, STOP signs on Beacon st. would have sufficed. As for going to the considerable expense involved by the placing of a signal at the corner of Washington and Concord sts. we believe this is ridiculous. There are hundreds of street intersections more dangerous than this, when one considers the relatively small amount of traffic on Concord st. Two places in Lower Falls which constitute greater traffic hazards are the intersection of Washington and Beacon sts., and the intersection of Washington and Grove sts.

Another delay has been effected through a legal technicality in enforcing the zoning law as regard the big gravel pit at Oak Hill. In the meantime this business continues to operate, as it has for the past year, despite the action taken many months ago by the Board of Aldermen when it refused to again renew the temporary permit for the operation of the pit there. It is such dilatoriness on the part of our courts which is a big factor in the growing disrespect for law.

Senator Joe Robinson will not be a new member of the United States Supreme Court. The popular statesman from Arkansas was a man of ability, courage and likable personality. His death may tend to settle the controversy between the President and Congress over the Supreme Court, or it may make the President and his supporters more determined.

It takes only a few hot days such as we had last week to make any person with even a small amount of brains to realize how puny a creature man is. The sun is about 93,000,000 miles from the earth, and its heat is estimated at about 10,832 degrees. We mortals are comfortable at 70 degrees, or even 75 degrees. But, when the rays of the sun add only 15 or 20 degrees to the temperature, nearly everyone becomes more or less affected from the heat, and if the temperature rose to 135 or 150, most of us would pass out of the picture within a short time.

The award last week of $481,330 to the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company for its franchise in Newton, Wellesley, Natick and Framingham is just another reason why people are more and more burdened with taxes. For years before the Boston & Worcester surrendered its franchise in the four places named, that street railway had been losing business until it was operating only on a small scale. Buses and trucks had taken its passenger and freight trade, those who had operated the road in the prosperous days had ceased to own it, and the road and its franchise had been bought up at a decided bargain price. When the Worcester turnpike became assured, it was noticeable that some freight cars were again running over the B. & W. The franchise was purchased by the Department of Public Works without the approval of Governor Ely and his Executive Council and they refused to give their approval. A few individuals profit greatly by the big award for a street railway franchise which on actual business that road was doing, had little value. And the people of Massachusetts pay the bill.

Arrested For Slashing Wife

James O'Kelly, 45, of 8 Curve st., West Newton, a Negro, was arrested Saturday night at his home by Patrolmen Elliot and Powers after he had allegedly slashed his wife with a knife on the chest and under her left ear. She was taken to the Newton Hospital and released after the wounds had been treated. O'Kelly was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday and his case continued until July 16. He contended that his wife had run in to the knife. According to the police the fracas started when O'Kelly returned home and found Mrs. O'Kelly entertaining several guests.

Newton Republican, July 17, 1875

Newton is pronounced as one of the pleasantest spots in which to spend the summer, and still our people go elsewhere to a great extent. Many of them are probably in the position of Mayor Hyde, who says he prefers to stay at home, were it not that he would be liable to constant interruptions by those coming to see him on private or city business. The only way he can find rest is to go out of reach of those who would prevent his resting at home.

Mayor Hyde leaves on his vacation next week. He will spend it among the New Hampshire hills. He greatly needs rest and we hope he will gain strength and fresh vigor in the pure air of the White Mountains.

M. M. Chick and family left Wednesday for a trip to Labrador on the steamer Laura Bruce.

Is your dog licensed? The executive warrant for the killing of all unlicensed dogs within the city limits has been issued and will be speedily enforced. Newton has now over 800 dogs, a large increase over any former year.

There seems to be a misunderstanding regarding the police force of this city. There are no day policemen except in Wards 1 and 3, Newton and West Newton. In the other wards the policeman is only on duty nights, and cannot, therefore, be held responsible for keeping order during the day. There is no additional appropriation for more police. The Mayor has no authority to add to the number now on duty, except in the case of those wards through which the Boston water aqueduct is being built, and then only in case of special need.

The watering cart is a public convenience. It keeps the dust down.

John C. Chaffin of Vernon st. grows some of the handsomest roses in Newton. (Mr. Chaffin's former home is now the Children's Library. Some of the rose bushes are still there. Ed.)

It is a matter of general regret that Policeman Annetts has resigned. During his term of service he performed his duties with great efficiency. He has taken up his old trade, making custom boots and shoes with C. E. Wilson in Sumner's Block.

Abram Thomas, while standing on the depot platform on Tuesday morning as the 5 o'clock express was passing, was struck by a bundle of papers thrown from the train. He was knocked down and received severe bruises on the head. Messengers should be more careful about throwing off mail bags and bundles. This bundle weighed about 50 pounds.

J. Willard Rice Hose Company 4 of Auburndale are not satisfied with the recent action of the Board of Fire Engineers in reducing the number of men in the company, and have disbanded.

Catacrag Engine Company of Lower Falls (a hand-tub. Ed.) held its regular meeting on Monday evening. The engine was taken out for drill and worked very satisfactorily. In testing the rubber hose, two sections burst, deluging several men with water, among them Engineer Exley.

The New York and New England Railroad has refitted several of its trains and put on Miller platforms and air-brakes. The 10 a. m. train on Tuesday was delayed at Needham by an accident to the engine and did not arrive until 11 a. m.

Men working on the new aqueduct for the Boston Water Works are being paid $1.25 per day, and there is a rush for jobs, even at these wages.

The electric lights which the Newton Electric Light & Power Company generously offered to put free in Farlow Park, provided citizens would furnish the iron poles, will be installed as soon as the Aldermen grant a permit. The money for the poles has been subscribed.

Hon. Joseph Blumenthal and daughter of New York who have been visiting Dr. Brisble left today for the Isle of Shoals and the White Mountains. They were enthusiastic over the beauties of Newton, and thought it the most charming city they have visited on either side of the Atlantic.

A serious accident occurred on Wednesday morning at the new Baptist Church being built at Newton Centre. One of the scaffolding gave way about 20 feet above ground, causing three of the masons to fall. Sharp, broken stones beneath the scaffold made the fall more serious. In results, Thomas Murphy, 44, who arrived in this country from Ireland only last Saturday, was injured about the head, and internally. Patrick Reagan, who has a family in Malden, was injured on the head and shoulders. They were taken to the Newton Cottage Hospital and are expected to recover.

SPORTS REVIEW

NO. 5

A real leader in campus life and athletics at Brown University during the last four years, Jackson Herbert Skillings of Newton Centre is the subject of Fred Dauten's sports portrait of the week. From the moment he entered the university in the Fall of 1933 until, as Chief Marshal, he led the senior class through commencement exercises three weeks ago, Jack Skillings has many times been Brown's man of the hour. He played varsity hockey and tennis three years at Brown, was captain of both teams in 1937 and of tennis in 1936 as well.

Coming to Newton from Brighton High in 1930, Jack had already shown promise in swimming, track, baseball and hockey. He was chosen all-scholastic goalie of the Greater Boston interscholastic hockey loop in 1932, after combining with versatile Warren Huston to place Newton High among the top-ranking teams for the last time under the regime of the late Dr. Martin. He also played tennis at Newton, although he had proved a natural second baseman at Brighton, and built up a sound, steady game along generally defensive lines. At Wilbraham Academy, after being graduated from Newton, Jack played soccer, hockey, baseball and tennis, and was graduated cum laude.

In September, 1933, Jack Skillings entered Brown University. He was made captain of freshman hockey and tennis teams, and took the pledge of Phi Gamma Delta. He was named as a sophomore to the Vigilance Committee and the Dormitory Council, and was chosen for the latter office in his junior year. In his third year, he was voted secretary of the Brown Key, chairman of the Prom committee, and took preliminary honors in history. He made the Dean's list and was awarded the Loutit scholarship, the largest given to an undergraduate at Brown. In his last year, he served as a captain in the Christian Association drive, was secretary of the Cammari-an Club, and secretary of the Undergraduate Athletic Council. As Chief Marshal of the senior class, Jack made the welcoming speech to Alumni and visiting dignitaries on Class Day, and enjoyed the signal honor of leading the entire procession down College Hill to Brown's 169th Commencement exercises with a cash gift from the 30-year class, 1907.

In hockey, Jack Skillings was Brown's varsity goalie as soon as he was eligible for intercollegiate competition. He had a great season even as a sophomore, turning in 76 saves against Harvard in one contest. After a surgical operation on his knee in September, 1936, he returned to hockey as agile as ever. When Brown defeated Yale 5-4 in a blistering overtime game at New Haven for the first time in many years last winter, the entire Yale team surrounded Skillings after the game to congratulate him for his share in it. Jack played No. 2 on the varsity tennis team as a sophomore, then alternated between No. 1 and No. 2 for the next two years. Last season he had a personal record of 11 wins and two defeats in singles, losing to Cornell and Harvard opponents. There has been much talk, none of it very definite or conclusive, to the effect that Jack Skillings would soon be tendered a chance in professional hockey. Most of the rumors originate in Providence, where the former Newton High goalie's peerless defense of the Brown nets attracted large crowds to Brown's home games in the Providence Arena for the last three winters. Skillings actually had one chance to play goal for the Providence Reds against the Springfield Indians last season. When his final game in the Brown uniform was nearly a month behind him, Jack was approached by the manager of the Reds, who wanted him to play the next night. Not that their regular net-minder was sick, but both teams had already made the Fontaine Cup playoffs, and the scheduled game would have no bearing on the Canadian-American league title. So, in an effort to build up a game that had little or nothing at stake, the Reds made a bid for the services of Jack Skillings, a real drawing card in the Providence rink. It was no mean temptation for Skillings, who would have been glad to test himself in fast professional competition. Nothing was said about money, but the mere fact of his appearance on the ice with the Reds would have jeopardized his amateur standing. And with a full season of tennis ahead, the sport he had been twice elected to captain, Jack couldn't take the chance. So he turned it down cold. The chances are that he will get another crack at professional hockey, and that he will be ready and willing when the chance comes. Rumors floating about Providence have already linked him with the Reds, the Boston Bruins, and the Chicago Blackhawks. Very likely the Blackhawks will be interested, what with Major McLaughlin's determined attempt to build that club into an all-American unit. If he should sign with the Bruins after a tryout in the fall, Jack will probably be sent to the Hershey, Penna., club for seasoning. He lives at 2 Willow ter., Newton Centre, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Skillings. He stands a shade under six feet tall, weighs 155 pounds, and was 22 years old in January.

2 Beginning the week of June 28, 1937, and continuing each week for ten weeks, this newspaper will publish a list of ten names. Each of these names will be jumbled to include syllables or words from some of the five other names. For example: "What are correct names for these two jumbled New England Cities—MANISTON and LEWCHESER?" The correct answer is MANCHESTER and LEWISTON. The jumbled names appearing together will represent a similar classification, one week six New England Manufacturing Cities, the next week six New England Colleges, etc. Each New England State will be represented each week in the six names. It is part of this contest to find the correct name that goes with each State.

3 The New England Press Association will award a First Prize of $2,000.00 as a part of $5,000.00 in cash prizes to the person or persons submitting the correct or most correct names for each of the sixty jumbled names, and in all other ways conforming to the Official Rules. 4 Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your replies or make them elaborate.

5 In case of tie, as many names will be reserved as there are persons tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more people tie in submitting the correct or nearest correct solutions to the 60 names, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them and will be awarded in the order of the correctness of the solutions of such contestants (without cost) to a second series of 60 names, together with the tie in submitting the correct words on the subject "Why I Prefer to Read A Weekly Newspaper" as part of a final tie between two or more contestants for any position in the list of winners. Identical prizes will be awarded to the tying contestants.

6 Answers to each weekly contest should be submitted during the following week. Readable facsimiles (hand drawn, not traced) of the Know New England Contest Answer Forms may be submitted. Picture size 8" x 11", suitable for framing. Purchase of these prints is a condition for entering the contest. These picture prizes will be mailed to the contestant at the close of the contest.

8 Any person entering the contest and by submission of answers, agrees to accept as final the decision of the New England Press Association and the Contest Editor, on all matters affecting the conduct of the contest, the making of awards, and procedure and policy with regard to the acceptance of submissions during the contest. The spelling of these New England Names conforms with that given in the Encyclopedia Britannica. THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

By JACK MORRIS

AUBURNDALE TAKES LEAD IN TWI RACE

Auburndale has taken over the lead in the American division by winning two games while Pals lost to Cabot. Several teams in this division are finding it hard to muster nine men for each game because many have gone on vacations and others have obtained work which does not finish in time for the ball games.

Y. M. A. C. of Upper Falls continues to lead the National division. They have won two games during the last week. The West Newton Giants, by defeating Nonantum and Waban, have taken possession of second place with Center A. C. now in third position.

Tickets for the Louis DeRusso benefit game are going well and it is expected a banner crowd will be on hand at West Newton Common Friday night. Those who wish to see the game but feel they cannot afford tickets will be allowed to contribute a small amount at the game.

Del Ryan has been selected to handle the American division team and Ray Barry will manage the National group. The umpires have selected the following squads:

YOU'LL GET A BANG OUT OF THIS ONE!

DO you get a kick out of a golf ball's click when you really lean into one on the tee?

Does your heart beat faster when the big fish strikes, and your singing reel almost smokes?

Can a brisk breeze and a taut sail make you feel like a kid again, forgetting care in the sheer joy of action?

Mister, if you're like that, what a bang you'll get out of this big Buick!

You'll go for the way it goes for you. You'll like the quick, eager spurt of its get-away, the buoyant, swiftness steadiness of its travel.

You'll thrill to the businesslike manner in which it settles to the pull, its quiet, dogged competence in long, tough going.

You'll welcome the way it cradles you over the bumps, the neat, compact, handily mobile feel of it. You'll be proudly aware of its beauty, of the picture you make riding in its this-minute style.

But don't forget this major thing—it's the buy of the season, price-wise as well as on performance! It's still selling at the lowest price in all Buick history—you can still get a big Buick eight for less than some sixes would cost you.

So don't hold back. Good things, you know, can't last forever. Don't pass up a buy such as Buick is at its low prices now.

$3,000 Contest Is Proving Big Hit

Thousands Enrolled In "Know New England" Contest—You May Start Today

From northern Maine to southern Connecticut, thousands of people from six to sixty have entered the big "Know New England" contest sponsored by the New England Press Association. Each week the contest grows just a little harder, yet every name used, together with the correct spelling, can be found in any public library within the many pages of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Still Time to Enter

To those of you who are still sitting on the fence and who now would like to enter the contest, we can say that there is still plenty of time left to begin it—perhaps be a prize winner—if you are smart enough. All you have to do is to write a letter to the editor of this paper, or to the "Know New England" Contest Editor, 14 Beacon street, Boston, Mass., and ask for back answer forms to the "Know New England" Contest. Enclose 3 cents to cover mailing cost.

Of Educational Value

The contest editor in Boston has received many letters from contestants in the several New England states complimenting the New England Press Association for sponsoring a contest which creates not only a civic pride and interest in New England, but also does a great deal to educate people everywhere upon New England's history and the beauty of its lakes, shores and woods. To date the contest has not only proven to be one of educational value, but has proven to be lots of fun for both old and young. It will be most interesting to see which state in New England can produce the most prize winners.

$3000 in Cash Prizes

Remember there are many cash awards—thirty-one in number. $2000 for the big first prize. Second prize, $500; Third prize, $200; Fourth prize, $100; Fifth prize, $50; Sixth prize, $25; and $5 each from seventh to thirty-first place. In addition, ten nationally known makers of household goods have offered 120 big merchandise prizes—20 each to the leading contestants in each of the six New England states. These prizes will be in the form of a large gift packet containing ten regular size packages, one each from each maker of the product advertised in the contest. Furthermore every contestant who sends in an answer form each week of the contest, together with the required ten cents, will receive four beautiful photographic prints from pictures by Sam Chamberlain, distinguished photographer of New England scenes. These beautiful prints, size 8 inches by 11 inches, are suitable for framing and hanging on the walls of your home.

Italian Society Holds Fiesta

The third annual fiesta conducted by the Maria del Carmine Society of Nonantum was held on last Saturday, Sunday and Monday. As in the two past years Adams st. was decorated between Washington and Watertown sts. with a number of arches of varicolored electric lights. The Hawthorn st. playground was also elaborately decorated, a large shrine being the outstanding feature. On Saturday evening a band concert was given at the playground by Verdi's Colonial Band. On Sunday morning the members of the society and Italian residents of Nonantum attended a solemn high mass at Our Lady's Church. Rev. James Fahey was the celebrant. At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon a procession was held which started at Our Lady's Church and passed over streets in the Nonantum district to the playground. On Sunday night another band concert was held at the playground.

Monday evening a field day was held at the playground, together with a band concert and a display of fireworks. The chairman of the committee in charge was Loretto Bianchi, Giuseppe DiAngelis, vice-chairman; Loretto Mazzola, and Raffaele Corsetti, secretaries; Giuseppe Napolitano, treasurer; Frank Santucci, master of ceremonies.

Youth Badly Cut By Milk Bottle

Richard Norton, 17, of 105 Bennett st., Brighton, employed as a helper on a milk truck, was seriously cut early Monday morning. The youth was alighting from the truck with a milk bottle in each hand. He tripped and fell on the bottles, both of which broke. Norton, bleeding profusely from cuts on his face and both arms, was lucky enough to meet Patrolmen Brosnahan and McGrath on Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, near where the accident occurred. The officers applied tourniquets and bandages and took the injured youth to the Newton Hospital.

Newtonville Boy Shoots Grandfather

Domenic Aratta, 78, of 24 Carter st., Needham was fatally shot Sunday noon by a charge from a shot-gun fired by his grandson, Joseph Aratta, 24, Nevada st., Newtonville. The aged man was working in a field off St. Mary st., Needham sharpening a scythe. Another grandson, Fred Aratta, 11, was standing near him. Joseph Aratta found the shot-gun in a shack a short distance away, his grandfather having kept it there to shoot at crows. Young Aratta, who did not know the gun was loaded, pointed it toward his grandfather, and it went off, the charge hitting the old man in his back.

Arrested For Drunken Driving

Felix McCarthy of 249 Newton st., Waltham, was arrested about 1:20 o'clock last Thursday by Patrolmen Moran and Walsh of the Metropolitan police on charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arraigned in the Newton court and his case continued until July 19. The police observed McCarthy driving the car in an erratic manner.

Negro Singers At WPA Concert July 27 In Auburndale

Amplifying System Will Broadcast Musical Program

The Newton WPA Symphony Orchestra under the supervision of Albert H. Webber, and Herman C. Sulzen, conductor, presented the fourth in a series of outdoor concerts at the Auburndale playground, Commonwealth ave. and Islington rd., last evening to an audience of about 2500 music enthusiasts.

Miss Ruth E. Barse, soprano soloist of Auburndale, sang "The Italian Street Song" and "Kiss Me Again" by Victor Herbert, and responded to the applause of the throng of music lovers, with an encore, the popular "September in the Rain" from the talking picture "The Talk of the Town."

These outdoor concerts will continue throughout the summer season, every Tuesday evening.

Supervisor Webber will have an amplifying system installed next week whereby the audience who wish to remain in their cars, may enjoy and hear this extraordinary orchestra, clearly. Cars may drive on the playground, and the Newton Police are on hand to direct motor traffic, and preserve quietness, also maintaining easy access to and from the park.

A program of typical American negro spirituals, sung in real Southern style will be given by the American Folk Singers, an all colored ensemble of 25 voices as guest artists at the next concert on Tuesday evening, July 27th at 7:30 o'clock. It will be free and open to the public.

The concert, which will be presented by the Works Progress Administration Federal Music Project, will be conducted by Thomas Johnson. The American Folk Singers is one of two groups of negro spiritual singers sponsored by the Government in Massachusetts. All of its members are professional singers, with many years of concert and theatrical experience behind them. Mr. Johnson, the youthful leader of the group is a native of Alabama and has been identified with the musical life of the South as well as in New England, for the past few years. At a time when native spiritual choruses are enjoying a wave of well deserved popularity, the American Folk Singers group is particularly interesting. The furtherance of American music is one of the aims of the Federal Music Project, according to national director, Nikolai Sokoloff.

Drove Uninsured Car, Fined $100

John Yaskel, 22, of 204 Concord st., Lower Falls, was fined $100 by Judge Allen in the Newton court on Monday for driving an uninsured automobile. He was also fined $25 for driving an unregistered car, but this fine was suspended. Patrolman Dwyer observed Yaskel driving a car on July 10 with plates which had been on a car reported missing by a Needham woman. It was later found out that the car had been sold, and Yaskel obtained the plates from a friend.

Critically Hurt In Truck Crash

James Hehir, 21, of 16 Boyd st., Newton, was critically injured about 5 o'clock last Saturday afternoon when a small ice-truck he was driving crashed into the front of the Suburban Laundry building on California st., Nonantum. The accident occurred when a front tire burst. Hehir was jammed in the wrecked cab of the truck and it took nearly 15 minutes to extricate him. He received a fractured skull and other injuries and is still in a semi-conscious condition at the Newton Hospital. Willfred Delorey, 17, of Pleasant st., Watertown, who was riding with Hehir, was slightly injured.

Dr. Mellus' appointment was presented to the Board of Aldermen at its meeting on Monday night.

Young Republicans Plan Moonlight Harbor Sail

Planning a gay get-together of unusual attractions after a winter and spring of great activity, real progress, and much hard work, the Young Republicans of Massachusetts and the Republican Club of Massachusetts are sponsoring a Moonlight Cruise on the S.S. Steel Pier, Tuesday evening, August 3rd, at 8:30 p. m., to which are invited Republicans and their friends from all over the State. The entire boat has been chartered for the evening. Dancing, deck games, and all sorts of interesting entertainment is planned to add to the merriment of the occasion, not to mention plenty of enticing things in the way of refreshments. Every Republican Club in Massachusetts is cooperating with the committee in charge in the selling of tickets. Prizes are to be given to the club and to the individual selling the most tickets. Without fear of contradiction, the committee feels sure that no more wonderful way of spending a hot summer evening was ever invented than to dance in the moonlight, or stroll about the decks, without a care in the world, for the time being, as the boat takes you swiftly away—far away—from such things as city pavements and suburban mosquitoes out to where the blue waves ride high, lighthouses gleam, and sea breezes blow.

Newton's representatives on the committee are Edgar T. White, Jr., president of the Young Men's Republican Club of Newton and Roger A. Lutz. Mr. Lutz is a well known Newtonite who has demonstrated his ability and leadership during the last four years, 1932 to 1936, when he was president of the Young Men's Republican League of Boston.

Automobile Accidents

Cars driven by Richard Woodbine of Manor ave., Wellesley, and Elizabeth Calman of 1302 1/2 Boylston st., Newton Upper Falls, collided on Friday afternoon at Boylston and Woodward sts., Newton Highlands. Miss Calman received slight injuries and was treated by Dr. L. C. Gillespie.

A car driven by Robert Jamron of Harvard st., Dorchester, went out of control last Friday on Homer st., near city hall, and hit a small tree. The tree was broken down.

A truck driven by Alvin Ringer of Line st., Somerville, overturned at Lowell and Highland aves., Newtonville, last Friday when the right front spring on the vehicle broke. Ringer had turned sharply to avoid striking a car. He received injuries to his right side.

Bandits Slug W. Newton Woman

Miss Mary G. Collins of 15 Henshaw terrace, West Newton, received a severe scalp wound last Friday when one of two gunmen who entered the cashier's office at Hotel Lenox, Boston hit her on the side of her head with the barrel of a revolver. Miss Collins, who is bookkeeper at the hotel, was assaulted when she failed to hand over to the bandits, upon their command, the boxes containing the pay roll envelopes for employees of the hotel. The amount stolen was about $1000.

CORRECTION

In last week's GRAPHIC in the article relative to the death of Rev. Joseph H. Casey, pastor of St. Bernard's Church, a typographical error caused the omission of the title of Bishop Francis J. Annual Folk Festival Of World Friendship

The American Institute of Normal Methods at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, Mass., will present its annual Folk Festival on the Lasell Campus on Saturday afternoon, July 24, 1937, at three o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

The festival is one of many projects in world friendship and is entered into with a spirit of sympathy and goodwill. The program is one of great interest and variety; of special enjoyment will be the Street in Hongkong, and the Latin-American Carnival. Included on the program are folk songs, folk dances and exhibition dances.

The Latin-American Scene depicts a carnival in full swing, pausing for a bit of romance with a balcony tryst, a short interlude of humor, the entrance of the king, the queen, and procession, and the special entertainment for the royal personages.

The Street Scene in Hongkong brings out the aged Chinese custom of the Children's Hour which comes upon the ninth hour of the ninth day of the ninth month. At this very special time the boys go out into the fields to fly their kites. The story of this play centers around Li-Chao whose son is soon to arrive from the United States with an American-Chinese bride, and he speaks of all the Chinese customs with which she will become acquainted.

Illuminated Canoe Parade on River

The Annual Charles River Illuminated Water Parade has been postponed from July 25th to August 18th by vote of the Planning Committee to enable the General Committee to handle entries from the West Roxbury and Waltham districts of the Charles.

Forty-two entries have been received to date for the Japanese Lantern Illuminated; Novelty Illuminated; and Float Division with the change being made to include other sections, more than one hundred variously decorated and illuminated craft are expected to pass in review of the judges.

A meeting of the various canoe clubs, boat house proprietors and canoe enthusiasts is to be held Thursday evening at the Canoeists Recreation Club to make plans for handling the enlarged program.

Funeral Held for Wales Family

The funeral service for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wales of 201 Auburn st., Auburndale, and their two daughters, Priscilla and Esther Wales, was held last Saturday at Auburndale Congregational Church. Rev. Herman Wells, substitute pastor at the church, officiated, assisted by Rev. James McKiernan of Peekskill, N. Y. Eight letter carriers from the Newton Centre post office, where Mr. Wales had worked for 35 years, served as pallbearers, and a large delegation of postoffice employees was present. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Lower Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Wales and their two daughters were drowned in an automobile accident at Calgary, Alberta, on July 8. Miss Eleanor Wales, their eldest daughter, escaped from the car when it became submerged in a deep canal.

New City Horse Leads Long Chase

A draft horse recently purchased by the Newton Street Department from a sales stable at Brighton must have some homing instinct. She broke loose from a holster at the Crafts st. stable on Monday morning and proceeded at a gallop along Crafts and Watertown Pls., through Watertown square, thence along North Beacon st. to Brighton, a distance of 3 miles. Patrolmen McArdle and Concannon followed the horse in a police car from Nonantum to Brighton, cornered the runaway in a yard and lead her back to Crafts st.

Burglary At Newton Corner

The store of the Liederman Cleaning Company at 244 Washington st., Newton, was broken into on Monday night and $27 stolen from a cash box. Entrance was effected by breaking the window in the rear door. The burglary was discovered by a collector who called at the store about 10 p. m.

Aldermen Appropriate $17,500 For Land At West Newton For New School

Alderman Temperley Objects To Acceptance of Inferior Streets—$2000 For New Ceiling at Weeks Jr. High School

A meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen was held on Monday night. Hearings were held on the petition of the Newton Motor Sales Company for a permit to sell automobiles on a lot of land at the corner of Pearl and Centre sts., Newton, and petitions from the Edison and telephone companies for pole locations on Lenox st., Highland and Lowell aves. The permit was granted to the Newton Motor Sales Company, and for the pole locations on Highland ave. Because of protests from neighbors, the permit for poles on Lenox st. was held up.

A hearing was held on petitions for improving and accepting Blithedale st., Newtonville; Varick rd. and Waban ave. in Waban, under the betterment law. Several residents of Blithedale rd. opposed the petition to have this rd. improved. They said abutters have kept the short street in good condition, and its recent poor state was caused by heavy trucking as a result of new houses having been built on the street. Mrs. Anne Clafin Connors, speaking against the petition, protested against the daily closing of Elm rd., from which Blithedale rd. runs. She said Elm rd. had been given to the city through the generosity of William Clafin, and was supposed to be kept open as a public way. Instead, it is closed to traffic during the hours when the high school is open. Some years ago the city built a tunnel under Elm rd. to permit the passage of pupils from one school building to the other. This tunnel cost $50,000, but is comparatively little used. Persons favoring the acceptance of Blithedale rd. said stones have been thrown onto their yards from the street, and trucks driven onto lawns because of the condition of the street.

The petition of H. E. Edgar for a permit to erect a 4 car garage on a different location at 1200 Walnut st., other than that granted, was held in committee. Permits were granted to Hattie Townsend to attach a 2 car garage to a dwelling at 56 Bennington st.; and to the Kingsbury Trust for a 2 car garage at 339 Hammond st. The Gulf Oil Company was given a permit to erect a lubricating building at 1639 Centre st. Petitions not granted were those of William Shaughnessy for two taxi licenses at 239 Washington st., Newton; William Burns, 233 Auburn st., for a junk license; Albert Patch of Boston for a street musician's license. A hearing was set for August 23 on the petition from Eva Applebaum for a gasoline station permit at the southeast corner of Commonwealth ave. and Lexington sts., Auburndale.

The city engineer's report on sewers in Reservoir Drive, Pierpont, near Burn, Walnut Hill rds. and St. Mary st., were accepted. A petition was received for a sewer in Wyoming rd. When the orders were received for the acceptance of Lockwood, Heatherland, Verdale and Upland rds., and Cousens Circle under the general law Alderman Temperley objected to the acceptance of streets which have been built by real estate developers, and which are not so well constructed as those built by city employees, and paid for by abutters under the betterment law. Temperley argued that the privately built streets, of gravel construction, soon become in such poor condition that they will have to be constantly repaired, and rebuilt, at the expense of taxpayers of the city.

A petition was received from Paul Sykes for a permit to change a single residence at 19 George st., Newton into a two-family house. A hearing will be held on this on August 4. A similar petition was received from Peter Turchon of 1110 Walnut st. A permit was granted to William Mitchell to alter the church building at 51 Hartford st., Newton Highlands into a clubhouse for the Odd Fellows. An order was passed authorizing the razing of the old structure on Mechanic st., Upper Falls, known as the "Bee Hive."

A number of claims were acted on. Awards were authorized for payment to the Barry estate at Oak Hill for land taken for the new Oak Hill school and parking space. These totaled $5519.76. Mrs. Fannie Snyder was awarded $100 for injuries received from a fall on a defective sidewalk.

Appropriations included $17,500 for land at Cherry and Derby sts., West Newton, for a new school; $540 for a pension for Frank Monroe, retired policeman; $100 for dog immunization clinic; $5000 for installation of fire alarms in school buildings; $800 for a press box at Clafin field stadium; $890 for a sewer in Walnut st.; $1740 for a sewer in Park ave.; $3133 for a sewer in Sherman st.; $2000 for an acoustical ceiling at the cafeteria in the Weeks School. It seems the present ceiling causes too much reverberation from the noise of dishes and student conversation of pupils who are eating. The cost of the noiseless ceiling will eventually be repaid from the profits on the food sold there. Claims were received from Patrolmen Kerrivan, Lynch and Brosnahan, who received injuries when the police car in which they were riding collided with another car on Commonwealth ave. some time ago. These claims were for medical care on the part of Lynch and Brosnahan, $37 and $25; that of Kerrivan was for $848.29. It includes $325.59 for hospital expenses, $384 for medical attendance by Dr. Nutter, and $201.70 for back pay. Kerrivan received a severe spine injury.

Boy Bicyclist Breaks Leg

Usually when a boy riding a bicycle hits a pedestrian, it is the person on foot who gets injured. But, when Elmer Chesley, 11, ran into a girl at Oak and Auburndale avenues, West Newton last Thursday morning, it was the bicyclist who got hurt. Elmer was hurled from his bicycle onto the ground and received fractures of his left leg and arm. The girl was not injured. Young Chesley was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. His home is at 48 Neptune street, Lynn and he was spending part of his vacation with relatives in West Newton.

INDUSTRY AND THE WPA

The proposed plan to develop a method of absorbing WPA employees in private industry for which James Roosevelt called a conference of newspaper publishers, officials and others interested had rather a short life when it was revealed that the Associated Industries of Massachusetts are dealing with this problem. Last week's conference resulted in the appointment of a committee to consider the suggestions made and early this week it was reported that the committee had turned everything over to the committee of the industries which has been functioning for some time. It is rather obvious that the latter are vitally interested in the increase of production and consumption which must come before increased employment can be offered. And at the same time increased purchasing power by the wage-earners must come in order to furnish the necessary market. The simple economics of the problem show a circle of events which makes it difficult to provide a starting point for any improvement in the cycle.

WORTHY OF DUPLICATION

From the worst city in its class in the country from the standpoint of automobile accidents to the best in little more than a year is the record made by the city of Quincy. And, according to officials of that city there is no secret to the success—methodical, hard work in the traffic department of the Police Department. Not only the collection of data upon all accidents, but action as well—arrests or warnings, installation of traffic lights, regulations or devices; through the courts or the registrar of motor vehicles. In short, by co-operation. No investigation is ever filed until it is closed—it is never closed until action of some kind has been taken. What has been done in Quincy can be done in Newton and although Newton's accident record may not be the worst it can be improved.

A WELCOME CHANGE

From now on thousands of persons will make out checks and money orders payable to the Boston Edison Company instead of the Edison-Electric Illuminating Company of Boston. Permission for this change was given during the past session of the legislature and become effective last week. The only ones said to object to the change were the ink manufacturers. Their loss, however, is the gain of thousands of customers of the electric light company who will welcome the change to the shorter and much more convenient company name.

A CHARACTER STUDY

The Boston University Law Review for the month of June contains an article in tribute to the late Judge Alonzo R. Weed of Newton—entitled—"A Character Study." The author is George R. Farnum whose intimate contacts with the well-known and well-loved former Newton Mayor prompted him to put his feelings into the written word. The character study will most assuredly stand as a written memorial to a man who endeared himself to all who knew him.

A LOSS TO THE WORLD

From the invention of wireless telegraphy and telephony came the radio and from its basic fundamentals will come television and other probable forms of transmission via air waves. Some forty or more years ago a young Italian, Guglielmo Marconi, then in his twenties, invented the original wireless method of transmitting messages. His death this past week deprived the world of science of further products of his inventive genius.

A WORTHY APPOINTMENT

The appointment of Dr. Edward Mellus to the position left vacant on the Newton Board of Health by the resignation of Dr. S. W. Smylie will meet with the general approval of Newton citizens. Dr. Mellus has spent many years of his life in the betterment of the physical welfare of humanity and brings a wealth of practical experience to the position.

THE COURT PACKING PLAN COLLAPSES

If reports from Washington are correct that the administration will content itself with reforms in the lower courts the plan to "pack" the Supreme Court, which has stirred the country for many months, has definitely collapsed. Clearing it up once and for all should go a long way toward improving conditions generally.

Newton Attorney Takes Summer Courses in Italian Institute

Everett W. Crawford, Newton attorney, is one of the 67 Americans from all parts of the U. S. to take the summer university courses given here by the Italo-American Association of the Interuniversity Institute.

The inauguration of the courses today was attended by U. S. Ambassador William Phillips and by Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italy's foreign minister, and by some of the leading figures in Italy.

Mr. Crawford is taking courses in archaeology, Roman topography, Latin literature, Roman antiquities, Italian literature and language, the history of art and modern history. These subjects will keep Mr. Crawford in Rome until August 22, when the summer school period ends.

Some of the modern courses are given by Professor Alessandro DeMasi, one of Italy's outstanding educators. This fall Professor DeMasi will visit Boston's institutions of learning as a part of the tour of American universities for which he is preparing. He may also lecture.

A lover of Italy and its art, Mr. Crawford described some of the advantages which, as a foreign student, he enjoys.

In addition to the regular classes, he stated part of the curriculum consists of excursions to some of the most important historical points of interest in the country. Throughout the summer period they may visit all the national museums and galleries without charge.

They are granted considerable price concessions in entertainment, concerts, opera and even in their living quarters and their meals. These are available only to properly accredited foreign students and are imposed by the Government for their benefit.

According to Mr. Crawford, summer students are encouraged to visit other parts of Italy as well. Upon enrollment, they are given five vouchers, each of which entitles the holder to a trip anywhere in Italy at a reduction of 50 per cent under the normal fare. "These courses have come to cost me exactly nothing," declared Mr. Crawford, amusedly. "Because the advantages I've received as a result of my enrollment will more than offset, by August 22nd, the actual cost of the courses themselves."

"And when one considers that we spend tourist lire at 21 instead of 18.90 to the dollar, it's no wonder that more American students have come to Italy this year to study at Perugia, Rome and elsewhere than at any time since 1926."

"On every hand, so far, I have noticed the visible signs of the Government's efforts to make foreign students feel as comfortable and entirely at home as possible."

Mr. Crawford plans on returning to Newton in September.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Slim" a Warner Bros. melodrama dealing with a class of young men whom the movies have overlooked up to now—the lads who string high tension power lines across the country—will open as the feature attraction at the Capitol theatre, Alton, for one week starting Friday, July 23rd.

Costars in the picture and pals in the story, are Pat O'Brien and Henry Fonda, the latter carrying the title role and the former acting the part of "Red" who teaches "Slim" the business.

The girl when they both love is the attractive and capable Margaret Lindsay, who plays a hospital nurse, as she did in the recent "Green Light" and in many other pictures.

Nineteenth of the action of "Slim" is outdoors and there are many amazing scenes depicting the perils and the thrills of the wire stringers, who erect 100 foot towers, clamber up and down them, and put into position the strands that carry energy, sometimes braving blizzards to do so.

"Slim" is made from the best selling novel of the same name by William Wister Haines.

On the same program the management will present Bob Burns and Martha Raye who make their first appearances as stars in "Mountain Music," the comedy of life in the hill country in the Paul Webb manner.

"Mountain Music" is ideally suited for Burns' unique talents. Written by McKim Kantor author of "The Voice of Bugle Ann" and other noted film stories and novels, it's locale is in the Ozark Mountain region, the country from which Burns hails and which he made famous over the air and in his writings as the home of the great American hillbilly.

A brilliant cast of supporting players has been assembled for "Mountain Music" such well known character players as George Hayes, Jan Duggan, Fuzzy Knight, Rufe Davis and Spencer Charters will be on hand as Burns' relatives while the love interest will be maintained by John Howard and Terry Walker, the latter Paramount's beautiful "magazine cover girl" who makes her film debut in this picture.

"Slim" and "Mountain Music" will be shown at the Capitol Theatre for one week starting Friday, July 23rd.

REAL ESTATE OFFICE SERVES TEA

The practice of serving afternoon tea has been adopted by many of the legal and professional offices in many cities but it is believed that this is the first time that a busy real estate office has joined the group of afternoon teas. Every afternoon promptly at three thirty tea is served by the Carley Realty in West Newton to their entire force and all clients and friends who care to drop in.

"Of course," says Miss Carley, "this really is not such an innovation as some people seem to think. We have always been noted for our friendly and high grade service and what could be more friendly and natural than to extend an invitation to our friends and clients after a hard day of house hunting to join us as we relax and cool off."

Kennedy, member of the Roxbury, Mass., Post No. 44, will be leading a large delegation of New England Legionnaires and their families in the sailing of the Cunard White Star liner Laconia which sails from New York on Sept. 24, for Cobh, Cherbourg and Liverpool. UNION SERVICES

The union services of the Newton Highlands rifle range last Saturday was one of the saddest accidents that has occurred in this city. Willie, 12 year old son of Samson Whittemore, was tending target for Samuel Shaw and another gentleman. He had arranged the targets and went behind the target house without holding the danger signal. The target is a large canvas affair and the boy was hidden behind it. When Mr. Shaw fired, the bullet, a 38 calibre ball, went through the target, struck the boy in the left side and went through his body. He died on his way to his home on Forest street. Mr. Shaw was so overcome that he fainted.

The Common Councilmen seem to think they are as much entitled to gold badges as are the Aldermen. The order as passed by the latter body provides for silver badges for the Common Council.

The Water Commissioners put a 3 or 4-inch advertisement in the Newton papers and over a column in Boston papers. This is about the proportion of work local residents have received from the committee on printing since city government was established here.

All our storekeepers close on Wednesday evenings. The business street is a pretty quiet place on that night.

The Newton Mutual Relief Society held its annual picnic at Fresh Pond Grove, Cambridge, on last Thursday. A grand time was enjoyed.

The grist mill of J. B. Lord at Bulbough's Pond in Newtonville is still for want of water. In consequence, he has got to get grinding elsewhere, and for this reason Albert Brackett's mill is now in constant operation.

Tuesday night the Hook & Ladder Company turned out for some practice which took place at the Adams School on Crafts street, Newtonville. They took a spiked ladder, 55 feet long, from the truck, splined it, put it up against the side of the building, and a man went up in 2 3/4 minutes; which is doing remarkably well for a newly organized company.

An attempt was made Sunday night about 12 o'clock to burn the Newtonville depot. It was the second attempt. The fire was started in the toilet, which must have been entered by false keys as it had been kept locked. The alarm was given by Engineer Whitney of a passing freight train. The fire was under good headway when discovered and would have consumed the building except that the slated roof confined the flames. An alarm was sent from Box 23 and in 5 minutes Engine 1 was on hand. The water in the reservoir at Newtonville square was soon exhausted, but the well nearby furnished an abundant supply to quench the flames. The loss was about $800. There is a strong feeling of indignation in the village against the incendiary. The discomforts of a car for a depot is now realized by the worst croaker who heretofore wished for a better depot.

Tramps are becoming a nuisance. There may not be as many calling for lodgings at police stations as during the winter, but our private citizens are being constantly importuned by them. It seems as though we must put a stop to these vagabonds. If they are worthy persons, they ought to receive assistance from some source. If they are indolent and vicious they should be constrained and put in some place where they may be in part self-supporting.

A. W. Bigelow of Nonantum will sell out all his household effects at auction on Saturday afternoon, his wife having taken away her trunks and left while he was at work at the Newton Machine Shop. Her action surprised everybody for there was no perceptible reason for it. Mr. Bigelow has the sympathy of a large circle of acquaintances.

Powers' Paragraphs

The pedestrian signals at Washington and Jewett sts., Newton and at Watertown and Ador. of the Nonantum have been in operation for the past week. They are much appreciated by the many pedestrians who, heretofore, had to cross these intersections at great hazard during heavy traffic periods. But, another traffic hazard has been created since the signals were installed. Young girls and boys, mostly by the latter, have been playing with the signals and unnecessarily stopping traffic. As there is danger of rear end collisions when such signals are set twice in rapid succession, youngsters who persist in fooling with them should be made to appear at West Newton court house before the proper officials.

A representative of the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association called on us the other day relative to the criticism we had last week about the installation of a traffic signal at the junction of Washington and Concord sts. He admitted that while the traffic on Concord st. is not heavy, there is a dangerous, blind corner there, and that another reason for the request for the traffic signal is to give pedestrians a chance to cross Washington st. in safety.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night, John Temperley, the Newton "Bulldog," advocated the knowledge he has acquired by over 40 years experience in city affairs by raising an objection to the acceptance of certain new streets under the general laws. These streets had been built by private parties who are developing real estate in this city, and Alderman Temperley objected to their acceptance because the taxpayers of Newton will have to pay within a few years for the reconstruction of extensive repairs to these streets. In past years the city ordinances provided that a street could be accepted when it had a gravel fill of 8 inches, and a tarred surface. Such a street would not stand up long under modern traffic conditions. So, a few years ago the specifications were changed so that a more substantial surface was put on streets. This is known as Type B and consists of 2 inches of compressed tar-treated stone over the gravel filling. All streets built and accepted under the Betterment Law for the past several years have been constructed of Type B. Under the Betterment Law abutments on a street must pay for the cost of its construction, and the cost is assessed over a period of 10 years. The work is done by city employees. Under the general law persons developing real estate can have a street constructed by a private contractor. The street, if it meets with the approval of the City Engineer and Street Commissioner, can then be accepted by the city.

When Type B was adopted a few years ago for street construction, the then chairman of the Public Works Committee, Alderman Murray, advocated that the city ordinance be changed so as to make the use of this type compulsory. The City Solicitor, however, thought such a change would

NO. 6

Drawn from life for the GRAPHIC this week is James Joseph Byrne, widely known in Newton as "Bulldog." Twenty years old last March, he is pointing for a career in professional baseball, although he will not be graduated from Boston College until 1940. Right now he is working as a city playground instructor at Cabot Park, Newtonville, and is first string catcher for Mass. Knitting Mills in the Boston Park League.

Byrne has the physique of a big-league ball player, carrying 185 pounds, well distributed over a six-foot-three-inch frame. He is a remarkable hitter, having batted over .375 on the average for the last five years. In the Park League, he was hitting an even .500 pace after 24 games, and he hit .486 last spring for the Boston College freshman nine, a team that lost two games in ten, and those to the pitching of Newton's James "Fatty" Bagley of Providence College freshmen.

James Joseph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Byrne of 417 Centre st., Newton, and has an avid home following of two brothers and three sisters. One explanation of the family offers for his batting prowess is that his mother's maiden name was Casey. Be that as it may, Jim started his athletic career at Bigelow Junior high, going to Newton High in 1931. This was the senior year of Warren Huston, Connie Mack's shortstop discovery from Newtonville, but Jim was good enough to fit on both football and baseball varities even as a sophomore, although overshadowed by Huston's brilliant last year in both fields. "Bulldog" was always at his best against Watertown and Waltham. He broke into high school prominence in the first game of 1931, when as a sophomore, he pulled two touchdowns passes out of the air to defeat Watertown. The Waltham game of 1932 was one of glory for the Newton right end, and Newton upset an undefeated Leary eleven by 6-0. "Bulldog" was described as "a red light on defense," and snared a long pass to set up the only score of the game, Newton's last victory in this bitter series to date.

Jim played two years of high school basketball, reaching his peak in 1935 as pivot man for Allan Smith and Ted Laffie on Frank Simmons' league-leading team, on which he was third highest scorer. In baseball, "Bulldog" held down first base on Huston's very good team, hitting around .250 as a sophomore. He pulled that average right up to .385 the next year, however, and raised it again to .395 his last year at Newton, when Jeff Jones used him as a utility player. He was picked for the all-coaches football team in 1932, and gave Elbie Fletcher, now of the Boston Bears, a close run for first base honors in the 1934 baseball selections. In a game Newton won from Rindge Tech in 1934, Byrne set the Suburban League record for putouts with a total of 21, three of them on ground balls and 18 on routine assists.

Jim is generous in praise of coaches who have helped him along in baseball. First there was Jimmy Dunn, who steered him through five years of Newton High League ball on the Boys' Club nine, then Jeff Jones at the High School, who was also glad to have "Bulldog" on the old Scholastics in the Two League. Then after Newton High, Jim went to Dean Academy, and the famous Dan Sullivan took him in hand and made a catcher out of him, as he had done with Mickey Cochrane and Gabby Hartnett in other years. Before the big league teams knew they existed. And it is in their steps that Jim Byrne hopes he is moving when Mickey Cochrane brings the Detroit Tigers here next week. He has been given the chance to work out with the Tigers at Fenway Park while they are here, and will have his first real opportunity to show in professional company.

In June two baseball teams composed largely of Newton boys went to St. John, N. B., in an attempt to start semi-pro baseball in that city. Although the junket fell through when the promoters backed out, the St. John newspapers saw enough of the players to spot "Bulldog" as the real ball player in a fair lot, with his clean cut at the plate and his deadly whip to second base. Right now he is playing a grand game as regular catcher for Mass. Knitting, current leaders in the Western Division of the Boston Park League, and is batting over .450. He thanks Bill Hunsfield of Newtonville, former big league player and leading hitter for Mass. Knitting, for tips that are constantly helping to perfect him in the right technique of playing baseball's most difficult position.

Probably Byrne's tryout with the Tigers next week will not be his last contact with professional baseball, because good catchers are rare, even on the fastest minor league teams. But "Bulldog" insists that he will finish at Boston College. And to prove that he is no tramp athlete, he made an average of .81 in the first half of his freshman year, slipping to .79 in the baseball season.

Swimmers At Camp Day Pass Beginner's Test

At Camp Frank A. Day, the Newton Y. M. C. A. boys' camp in East Brookfield, Mass., beginner's swimming tests have been passed by twenty-six of the young campers. After but three weeks of the camping season all but a few of the boys who were unable to swim previously have completed this test to make a new all-time record in the twenty-one years of the camp's existence.

The boys who have recently completed their beginner's test include Richard Bedell of St. Mary's st., and Carmen Petrillo, Jr., of Washington st., Newton; Leverett Brimblecom of Fairfield st., Russell Cox of Roberts ave., Billy Kepner of Grove Hill ave., Delwin Smith of Mill st., Robert Taylor of Lowell ave., and Randolph Powell of Walnut st., Newtonville; Peter Alan, Ardmore ter., West Newton; Alan Bates, Central st., and Richard Minard, Maple st.; Don Crooks, Neholden rd., Waban; Marvin Axelrod, Williston rd., Brighton; Norman and Richard Barrett, Hall ave., and Tom Ashley, Fairview ave., Watertown; Willard Everett and James Hanna of Walpole; Marshall Hills of Wellesley Hills; Wilbur Noyes of Weston; Howard Bruha and Richard Simmons of Waltham; Edward Walton of Arlington; Jay Goodnow of Princeton, Mass.; William Thornberry of Lansdowne, Penn.; and Guy Leahard of Bluefield, West Va.

Larry Corbett of Dedham, a new boy at camp, recently returned from the Boy Scout Jamboree in Washington where his song "On, On To Washington" was the official national scout song. It was played by the U. S. Marine Band before 50,000 persons on July 4th and has also been played by Fred Waring and his orchestra on the radio hour.

Last Saturday and Sunday many parents and friends of campers took advantage of the opportunity to visit the boys at camp. The speaker at the Outdoor Chapel Service Sunday morning was Rev. William Turkenton, former assistant pastor at Tremont Temple, but now associated with the Evangelistic Association of New England.

Immediately after the service, the campers gathered around the new Melvin Lane Fountain which was dedicated with simple ceremonies. Mr. C. Evan Johnson, Associate Camp Director, read a few verses from the 13th Chapter of First Corinthians; and Mr. Clyde G. Hess, Camp Director, spoke of the fine contribution which Melvin Lane had made during his connection with the Camp as a camper and as a leader. Two trumpeters, David Ashton and Stary Summer, played Melvin's favorite hymn, "I Will Be True," and the dedicatory prayer was made by Mr. Charles D. Kepner, chairman of the Camp Committee.

This beautiful drinking fountain was presented by Mr. and Mrs. George T. Lane of West Newton in memory of their son.

Detroit's Names

According to Farmer's History of Detroit, the early French colonists applied the name Detroit to the settlements on both sides of the river, calling one North Detroit and the other South Detroit. It has had at least five other names, including Tondotiga, meaning "great village"; Waweatunog, "crooked way"; Teuchsa Grondie, referring to the bend in the river; Karontean, "coast of the straits," and Fort Pontchartrain. The name is the French word for "strait" and refers to the city's location on the strait between the lakes.

Mail-Carrying Camels in U. S.

In 1854, to make transportation of mails across the Western deserts of this country a "certainty," the Post Office department purchased a number of camels in Egypt and Asia Minor for $30,000. The stony surfaces on the deserts of Arizona and California injured the soft pads on the feet of the camels. An unsuccessful attempt was made to provide the camels with specially devised leather boots. The idea was finally abandoned.

"Bobwhite" Name for Quail

"Bobwhite" is the common name for the native American quail, especially Colinus virginianus, or Virginia quail. The popular nickname was suggested by the male quail's note or call, which sounds like "bob-white," with the accent on the second syllable. In the Southern states the same species of bird is called "partridge," a name applied in the North to the ruffed grouse or American pheasant.

Leading Cork-Producing Area

Cadiz is one of the ports for the world's leading cork-producing area, southwestern Spain and Portugal. Piles of bark, stripped skillfully every nine years from the evergreen cork-oak tree, are hauled through the streets of the ancient white city to docks along the well-enclosed harbor.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN THE UNITED STATES

The outstanding factor in the immediate business outlook is the increasing seriousness of the labor situation, states the current issue of "The Guaranty Survey," published by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. Strikes and disorders at numerous points not only have affected the general level of business activity but have had an even more pronounced influence on sentiment. "The Survey" continues. The feeling appears to be growing among business men that the present relations between labor and capital contain possibilities of such a serious nature that the entire recovery movement may be imperiled, with untold losses to both sides unless some change of a rather fundamental sort can be brought about.

Events have followed one another with almost bewildering rapidity in the strike situation in the last few weeks. The steel industry has borne the brunt of the difficulties, although many other branches of business have been affected in greater or less degree.

The two aspects of the situation that cause the greatest concern to business men are the exceptionally wide scope of the strike movement and the signs of a breakdown of public authority. The strike in the steel industry, while serious enough in itself, is only the spearhead of a drive for union recognition that is going on throughout the country and is affecting innumerable branches of trade and industry. And in several instances local authorities have been either unable or unwilling to invoke their law enforcement agencies for the purpose of preserving order. These developments have given rise to a fear on the part of business men that recent legislative efforts to regulate industrial relations with the avowed aim of preventing labor disputes have had exactly the opposite effect and that it is difficult, if not impossible, to foresee an end to the present epidemic of strikes as long as the legislative background remains unaltered.

Trends in Basic Industries
Reports from the steel industry indicate that the strike is exerting less influence on market conditions than might be expected. While there are signs that orders for some products are being diverted from strike-bound plants to others, no general tendency in this direction is visible; and it appears that the majority of consumers are well supplied for the time being. However, some anxiety is expressed as to the ability of the industry to supply enough tin plate for the canning of late crops if the strike continues for several weeks more. Output has declined sharply, amounting as presently to 75 per cent of capacity.

Automobile production has also been affected to some extent by strikes, although, as far as can now be seen, this influence is only temporary. The construction industry continues to show very slow progress toward higher levels of activity.

General Business Fairly Stable
Business in general is apparently being maintained at a volume that is encouraging in view of the strike situation, the normal seasonal tendency toward lower levels in certain lines, and the numerous other elements of uncertainty at home and abroad. The movement of railway freight has declined in recent weeks by slightly more than the normal seasonal amount but remains substantially larger than a year ago. Electric power production has shown no significant recession from the high levels that have been maintained in recent months. Sales of department and chain stores show approximately the normal seasonal gains and continue to run considerably higher than the 1936 figures. Factory employment has shown a slight increase contrary to the usual seasonal tendency.

It is in security and commodity markets that the effects of adverse influences have been most apparent. Stock prices, for the most part, have drifted toward lower levels in exceptionally dull trading. The weekly index of wholesale commodity prices compiled by the United States Department of Labor has shown two successive declines and stands at the lowest level since the first week in March.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

By JACK MORRIS

Newton Highlights

The Timmins brothers of Elmwood st. are playing for the Brighton Civics of the Boston Park league. Jim is pitching and Bill playing third base. Bill Timmins, considered one of the most efficient infielders ever developed in Newton, played this year in Little Rock, Ark., and Danville, S. C., before coming home to the fast local league.

Cliff Choquette, former Our Lady's high school pitcher, now a Villanova student, is playing with the Worumbio Mills team in Lisbon Falls, Me. This is said to be a fast outfit, carrying no less than six pitchers. His former teammate, Charlie Gallagher, is clean-up hitter in the batting order for Bourne in the Cape Cod league.

Louis Tabaldi has returned from Brockville, Ontario, and has joined the Cottage Crest Club of the Waltham Two League. Phil "Mucker" Greene, whose brother Joe came home from Brockville some time ago with an ailing pitching arm, is the latest to go to Ontario, where he joins Philip "Pete" Morrison and Brad Dyer.

Guido Castoldi, Newton High football and baseball ace, who played with Jeff Jones' Newton Independents in the Twin-County League until the team disbanded for the second half of the season, is now with Neil Mahoney's Harwich team in the Cape league, playing in the outfield.

James "Bullet" Byrne's Cabot Park midgets in the city playground league are playing such good ball that the playground officials are investigating to see if they are actually young enough to be classified as midgets. After they won one game 28-0, something had to be done. The midget classification, originally "under twelve," was modified by mutual accord of playground workers to include boys twelve years old and under.

George Brown, playground instructor at Burr Playground, Newton, is a student at Haverford College, Pennsylvania. He played freshman basketball and baseball last year, and had a scholastic average of 82.

Several tennis tournaments are on tap for Newton players in the next few weeks. Tomorrow many of the boys will go to Swampscott for the North Shore singles at Tedesco Country Club. Inside of two weeks the city playgrounds tournament will be initiated, as part of the New England championships. The Newton Y. M. C. A. will probably sponsor their tri-city doubles championships again Labor Day, and the Hunnewell Club is making tentative arrangements for an invitation men's singles tournament.

ANCIENT HUE A NEW HIGH SPOT ON THE FRANCONIA WORLD CRUISE

Next April during her circuit of the globe, the Franconia will add a new world cruise high spot, Hue, capital of the Indo-Chinese Kingdom of Annam, where aged traditions that have disappeared from China itself still flourish. Hue exists today as it has existed for centuries, not merely the capital of the country but the center of Mandarins and sages, courtly, discriminating, extremely intelligent. It was the fortress of the ancient race of the Chams and, later of the Annamites, who came out of the mysterious reaches of Central Asia, cradle of so many strange races that have affected history the world over. Hue and its court exert their influence over some 15,000,000 of the 21,000,000 inhabitants of Indo-China.

be too drastic, and the majority of the Public Works Committee agreed with him. So, it is still permissible to build the old type street of gravel with tarred top, a street surface that soon becomes rutted and worn.

At the meeting on Monday night Alderman Temperley raised the point that it is unfair to Newton taxpayers to permit real estate developers to build inferior streets, have them accepted, and then, within a few years Newton people are being taxed for the rebuilding of such poor streets. The argument has been offered that it would deter real estate development in this city if the more expensive Type B construction would be made compulsory. It has also been argued that some of the streets accepted under the general law have only a couple of houses completed on them. Other houses will soon be built, excavations must be made for water, sewer, gas connections, so why build a more expensive Type B street, to have it cut up?

There are experienced realtors, builders and men versed in city government who do not endorse over too rapid growth of a city. In such a growth inferior development may occur, as well as superior development. There has been a tremendous amount of building in Newton the past couple of years. Much of it has been high class. Some of it has been nothing to brag about. Certainly, Newton building mechanics have not benefited to the degree one would suppose. Most of the labor on the new residences constructed in Newton the past few years has been supplied by non-residents of Newton; many of whom received considerably less than the wage scales paid in past years to Newton building mechanics. And the building of hundreds of new houses, while it adds much to tax revenues, also entails large municipal expenditures for public schools and other municipal activities.

Last Friday we attended the conference called by James Roosevelt at the Parker House in Boston. Mr. Roosevelt had requested newspaper publishers and editors to attend, but, as might be expected, a number of politicians and political parasites butted into the conference room. This was not Mr. Roosevelt's fault. We believe he is sincere in his plan to have newspapers add the 35,000 persons to be dropped from WPA pay-rolls in this State by giving free advertising to such of these unemployed as may seek work. But more than newspaper advertising will be required to put those laid off from WPA projects into private employment. There is and will be a definite oversupply of labor due to the increasing elimination of human labor by mechanical devices.

Mr. Roosevelt in his campaign to procure employment for persons discharged from the WPA, will also be handicapped by the belief on the part of a large percentage of people that thousands of WPA jobs have been and are held by men and women not entitled to the relief they have been and are obtaining through this agency, and to the knowledge that many men and women are receiving better incomes under the WPA than they did in private employment. This not only holds true of the WPA, but also of other Federal activities started and conducted as relief measures.

GALWAY NEAREST EUROPEAN PORT TO AMERICA

Galway, the new port of the Cunard and White Star Lines in Ireland, is Europe's closest port to America, with its country directly faces. It is 500 miles nearer to New York than is Liverpool.

Kashmir, Isolated, Has Real Mixture of People

On the southern slopes of the Himalayas lies the native Indian state of Kashmir. It occupies a number of successive steps or valleys, the largest and richest of which is the famous "Vale of Kashmir," approximately eighty miles long and twenty-five miles wide. With an average elevation of 6,000 feet, it is surrounded by lofty mountain ranges, and is separated from the plains of northern India by rocky barriers fifty to seventy-five miles in width.

Despite this isolated geographical location, its inhabitants, the Kashmiris, are a mixed people. They are typical representatives of the Indo-Afghan races of northwestern India and Afghanistan. Medium in stature, though quite variable in height, they have rather long heads, with regular features and a tendency to prominence of the nose, which is usually straight or convex. Their skin color is light transparent brown; they have dark eyes and black, wavy hair.

The Kashmiri language is classed among the Indo-Aryan group, but shows an undercurrent of a more primitive dialect. In religion most of the Kashmiris are Mohammedans, but about one-quarter are Brahmans, and it is a common sight to see a holy man sitting under a tree surrounded by his disciples, or sunk in deep meditation in the attitude of prayer.

First Zoo, in China, Was Operated About 1100 B. C.

Caged animals have always fascinated man. It's probable that even primitive man had menageries of a sort. The first recorded zoo, however, was in China, advises a writer in the Washington Post.

Set up about 1100 B. C., it was named "Intelligence Park." Ancient Chinese scientists thus learned zoology.

Even before that, the idea of collecting animals had taken root. The easiest way to win the favor of an ancient ruler was to present him with a wild beast.

From China we jump a long way to the next organized zoos. Although Romans kept lions, they weren't for everybody's amusement, as many an unfortunate captive discovered before being fed to the beasts.

It was in the Middle ages that zoos, as we know them, began. Henry I of England probably had the first zoo of note, in the Twelfth century. Years later, France's Philip IV followed his example.

On this side of the water zoos started at about the same time. Spanish conquerors in Mexico found that Aztec rulers had had menageries.

We switch back to Europe for what is usually conceded to be the oldest zoo still attracting crowds.

Foreign Titles

The Constitution of the United States does not forbid American citizens to take titles or honors from foreign governments despite an agitation in the early part of the last century to put one there. Congress in 1810 submitted to the states a proposed amendment which would have forfeited the American citizenship of any person "who shall accept, claim, receive or retain any title of nobility or honor, or shall, without the consent of Congress, accept and retain any present, pension, office or emolument of any kind whatever, from any emperor, king, prince or foreign power." The amendment could not muster sufficient ratifications among the states, and after 1814 expired without further attention.

Deadwood Dick From England

Deadwood Dick was born on December 18, 1845, in England and came to the United States when he was sixteen years old. While he was still a young man he joined a party of prospectors in Illinois and went overland to the Black Hills in search of gold. His real name was Richard Clarke. He was a typical plainsman, swaggering, a l.w.a.s ready for excitement, chivalrous and handy with his fists or guns. He drove a stage coach, worked as a miner, rode the Pony Express and was a member of a vigilante band.

Kiev, Old City of U. S. S. R.

Kiev, situated on the banks of the Dnieper river, is one of the oldest cities of the U. S. S. R., its history dating back to the Eleventh century, and one of the most picturesque cities in Europe. Of unique interest is Saint Sophia cathedral, carrying on its 1,000-year-old walls many priceless frescoes which are gradually being rediscovered under the subsequent layers of paint added through the centuries. In Kiev, the center of Ukrainian culture and art, is located the All-Ukrainian Academy of Sciences, the Ukrainian National Library and a magnificent opera.

Dacres Commanded the Guerriere

Capt. James Richard Dacres commanded the Guerriere, defeated by the Constitution on August 19, 1812, in one of the most famous naval engagements of all times. Dacres and his crew, made prisoner by Capt. Isaac Hull, were taken to Boston by Old Ironsides. News of Hull's brilliant victory electrified and inspired the nation; the legend of British naval invincibility had been dispelled.

Newtonville Youth Wins Natl. Jr. Title

Robert Campbell Goldich, son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Goldich of 135 Blake st., Newtonville, last week swept the junior events in the 57th championship of the National Archery Association, held at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. A member of the Newton Archers, Robert is one of the youngest boys ever to win the national title, since his fourteenth birthday was last Monday, after he had won the national championship.

Robert's score of 90 hits for 654 points in the Junior American round is a new national record, breaking the mark of 89-643 made in 1932 by John Hobson. Another record fell to young Goldich in the double American round, which he won with 89-629, 90-654 for a total of 179-1281, bettering the eight-year-old record of 177-1277 set by Brownell McGrew in 1929. In the clout shoot, from the 120-yard distance, Robert made 36 hits with 36 arrows for a total of 248 points of a possible 324, a remarkable score for a junior to make. In the flight shoot, a distance event, Bob used a bow he had made at John W. Weeks junior high, where he was president of the school archery club. With his own weapon, Goldich reached 219 yards, no new record, but unusual for a thirteen-year-old.

Robert Goldich is no novice at archery. Junior champion of the Waltham Archery Club, the Newton Archers, and the state of Massachusetts for the past two years, Bob won the Eastern States junior title at Deerfield in June, as well as the international championship at Toronto. He is a first-class scout in Troop 5, Norumbega Council, B.S.A., and will be a sophomore at Newton High School in September. His mother, also a well-known archer, is secretary-treasurer of the Newton Archers.

City Horse Runs Wild Second Time

The high spirited mare recently acquired by the Newton Street Department, and which ran away from the city stable on Croft st. to Brighton on July 19, again went on a rampage on Monday afternoon. Charles Fagan, a teamster employed by the Street Department, was driving the mare and her mate over the Church st. bridge when she took fright as a train passed by, and bolted. The two horses dashed up Washington st., hurling Fagan from his small seat on the wagon. Traffic stopped by the signal light at Washington and Adams sts., caused the galloping horses to swerve through the hedge and yard at the home of Patrick Vahey. They continued across Jackson rd. and were stopped by a stone wall. Fagan received slight injuries and was treated at the Newton Hospital.

Street Commissioner Mahoney decided that the mare, having run wild twice within a few days, was unsafe to have on the streets. So, he returned the horse and her mate to the sales stable in Brighton from which she was purchased.

Lose WPA Relief, City Must Aid Them

Taxpayers of Newton will have to support a large number of citizens and aliens, and their dependents, because of the discharge from WPA list in this city during the past few weeks of scores of persons. Over 50 aliens, who have been receiving Federal aid for the past few years, were dropped from the lists. So were a considerable number of citizens. Most of these persons have not been able to find work, and will be dependent on the welfare department of the city.

During 1936 the Newton Welfare Department expended $493,340. Of this amount $115,394 was reimbursed to the city by the Federal and State governments, or is supposed to be paid in the near future. In aiding the poor the city spent $134,515 for food, $19,223 for fuel and $10,651 for clothing.

Newton Archers At Annual Tourney

At the annual tournament of the Newton Archery Association at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, last week competitors from 18 States and Canada participated. In the senior classes 178 contested. Bobbie Goldich, 13, of 135 Blake st., Newtonville, made two new records in junior events. It was voted to hold the 1938 championships in San Francisco. Henry S. C. Cummings of Newton Centre was elected for a 3-year term as director to represent archers of the Eastern half of the U. S. A. As chairman of the membership committee the past year, he was largely responsible for a 50 per cent growth in club applications.

Also attending the convention was Louis C. Smith of Newton Centre, who for the past 20 years has served the National Archery Assn. as its secretary-treasurer. He was presented with a beautiful Hamilton watch by members of the association. Mr. Smith is one of the three honorary members of the association. The others are Robert P. Elmer of Wayne, Pa., noted author, and Cyrus Dallin, of Arlington, the sculptor.

Accused of Drunken, Hit-Run Driving

Stephen J. Ryan, 65, of 46 Arlington st., Newton, was arraigned in the Newton court last Thursday on charges of drunkenness, driving a car while under the influence of liquor, and leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known. On the previous day, according to the police, Ryan had a hectic ride at Newton Corner. It is alleged that his car hit the centre span of the B. & A. bridge on Centre st., then struck the rear fender of a car near the corner of Centre and Elmwood sts., and next ran into a parked car on Elmwood st. An hour later Ryan's car was observed traveling on Washington st., showing evidences of the collisions. Later that afternoon Motorcycle Officer Goddard arrested Ryan on Watertown st., Nonantum. One of the automobiles allegedly hit by Ryan's car was operated by Mrs. Sadie Hasenfus of Needham. The case was continued until July 29.

Dogs a Nuisance On Playgrounds

Superintendent of Playgrounds Hermann announced on Monday that he would ask the Mayor and Chief of Police to co-operate with him in keeping dogs off playgrounds in this city. There is an ordinance which specifies that dogs must be on leash when on public grounds, but it is not enforced. In fact, with the large number of licensed and unlicensed dogs running loose in this city, it would be next to impossible to enforce such an ordinance. In some cases the safety of the children using playgrounds, has been jeopardized by dogs. Mr. Hermann advocates the fencing of all playgrounds in the city.

Drunken Driver Drives Wrecked Car Many Miles

About 5 a. m., last Friday, Lieut. Moan heard the repeated blowing of an automobile horn outside police headquarters at West Newton. Going outside he saw a small sedan with its roof missing, two doors on one side gone, and the side ripped out. The driver of the car, Adams McMullen, 36, of 14 Palmer st., Waltham, called attention to a companion in the car who was covered with blood and in a semi-conscious condition. The injured passenger, Earl Prescott, 21, of Brown st., Waltham, was taken to the Newton Hospital to be treated for lacerations and bruises on the head and body.

McMullen was arrested for drunkenness and driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He told the police his car had hit a pole somewhere along Route 138, near Milton. The Newton police phoned the Milton police, who had just found a broken car door near the shattered pole there, about 19 miles from West Newton. About an hour later a truck driver brought a seriously injured man to the police station at Mattapan. He had found the man lying alongside the road in Milton. The injured man, Paul Deney, 27, of Elm ave., Waltham, had been hurled from the car driven by McMullen. He was taken to Boston City Hospital, where it was found he had a compound fracture of the right arm, broken ribs and multiple cuts and bruises. McMullen was arraigned in the Newton court and his case was continued until July 29.

Youth Hit Step-Father With Bottle

Salvatore Leone, 17, of 57 West st., Nonantum, was arraigned in the Newton court on last Thursday charged with assaulting his step-father, Romeo Petrucci, with a milk bottle. Petrucci, who had a hand injury, testified that when he returned from work on the preceding day, he found the step-son lying on a bed, and when he remonstrated with the youth, the latter became abusive and hit him with the bottle. Young Leone testified that the step-father became abusive toward him after he lost his employment a couple of weeks before, had assaulted him with a spike, and threw an axe after him on the street. Judge Weston had the youth sent to the city home until he disposed of the case on Monday. Leone was placed on probation by Judge Weston on Monday and remanded to the custody of a parole officer who was to find some home for the youth.

Killed Dog, Didn't Stop, Fined $20

Martin Ford, Jr., 21, of 142 Maple st., Roxbury, was fined $20 in the Newton court on Tuesday by Judge Allen for not stopping his automobile after he had hit and fatally injured a dog on Beacon st., Newton Centre, on July 20. The dog was a fox terrier, owned by Charles McDonald of Glen ave. Ford said he looked back after hitting the dog, and thought it got up and ran away, so that it was not seriously injured.

Newton Resident Electrocuted

John Beck, 36, who for the past 4 years had resided at the Newton Y. M. C. A., 278 Church st., Newton, was electrocuted on Sunday morning about 9 o'clock at the Hood Rubber Company where he was employed. Beck was assisting in moving a large transformer when he contacted high tension wires 15 feet above the floor of the room where he was working. Henry Noyes of Dolan ave., West Newton, also employed as an electrician at the Hood plant, tried to rescue Beck, but he was also held by the current when he touched Beck. Noyes received burns before he was pulled away by Harold Hall of Natick, another employee. He was treated for shock and second degree burns on his right arm.

When the power was shut off and Beck released from the wires, he was dead. A crew of firemen from Engine 2 of Watertown used an inhalator on Beck for two hours, and Drs. Kinn and Loring administered adrenalin in vain efforts to resuscitate him. Beck, who was unmarried, had been employed at the Hood plant for 15 years. He was born at Shamokin, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Beck is survived by a sister who resides in Rochester, New York; and two brothers, Reinart Beck of Danville, Pa., and Rev. Edward Beck, pastor of St. John's Reformed Church at Shamokin. His funeral service was held on Wednesday afternoon in the chapel of St. John's M. E. Church at Watertown. Rev. Frank D. Taylor officiated. Burial was in Odd Fellow's Cemetery at Shamokin.

Test Shows Crystal Lake Water Clean

Because of rumors that the water in Crystal Lake was polluted and detrimental to the health of persons bathing in it, Supt. of Playgrounds Hermann had the State Board of Health make analyses of several samples. The report, received from State Health Department last week stated that the water in the lake is perfectly safe for bathing purposes. The Newton Health Department regularly makes analyses of the water. Crystal Lake has always had the reputation of being an unusually pure body of water.

Strikers Picket Winchester Laundry

Last Friday about thirty strikers, mostly young women, picketed the plant of the Winchester Laundry at Galen and Williams sts., the Newton-Watertown boundary line. The picketing started about 11 a. m., and continued for over 2 hours. The strikers were from the Winchester plant of the company where a strike was in progress. The picketers asked the workers in the local plant not to launder clothing sent here from the Winchester plant. The strikers asked for a 5% increase in wages. They claimed that while 16 drivers at the Winchester plant average $45 weekly in wages, 110 workers at the laundry average only $14.35 weekly. The workers at the local plant did not go out on strike.

Dangerous Driving Case Continued

Albert Clark of 59 Newell rd., Auburndale, was arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday on a charge of driving so as to endanger the safety of the public. The case was continued until Sept. 3. Clark was the driver of a light truck which on June 14 hit Giacomo Luzzo, 47, of Byrd ave., West Newton, as the latter was crossing Elm st., West Newton, in connection with his work as a garbage collector. Luzzo was confined to the Newton Hospital for several weeks with a severe head injury.

Sailor Drowns In Charles River

Santiago Collaso, 34, a Spanish sailor, was drowned in the Charles River on Sunday afternoon near the B. U. boathouse at Riverside. He had received his discharge from the steamship Darian at Boston a few days before, and was stopping at 379 Commercial st., Boston. Collaso was one of a few hundred persons attending an outing of Spanish people at the Necra clubhouse on Charles st. He hired a canoe and accompanied by Miss Acilita Gomez of North st., Boston, had paddled a short distance on the river when the canoe tipped over. Neither Collaso nor his companion could swim, but the woman managed to cling to the canoe until she was rescued by John Mendez of Hanover st., Boston. Metropolitan police recovered Collaso's body with grappling irons about 30 minutes after he sank. Persons attending the outing said that Collaso recently received word that his parents, two sisters, a brother and two nieces were slaughtered by insurgent soldiers in Coruna Province, Spain.

City Takes School Land at W. Newton

Mayor Childs on Tuesday morning signed the order for the taking of 5 1/2 acres of land near Derby and Cherry sts., West Newton, as the site of a new school to replace the old Franklin School. The order was passed by the Board of Aldermen at the meeting on July 19. The Board appropriated $17,456 for the purchase of the land. Most of the land was owned by Mary Beraldi and part of it by the Reynolds family. Of the amount appropriated by the Board of Aldermen, $13,000 is to be paid to Mary Beraldi, and $4,456 to the Reynolds heirs.

Vandalism By Boys At Newton Hlds.

Eleven boys residing in the vicinity of Parker ave., Newton Highlands, were apprehended the past week by Patrolmen Hoyt and Taffe for vandalism in a garage at the home of Earle Davis on Oakdale rd. During the absence of Davis for over a week from his home, the gang broke a lock on the garage door, damaged a boat which Davis was building there, smeared paint on walls, took tools from a tool box and broke an electric fixture. Four of the boys admitted having participated in the destruction and agreed to make restitution to the amount of $25.

City Physician Earns Salary

Dr. Alvah C. Cummings, City Physician, submitted his annual report to Mayor Childs on Monday. It shows that during the past year he, with the assistance of Dr. Fred M. Lowe, former city physician, made 1,034 visits to patients' homes, 66 visits to the city home at Newton Highlands, attended to 44 prisoners at police headquarters, and gave treatment to persons who made 1,885 visits to the office at City Hall. In addition 116 examinations of city employees were made, and 557 examinations for city employees who were absent from work. The cost of the service to the city was $3,200.

Another Hearing On Oak Hill Pit

Another episode in the legal ramifications which have ensued from the attempt of the Newton Board of Aldermen to enforce the cessation of operations at the big gravel pit at Oak Hill, occurred at Newton City Hall on Wednesday when a hearing was held before Wendell Murray of Revere who is acting as master. Murray was appointed by the Superior Court to hear evidence in connection with the injunction obtained by George M. Wilbur of West Roxbury, principal owner of the Highland Sand & Gravel Company. After the Newton Board of Aldermen in October, 1935, had refused to renew for another year the permit of the gravel company to continue operating its machinery at the big pit, Wilbur obtained an injunction restraining the Newton city government from interfering with the activity at the pit, which was started 10 years ago near the West Roxbury line under a temporary permit from the then Public Buildings Commissioner, Cecil Chadwick.

The Newton Board of Aldermen later countered by passing a traffic ordinance forbidding heavy trucking on Dedham st. Wilbur obtained another temporary injunction which forbade the enforcement of the traffic ordinance. Murray has been appointed master to gather evidence on the continuance of this injunction. At the hearing on Wednesday Wilbur's lawyer questioned City Clerk Grant at length on the details of the passage of the traffic ordinance. The hearing was continued on Thursday at Murray's office in Boston.

Meanwhile a bill in equity remains to be acted upon on exceptions taken to a decision given sometime ago by another master who was appointed to hear evidence on the refusal of the city to permit the continuance of the gravel pit machinery at Oak Hill. Exceptions were taken to the decision. A petition was made for recalculation of the matter. Judge Boudreau of the Superior Court will sit on this matter. In the meantime the excavating and screening of sand and gravel continues indefinitely at Oak Hill.

Newton Members of Constitution Comm.

The following residents of Newton have been appointed by Mayor Childs to serve on a committee to co-operate with the National United States Constitution Sesquicentennial Commission on plans for observing the 150th anniversary of the formation of the United States Constitution—Leverett Saltonstall, chairman; David Greer, 100 Brackett rd.; Edward O. CRYSTAL LAKE WATERS PURE

Not infrequently a boy or girl complains of some nose or throat trouble or some slight illness which many parents attribute to the fact that infection is the result of having been swimming at some beach or lake. Each summer in Newton these conditions doubtless give rise to various rumors that the water in Crystal Lake is impure and unsafe for bathing. The condition of the waters of this popular lake has been constantly watched by the playground commission and the Board of Health in co-operation with the State Board of Health.

The State Board has always given a clean report—and adds that it has the cleanest of waters in the state due to the effectiveness of the sun in purifying the water because of the absence of large shade trees around the bathing beach. The lake is also a tremendous water basin fed by springs, in places more than seventy-five feet deep. Parents of children who patronize this swimming resort may rest assured that the waters are hygienically safe.

THE WONDERS OF NATURE

Occasionally we see one of those rare phenomena of nature which emphasizes even more the wonders of nature. On Monday evening of this week storm clouds raced madly across the sky, seemingly as fast as many a man-made aeroplane. In the west the reflection of the setting sun cast a weird and peculiar tint of solid color against the clouds. An hour or two later another unusual sight was noticed as the moon, only a few days past the full stage, rose in the east—an almost perfect circle of burnished gold—and at the same time rain fell heavily from overhead. A short time later the clouds had blotted out the moon and nature resumed more ordinary ways. Yet in those brief moments the force of and wonder of nature had made a deep impress upon the minds of those who had witnessed this unnatural exhibit of nature.

KEEP YOUR DOG OFF THE PLAYGROUNDS

The Playground department has reported that there are an increasing number of dogs running on the playgrounds and sometimes scaring the children playing there by fighting each other. There is naturally a potential danger from dog bites. A city ordinance forbids dogs on playgrounds unless they are securely held by leash. Owners of dogs in the vicinity of playgrounds should observe these regulations in common courtesy for the safety of others.

THE TAJ MAHAL, AT AGRA, INDIA, IS THE WORLD'S GREATEST MONUMENT TO LOVE

There is no traveler whose pulse does not quicken as he turns in through the dark red gateway a mile outside the modern city of Agra, India, and catches sight of the famous white marble Taj Mahal, the tomb of Shah Jehan's beloved wife, a point of interest which is by common consent considered to be the goal and center of travel in India.

The Taj Mahal is unquestionably the most perfect creation that ever was conceived in the mind of man and actually realized in visual form. It seems too absolutely perfect to be real, too superlatively beautiful to be true.

The Taj Mahal, set in a beautiful garden, is the high spot on the overland trip through India in connection with the Franconia cruise around the world, which will leave the Cunard White Star piers in New York on January 6, 1938.

The Taj stands for the great and lasting devotion of a man for a woman.

The story of the love of Shah Jehan for Arjumand Banu, who became Mumtaz-Mahal, "the Exalted of the Palace," is one of the great romances of history.

Arjumand Banu was the motherless daughter of Asaf Khan, and niece of the famous Nur-jehan, the wife of Jehangir. As an infant, she was abandoned by her father during a flight from Teheran into India by way of Persia and Afghanistan. Water was scarce, the baby was a burden to carry—and she was only a female.

After journeying for several miles the father was overcome by remorse, returned and found his infant unhurt by the gathering waters. The group reached Delhi, India, in safety and Arjumand entered the palace of Jehangir and Nur-jehan. Here she grew up to womanhood.

In the year 1615 Arjumand was married to Shah Jehan, just twelve years before he succeeded to the throne. She had enjoyed the additional splendors of his court for but two years when she died. Crushed with grief, Shah Jehan determined that his lost love should have a memorial such as had never been seen before in the history of the world.

It took 20,000 men 17 years to build the Taj Mahal. With labor costs very light for day workers, at least $20,000,000 is reported to have been spent on the structure. It would cost $100,000,000 to rebuild a monument like it in these times.

The white marble, spotless in purity, was brought from Jaipur, 150 miles away, much of it carried on the backs of elephants; the red sand stone of the enclosing walls was contributed by Fatehpur Sikri; the jasper by the Punjab; the crystal amethyst by China; the turquoise from Tibet; the sapphires and lapis-lazuli from Ceylon; the coral and carnelian from Arabia; the onyx and amethyst from Persia and the diamonds from Bundelkand.

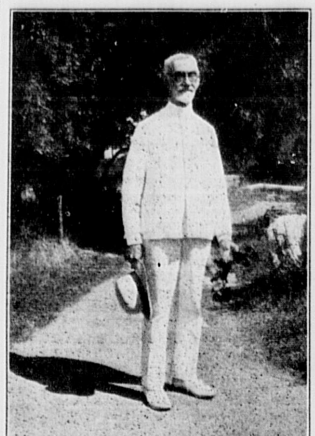

To see the combined glory of garden and tomb by sunrise or sunset is a memorable experience, but spending a long evening there, with the silver moon casting a fairy-like glamour over the scene, becomes one of life's supreme events.

The Taj has been vandalized numerous times and many of its treasures stolen, yet as a whole it is in a state of wonderful preservation, having absolutely no signs of age.

FOR DR. POWERS AND HIS GARDEN

Sometimes, when shadows are falling And Night spreads out her dark pall, 'Neath the hollyhocks in the garden Stands a figure so still and tall.

Perhaps, as he stands, he is musing On the miracle he has wrought— The dull drab earth his vision Has changed to this beauty spot.

And people pause, in their passing, And forget the cares of the day, At the glimpse of this glorious garden. Refreshed, they go on their way.

True beauty and love are unending, Eternal through eons of hours, And he who gave others this garden, Lives immortal among his flowers.

Ethel Dow Stubbs, July 1937.

Up Limit on Home Mortgage Loans

Monday, July 26, was the official date when the history of co-operative banking and home financing in Massachusetts moved forward past another milestone of progress. On that day the latest state legislation for liberalizing co-operative bank regulations and extending the maximum mortgage loan limit on residential properties to $10,000 per home became effective. This legislation, known as House Bill No. 1686, which was signed by the Governor in the closing minutes of the last session, is the first basic amendment of co-operative banking regulations since the loan limit for co-operative bank mortgages was raised from $5,000 to $8,000 in 1918.

The other principal provision of this amendment to state banking laws was the removal of previous restrictions on the "direct reduction" type of mortgages. Such mortgage loans were first authorized for co-operative banks during recent depression years. Their popular name derives itself from the scheduled method for repaying such loans. Arranged for terms of 5 to 20 years, these loans are payable in fixed monthly amounts. Since part of each payment immediately repays part of the principal loan, interest charges are steadily reduced each month and a larger portion of each successive monthly payment becomes available for direct and immediate reduction of the borrower's debt.

Originally, only 50% of a co-operative bank's outstanding loans could be granted under this plan of repayment. The unexpected popularity of the plan among bankers and home-owners in all sections of the state, led to the lifting of this restriction.

Rotary Club

Mr. Arthur (Robbie) Robinson, who has recently returned from Tientsin, China, to become Superintendent of the Walker Missionary Home in Auburn, gave a very interesting talk at the Newton Rotary Club meeting on Monday concerning present-day China. Robbie was a member of the Tientsin Rotary Club which is composed of about eighty members representing fourteen nationalities, pointing out that the Club is truly international in its aspects. He stated that the Club has been stressing father and son meetings, the establishment of boys' camps, and the putting aside of nationalistic feelings.

Robbie particularly stressed the friendly attitude of the Chinese people, and stated that after 25 years in China he would like very much to go back there. He gave many illustrations of how Chinese people place friendship far above business and economic success. He indicated that only during the last six months has China really come to feel a unified nationalistic spirit. He stated that this unification is a result of (1) the suppression of revolts in southwest China; (2) the victory of Chinese armies against the Mongols in Mongolia; (3) the kidnapping of General Kai Shih by his friend, Marshal Liang. Robbie stated that things were progressing very well for China in this spirit of nationalistic unification until the past month, when Japan has started activities in northern China. He ventured no guess as to the outcome of this conflict.

This excellent meeting was brightened by the attendance of many guests from other states and also by the singing of a Chinese song by Mr. Robinson, assisted by Cecil Clark, in Chinese costume.

This coming Sunday, August 1, will be the big day of the year for Scouts from Cambridge, Newton and Waltham. It will be Quincentennial Day, when all the Scouts, together with relatives and friends will visit Camp Quincentennial at West Rindge, N. H., where more than 100 members of the Cambridge and Norumbega Councils, Boy Scouts of America, are encamped.

Gov. Hurley will be represented by a member of his staff, while Secretary of State Enoch Fuller of New Hampshire will represent Gov. Murphy. Other dignitaries will include Mayor John D. Lynch of Cambridge, State Forester John H. Foster of New Hampshire, Donald C. Tuttle, secretary of the N. H. Development Commission; Deputy Secretary of State Harry E. Jackson. Capt. George Friel, head of the Cambridge fire department rescue squad and a delegation of Newton city officials.

A feature of the program will be inspection of the Scoutcraft Trail, along the course of which are the various stations at which the scouts prepare for earning their merit badges, on such topics as nature study, tracking, signaling, etc. The trail also shows right and wrong ways of setting up camps and equipment. There will be a "waterfront demonstration" and an exhibition of other scout activities, with an outdoor lunch available for the visitors. Theodore Storer is president of the Cambridge Council and William V. M. Fawcett of the Norumbega Council.

Newton Republican, July 31, 1875

Who is responsible for the naming of the Newtons—Newtonville, West Newton, Newton Corner, Newton Centre and a host of others, which we no doubt know separate names to distinguish them by the difference does not exist in the above names and mistakes must be constantly occurring, whereby the traveler to the Newtons lands himself at one place and his baggage at another. We suggest to the inhabitants of the Newtons that they consider this matter and no longer prevent people from visiting and residing in their limits by the outlandish hodgepodge of names that they possess at present. (Journal of Commerce, Boston.)

The assessors have fixed the rate of taxation this year at $13.50 per $1,000. The total valuation is $1,424,611 less than last year.

Daniel Mutch, a painter living in South Boston, while working on the new house of Mr. Rand at Winthrop ave. Newton, last Saturday afternoon, fell and struck the outside stairs, breaking three ribs and receiving internal injuries. Dr. Scates was called and advised his immediate removal to the Mass. General Hospital in Boston. A hack was procured but the man died as he entered the hospital yard. His wife, when telegraphed to meet him and she was waiting at the hospital. He was 40 years of age, and his family is in needy circumstances; the wife being left with four children dependent on her.

The noise of escaping steam from railroad locomotives is a fruitful source for frightening horses standing near the railroad. It is a good school for the horse if he is carefully watched until he is accustomed to this noise.

Policeman Rigby saved an old man named Cornelius Walker from being run over by an express train at Newton, and in the effort came near sharing the fate from which he saved Mr. Walker.

The Newton & Watertown Gas Company proposes to reduce the price of gas on October 1 to $3.75 per 1,000 feet. With increased consumption in the future they will be able to make still further reductions in price. This company has laid about 45 miles of mains, about half as much as there are in Boston. It has about 1,000 customers, while Boston has 28,000. The new price will make gas in Newton 25% less than in Brookline, Jamaica Plain, Waltham and Dorchester, and 75% less than in Malden.

The committee on Public Property has awarded to G. H. and E. E. Coffin of Newton Center the contract for building the new engine house there. The contract price is $12,400.

On account of the pressure of the times the Newton Mills at Upper Falls feel obliged to make a reduction of 10% in the wages of their employees, to take effect on August 1. It will be remembered that this company advanced wages 10% last April.

A young man named Murphy while driving a milk-wagon for Gilbert Maynard over Cushman's Crossing at Newtonville on Saturday, failed to notice that a gravel train was close upon him. The engine hit the rear of the wagon, milk and cans were mixed with wagon splinters. Murphy went over the dasher but was not severely injured. The horse took leg bail with the forward wheels.

Powers' Paragraphs

Sunday night shortly before midnight we went into a restaurant in a town not far from Newton. In a booth were two young men, two young women and two little children, the oldest not over 4 years of age. The four adults were drinking ale, and during the short time we were in the restaurant they guzzled two glasses apiece and ordered a third glass. The two young women, one of whom was apparently the mother of the children, were half-soused. The tiny boy was whimpering, which was not surprising under the circumstances.

The writer is not a reformer. He was and is opposed to prohibition. But, he remembers the slogan of the "wets." When clamoring for the repeal of prohibition they said—"The saloon shall never return." The saloon has returned, and in a far more iniquitous form than even the toughest of barrooms in pre-prohibition days. Prior to 1919 any respectable barroom would not serve liquor to women. And even the rowdy-dow joints would not permit women to bring small children into their premises. There is too much drinking by young women, particularly mothers of little children. It is about time that Massachusetts stopped places holding liquor licenses from selling alcoholic beverages to any man or woman accompanied by a child. It is also time that this state prohibit the presence of children in any place where liquor is being dispensed. We have been informed that in some Newton beer dispensaries women accompanied by children are served beer. If the Newton License Commission has the power to stop this practice, it should do so.

Driving on a heavily travelled State highway Sunday we observed two automobiles collide. The collision was slight, the extent of the damage being a broken hub cap. Both cars stopped and out of one, a decrepit, old roadster, alighted two young men and three young women. One of the latter was ostentatiously holding onto her back, and apparently attempting to give evidence of having just received a spinal injury, although the collision's impact would not have broken an egg. Each year in Massachusetts thousands of damage claims for fake injuries are made. "Injured spines" are among the commonest of these fake injuries. You and the hundreds of thousands who must pay compulsory automobile insurance pay for the settlement of these spurious claims.

President Roosevelt's defeat in the matter of the Supreme Court is being capitalized by those who are unfriendly to Mr. Roosevelt's regime. Magazines and newspapers controlled by mercenary interests in this country have seized on this opportunity to discredit the President. History is merely repeating itself. President Hoover experienced the transition from popularity to unpopularity. And before him President Wilson and other Presidents had similar experiences.

But, it will take more than the defeat of the Supreme Court bill to alienate the President from the masses of this country. Personally we believe Mr. Roosevelt erred in the method which he devised to reform the Supreme Court. It was an outright packing plan and would have established a precedent which would have made the court in future years the abject tool of powerful political leaders. We do not, however, join with those who believe that the Supreme Court and its methods shall remain unchanged. We still hold to the opinion we expressed in this column on June 5, 1936 when

NO. 7

Elena Ciccone of 20 Willow st., Newton Centre, sketched by Fred Dunton for the Graphic this week, is Newton's best-known tennis player. Hailed as an unknown in 1931, when she played her way into a Longwood final for the first time, Elena was playing for the junior girls' national championship just four years later. She was ranked first in New England junior girls' tennis for three years, and in 1936 she was ranked third in the country. She is now 19 years old, and graduated last year from junior competition.

Since that September, 1931, when sportswriters mistakenly called her "Little Eleanor" and lavished all kinds of praise on her precocious game, Elena has never been without a title. In 1933 she defeated Carolyn Everts of Newtonville in the state girls' final 6-1, 6-2, although Carolyn had beaten her only a month before in an early Longwood tournament. The next year she accomplished an unusual feat in graduating to another division without losing her championship. In the 1934 state junior girls' championship, she defeated Sylvia Hatch of Winchester 6-3, 6-2 in the semi-final and won the final from Louise Harding 3-6, 7-5, 6-0. This was the first of three consecutive years when Elena ruled the state girls' tournaments.

September, 1934, marked the first of Elena's three trips to the girls' United States championships, where she lost in the third round 6-1, 6-0 to Virginia Hollinger, the Ohio girl who so often stood between her and a title. In December, 1934, she lost 6-1, 6-2 to the same girl in the national indoor championships at Longwood, after outlasting Helen Bernhard of New York 12-11, 6-4 in her semi-final. In the women's national indoor tournament in New York the following March, Elena met the defending champion, Norma Taubele, and was repulsed 6-1, 6-1 in the first round. In the women's state indoor singles in March, she lost again in straight sets, to Dorrance Chase.

But 1935 was Elena's best year in junior girls' competition. She won the state title in June, defeating Louise Hedlund of Watertown 6-1, 2-6, 7-5, and outplayed Winchester's Ruth Asplund 6-1, 6-0 in the North Shore championship final at Tedesco C. C. Playing in the Longwood Bowl women's singles, Elena went out to Cecilia Riegel 6-3, 6-2, but teamed with the erratic Gil Hunt to win the mixed doubles crown from Dorrance Chase and Roger Thurber in three sets. In September, seeded third in the National junior girls' singles at the Philadelphia Cricket Club, St. Martin's, Pa., Elena reached perhaps the peak of her career, losing in the final round to Patricia Henry of Los Angeles 6-3, 8-6, after defeating Helen Bernhard 6-4, 6-0 in an early round. Helen had her revenge, however, putting Elena out of the 1936 indoor singles.

In June, 1936, Elena won her third straight state girls title, defeating Polly Morrill of Dedham 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 in the finals. Her tournament play since then has been limited, since she is holding down a job in a Boston department store. In the girls' national last September, she lost in the fourth round to Margaret Dawson, who went ahead to win the championship.

This year, Elena was top-seeded in the New England women's singles of the Hearest grand national, but was upset in the semi-final round by Mary Cutter of Winchester. In her only other tournament this summer, she was defeated in straight sets by Aggie Rice in the first round of the Longwood Bowl. On the basis of her 1936 showing, Elena is ranked seventh in the girls' national list, first in New England girls, and fourteenth in New England women's ranking.

The third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cosmo Ciccone of 20 Willow st., Newton Centre, Elena has five younger sisters, all of whom are tennis enthusiasts. Valia, Lydia and Glida all play good tennis after the example of their big sister Elena; Joanne and Martha already show promise. The tennis-famous Ciccones live only a stone's throw from the Newton Centre playground, which accounts largely for Elena's early successes. Her brother Nick was city playground champion in both tennis and paddle tennis before Elena won her first tournament, and Elena herself was first a champion in paddle tennis. Elena's best strokes are a sliced forehand and a strong sliced backhand. She volleys well, but gets into trouble with her service occasionally. She was an all-around athlete at Newton High, playing field hockey and basketball as well as tennis.

we said—"The action of a majority of the Supreme Court on Monday, June 1 in ruling that the New York minimum wage law is illegal will serve to hasten the day when legislation will be passed, either through Congressional action or Constitutional amendment which will overcome recent decisions of the Supreme Court nullifying humanitarian laws. The excellent minority report presented by Chief Justice Hughes, who cannot be classed as a radical, stressed the right of legislative bodies to enact laws for the protection of society. Those who place property rights above human rights, and who have been profuse in their laudation of those Supreme Court decisions which outlawed laws passed to prevent the exploitation of working women and children, will do well to remember that American standards of living will prevail, depression or no depression, even if the conjuring of Constitutional sacrosanctity must be dispelled." The President lost his fight to radically change the Supreme Court, but the fact remains that as a result of his campaign against our highest judicial body, the court reversed some of the decisions it had made relative to Mr. Roosevelt's "New Deal" measures.

We don't enthuse over everything which has occurred under the Roosevelt administration. At the recent conference in the Parker House at Boston, presided over by James Roosevelt, we openly told the President's son that the manner in which the FERA and the WPA had been conducted, had tended to lessen our respect for the present Federal regime. But, while the President may have erred in his method of attempting to reform the Supreme Court, he did cause at least one member of that body to liberalize his views. Supreme Court justices in the past have not been infallible or impeccable. Some have obviously been swayed by political influence, or by mammonism more than by humanitarianism. Many of the men appointed to our Supreme Court were far from being idealists.

On May 6, 1935 one of the most fiendish murders in the history of Massachusetts was committed at Hudson in this county. Daniel Crowley, an elderly coper, and a stranger to them, was lured into an automobile on Green st., Boston, by Frank DiStasio, 52, and his son, Anthony DiStasio, 22, both of Revere. The elder DiStasio drove Crowley to a lonely road near Lake Boone in Hudson. The younger DiStasio followed in a second automobile. Crowley was slugged into unconsciousness and then incinerated in the gasoline saturated, old automobile. The purpose of the cold-blooded murder was to make it appear that the elder DiStasio had been burned to death so that a heavy insurance policy on his life could be collected. The elder DiStasio was found guilty in November, 1935. The son was found guilty because of a legal technicality. Some months later he was tried a second time and found guilty. His lawyer then took an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Despite the diabolical nature of the crime, Frank DiStasio was not sentenced following his conviction until June 14 of this year, 18 months after he was found guilty. Anthony DiStasio was not sentenced until the latter part of last month. Frank DiStasio was sentenced to die the first week in August. On Tuesday of this week William R. Scharton, attorney for DiStasio, held a conference with Governor Hurley, following which the Governor and the Executive Council voted to grant a 6 weeks reprieve to Frank DiStasio. Do you wonder that this country has the worst record of any civilized (and probably of any savage) nation in the world for murders? Especially homicides committed in connection with crimes of robbery.

The United States-Canadian boundary goes 3,100 miles over land, 2,400 over water.

Early Increase in Felons

When a statement was made that the population of the Ohio Penitentiary was 70, as of August 19, 1918, three years after the first convict had been received, many Ohioans were alarmed over what they declared as an "enormous increase in felons," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Some editors, ministers and other leaders were crying to the heavens for an answer to the crime problem. One hundred years later, on August 19, 1918, the population of the penitentiary was 1,944, which as compared with the population of the state showed that the number of felons was increasing three times faster than the population.

Pelicans Experts at Soaring.
Pelicans are experts at soaring, or sailing—often flying at heights out of sight. Although the birds fly in wheeling circles they move on their course rapidly. Their breeding grounds are principally in the Northwestern states and in Southwestern Canada. They winter from Northern California, in the Gulf States and Florida, along both coasts of Mexico, and in the interior of Mexico as far south as Panama.

Words Have Opposite Meaning.
Thousands of the words we use have an entirely opposite meaning to that of the words from which they sprang. Pretty, quite complimentary, comes from the Anglo-Saxon praetig, which meant tricky or sly. The adjective nice has a pleasant meaning but it comes from the French, nice, meaning foolish or simple, and its real origin is the Latin, necius—ignorant, says Pearson's London Weekly.

War Was Tournament.
War in medieval days was a sort of tournament and attempts were even made to subject it to regular rules, so that men fought for three days a week and were expected to keep the "Truce of God" from Wednesday night to Monday morning, under pain of excommunication.

Pygmy Races Not True Dwarfs.
The pygmy races, mostly described in Africa, are not true dwarfs, having an average height of four and one-half feet. Their diminutive size is undoubtedly due to heredity, and they have many other hereditary stigmata, such as extra toes and fingers.

Smallest Country in the World.
The State of Vatican City is a sovereign, independent state by the terms of the Lateran treaty of February 11, 1929. By reason of its area of 108.7 acres, Vatican City is the world's smallest country, in a physical sense.

Meaning of "Incorporated."
"Incorporated" as used in connection with the name of a business firm means that the firm is a legal entity, with specific functions, rights, duties and liabilities, as set out in the law and its articles of incorporation.

Norway Pine Native American.
The Norway pine is not an immigrant from Norway as many persons doubtless think. According to an authority this tree species is a native northeastern tree of the North American continent.

The "Cocktail"
The expression "cocktail" dates back to cock fighting days when spectators used to toast the winning rooster with a drink containing as many ingredients as there were feathers left in its tail.

First Woman's Medical School.
The first woman's medical school in America was organized in Boston, in 1848, had 12 pupils and was known as the Boston Female Medical school.

Set Transatlantic Record.
More than a century ago the steam packet, "Leviathan," set a transatlantic record, Liverpool to New York, of seven days and 23 hours.

Paint Preserves Landmark.
In Salem, Mass., the old Assembly House was built in 1782. Now, more than 150 years later, it is a well-preserved Colonial landmark.

Diamond Found in Meteorite.
Among the many specimens of meteorites at the Field Museum is a slice of iron with a small diamond projecting from its surface.

Sits on Bag of Wool.
The woolpack on which the lord chancellor sits in the house of lords is actually a square bag of wool covered with red cloth.

Dogs Shed Twice Annually.
It is natural for dogs to shed their hair twice a year. Excessive shedding in dogs is generally due to some skin trouble.

Seaweed Makes Fine Fleeces.
Some of England's finest fleeces come from the Orkney and Shetland islands, where sheep feed on seaweed.

Pin Prick Means Have Another.
A prick with a pin in a Tibetan home is the same as asking you to have more refreshments.

The Biggest Successes.
Uncle Ab says the biggest successes come to those who do well the every-day tasks.

A TRAVEL CLUB WITH 7000 MEMBERS

The Cunard White Star Travel Club, which is operated on a non-profit basis for those interested in foreign travel, will celebrate the 8th anniversary of its organization next month. The club now has a total membership of about 7000 members, including not only experienced travelers, but also many "arm-chair" tourists not yet in a position to travel, but now improving their time by learning all they can about foreign countries in preparation for future trips.

Especially interesting is the fact that many members of the club not only write letters to one another in French, German, Italian and Spanish, exchange picture postcards and postage stamps, but also visit one another during trips abroad as a result of friendly correspondence about their respective countries.

Although the club does not act as a booking agency, a special budget plan provides an easy method of saving up enough money for a trip abroad.

CAN YOU GUESS THESE SIX NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS?

WARREN SETH
ETHAN HALE
EDWARD JOSEPH

PREBLE WARNER
ALLEN WILLIAM
NATHAN BARTON

These JUMBLED WORDS represent six New England Patriots—one for each state. These six names are made by taking one or more syllables or words from the six correct names and mixing them. For example: "What are correct names for these jumbled New England Cities—MANISTON and LEWCHESSTER?" The correct answer is MANCHESTER and LEWISTON. Simply unscramble these six names and fill in the name correctly spelled for each state on the Answer Form.

START NOW—SEND YOUR ANSWERS EACH WEEK

THE RULES PLEASE READ CAREFULLY!

1. The "KNOW NEW ENGLAND" Contest is open to residents and summer visitors in New England—with the exception of employees of the New England Press Association, their advertising agency or of this newspaper and members of their families, and with the further restriction of any person who has won $500 or more in any previous contest.
2. Beginning the week of June 28, 1937 and continuing each week for ten weeks, this newspaper will publish a list of jumbled names, each of these names will be jumbled to include syllables or words from some of the five other names. For example: "What are correct names for these jumbled New England Cities—MANISTON and LEWCHESSTER?" The correct answer is MANCHESTER and LEWISTON. The jumbled names appearing together will represent a similar classification. Each week six New England Cities will be jumbled. Each New England State will be represented each week in the six names. It is part of this contest to find the correct name that goes with each State.
3. The New England Press Association will award a First Prize of $2,000.00 as a part of $3,000.00 in cash prizes to the person or persons submitting the correct or most correct names for each of the six jumbled names, and in all other ways conforming to the Official Rules. The person or persons submitting the next nearest correct solutions shall be eligible for the additional prizes in the order of the correctness of their solutions. Merchandise prizes will be given to the twenty highest contestants in each state who will receive a Gift Packet containing ten full size packages—one each of the products advertised in this contest.
4. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your replies or make them elaborate.
5. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are persons tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more people tie in submitting the correct or nearest correct solutions to the 68 names, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them and will be awarded in the order of the correctness of the solutions of such contestants (without cost) to a second series of 68 names. Between two or more contestants for any position in the list of winners, identical prizes will be awarded to the tying contestants.
6. Answers to each weekly contest should be submitted during the following week. Ready-made facsimiles (hand drawn, not traced) of the Know New England Contest Answer Forms may be submitted. Entry forms may be submitted from any of the newspapers cooperating in this contest. The contestant should bring the answers or mail them by First Class Postage to the CONTEST EDITOR, New England Press Association, 14 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. Answer Forms in this Know New England Contest for the tenth and last series will be received up to midnight, Saturday, September 11, 1937. No Answer Forms will be accepted for judging which arrive at the contest office later than that date and hour, except those sent by mail and postmarked not later than noon, Saturday, September 11, 1937.
7. In order to qualify for a prize, the contestant is required to accompany each of the 10 series of answers with a remittance of ten cents in coin payment in return for which you will receive four beautiful photographic prints of New England scenes. Picture size 8" x 11", suitable for framing. Purchase of these prints is a condition for entering the contest. These picture prizes will be mailed to the contestant at the close of the contest.
8. Any person entering the contest and by submission of answers, agrees to accept as final the decision of the New England Press Association and the Contest Editor, on all matters affecting the conduct of the contest, the making of awards, and procedure and policy with regard to the acceptance of submissions during the contest. The spelling of these New England Names conforms with that given in the Encyclopedia Britannica. The New England Press Association reserves the right to disqualify any submission which shows evidence of collusion.
9. Answer Forms to which no names are signed will not be considered, nor will any claims to the ownership of such names be made. The New England Press Association will not be responsible for answers or contest prizes which are delayed or lost in transit either from the contestant to the New England Press Association or from the New England Press Association to the contestant.
10. More than one member of a family may enter for this contest if 10 cents is sent with each Answer Form.

If there is anything about this contest you do not thoroughly understand, write or telephone the CONTEST EDITOR, New England Press Association, 14 Beacon Street, Boston, or this newspaper for an explanation.

Enclose a dime with your ANSWER FORM when sending in each week's series. This is required under the rules to qualify for a prize, and is a return for the four beautiful photographic prints from pictures by Sam Chamberlain, distinguished photographer of New England scenes. Pictures are 8" x 11", suitable for framing. In sending your coin, wrap it in a small piece of paper before placing it in an envelope.

Double Trouble

Bob Burns is the unhappy groom and Terry Walker is the pretty bride in the shotgun wedding scene above from "Mountain Music," the dippy comedy of life and love among the hillbillies, which opens on Sunday for four days at the Newton Paramount Theatre. Despite the guns the wedding doesn't go through and Bob winds up as he generally does—with Martha Raye.

THE SOCIAL SECURITY PROGRAM — SOME POSSIBILITIES AND SUGGESTIONS

Officials of the Federal Treasury have announced that during the coming fiscal year, which began on July 1, the Government may be able to avoid resorting to the money market for new funds, largely because the payroll taxes under the Social Security Act will permit the Treasury to borrow about $700,000,000 from the old age and unemployment reserve accounts instead of from investors in general, states the Guaranty Trust Company of New York in the current issue of "The Guaranty Survey," its monthly review of business and financial conditions in the United States and abroad.

Under the act as it now stands, a similar loan will be made each year, increasing steadily in magnitude until 1950, "The Survey" continues. Within thirty years the aggregate amount of these loans will be sufficient to absorb the entire present sum of the direct and contingent public debt; and by 1980 the debt will have to be increased about $8,000,000,000, whether the Government needs the money or not, if the provisions of the law are to be carried out. It is probable that comparatively few citizens realize the possibilities inherent in this prospect.

Prerequisites for Success

The main objectives of the Social Security Act are unquestionably praiseworthy and must command universal sympathy. But the act itself should be recognized for what it is—a gigantic experiment, or set of experiments, with some notable weaknesses that need correction and with numerous other features that must be tested by experience to be proved workable. Certainly the old age reserve account should be abolished or drastically reduced. Both the old age and unemployment benefit plans should be adjusted toward a "pay-as-you-go" basis, with a definite requirement that taxes collected in advance of benefit payments be used to reduce the public debt and not to finance extravagant schemes of expenditure.

Serious consideration should be given to the possibility of financing benefit payments with taxes less likely to be destructive to business enterprise than those on payrolls. Finally, the operation of the entire program should be closely watched in an effort to determine whether the national economy is capable of bearing a financial burden of such vast magnitude without suffering ill effects so serious as to outweigh the advantages.

These considerations point, finally, to the one absolute prerequisite for the success of this or any other public benefit plan—the reestablishment of the national finances on a sound basis.

Financial Burden on Business

The aspect of the program that is of immediate practical concern to business is the huge financial burden that it will involve. Under the act as it stands at present, the $700,000,000 that will be taken in taxes and appropriated to the old age and unemployment reserve accounts during the coming fiscal year will increase steadily for an indefinite period. According to the estimates the three major features of the program—old age benefits, unemployment benefits, and old age assistance—may reach $3,000,000,000 within ten years and $4,000,000,000 within twenty years.

It is important to bear in mind that the bulk of the social security taxes is levied on employment and constitutes a direct burden on business activity. Whether business can carry a burden of this magnitude without a disastrous impairment of its aggregate productive capacity is a serious question.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 1.

The Golden Text is: "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (II Corinthians 13:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing, and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty" (II Corinthians 6:17, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Love for God and man is the true incentive in both healing and teaching. Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Right motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action. Love is priestess at the altar of Truth. Walk patiently for divine Love to move upon the waters of mortal mind and form the perfect concept. Patience must 'have her perfect work'" (p. 454).

Aphasia

Aphasia is lack of speech. It may be due to a local trouble, but is usually due to a disorder in some of the brain centers. Very often it is psychic or hysterical in its cause. It is this type of person who under great excitement suddenly regains the power to speak. It may be due to a motor defect which makes it impossible to speak so that one can be understood. Sometimes, according to an authority in the Washington Star, the patient becomes unable to recall sounds. Aphasia may be due to an abscess or tumor on the brain, or a rupture of a blood vessel. It may be due to some form of paralysis or toxemia.

The Seven Sleepers

The Seven Sleepers were seven noble youths of Ephesus, according to legend, who fled in the Decian persecution in A. D. 250 to a cave at Mount Celion. After 230, or in some versions, 309 years, they awoke, but soon died and their bodies were taken to Marseilles, France, in a large stone coffin, which is shown in Victor's church. Their names are Constantine, Dionysius, John, Marimian, Malchus, Martinian and Serapion.

The Amaryllis

The amaryllis is a member of the Amaryllidaceae family, a close relative of the lily group. Some of the members of this family bear flowers of a lily-shaped contour. About ninety genera are included among which will be found approximately 1,050 species. Many of these are bulbous plants such as the amaryllis, itself, the zephyranthus and the crinum. This latter variety is not unlike the amaryllis in either the shape or the perfume of the flowers. The bulb, however, is its mark of distinction, sometimes approaching a length of two feet and a width of ten to twelve inches.

ARGENTINA'S ROMANTIC GAUCHO

The early occupation of catching and taming wild cattle and horses on the great pampas of Argentina produced a type of frontiersman somewhat like that of the American cowboy of the years between 1800 and 1880, yet more distinctly resembling the caudillo of southern Russia during the decades preceding the World War.

The gaucho was above all things a horseman, never dismounting except to sleep beside his animal. His weapons against cattle and men were the lasso and the boleto, the latter being made of balls of metal or stone, fastened together by a thong, and so hurled as to coil around the legs of the man or beast aimed at, producing an immediate halt.

Round the gaucho clings all the romance of the pampas, for he was accepted as the embodiment of the primitive virtues of daring, endurance and loyalty.

Deeds of Cuzco

In Cuzco, Peru, once the metropolis of the Incas, are massive ruins on a par with those found in Egypt. When the city was captured by Pizarro its temples were marveled of magnificence, says the Washington Post. The Temple of the Sun was covered with a roof of gold. The railroad to Cuzco skirts Lake Titicaca, an inland sea, 161 miles long, 60 miles wide and 12,500 feet above the level of the sea. The water never freezes, even when the temperature drops to 30 degrees, and steel knives thrown into it do not rust.

Difference in Sponges
Sponges, although one of the lowest forms of animal life, vary greatly in habitat, color and size. They are found in both deep and shallow water in seas, rivers and lakes throughout the world; possess such colors as red, blue, brown and green, as well as yellow; and vary in weight, says a writer in Collier's Weekly, from a fraction of an ounce to a hundred pounds.

Pilot-Fish

There is a small fish about twelve inches long, called the pilot-fish, a member of the mackerel family. This fish accompanies ships and also sharks, guiding the sharks to their food. It swims close in front of the shark, not only to obtain fragments of the food scattered by the shark but also to secure protection from its enemies.

Loss in Coins Heavy

Wear and tear on metal money represents a loss of more than $7,000,000 a year. The government stands the loss. Appropriations are made each year for the difference between the face value of worn coins returned and the amount such coins produce in new coins after they have been melted down and re-coined.

Money, Latin; Cash, French

The word money comes from the Latin, moneta, which originally meant "a mint," because the temple of Juno Moneta, in Rome, was the place where money was coined. Cash, on the other hand, is of French origin, derived from the word caisse—a box.—Pearson's London Weekly.

Rules of U. S. Navy

The crews on the ships of the United States navy are forbidden to throw anything overboard that will float, as such debris might be used as a trail by enemies in time of war and by spies wishing to watch maneuvers in time of peace.—Collier's Weekly.

Land of the Triple "A"

The letter "a" probably gets heavier use in the Hawaiian language than in almost any other tongue. It is used not only singly, but in two's and three's. Examples are "Kaa," a thread made of fiber; "laana," devoted, and "maaa," sea breeze.

Doukhobors From Russia

The Doukhobors arrived in Canada in 1898 and 1899, and the government allotted them land in the province of Assiniboia, near Yorktown, and in Saskatchewan, near Thunder Hill, and Prince Albert. They came from Russia.

Aardvark, First Animal

Mentioned in Dictionary
Like something out of a dictionnaire's dream is the aardvark. It is one of the strangest of extant animals—extraordinary in appearance, in structure and in habits. While not one of the animals most familiar to the average person, it enjoys, because of the spelling of its name, the unique distinction of being the first animal to be mentioned in the dictionary and its name is one of the first words of any kind to appear in lexicons. The name comes from the Dutch, means "earth pig," and refers to the creature's piglike snout and its habits.

However, in spite of its snout and its smooth, fat body, the aardvark is quite unrelated to pigs. In fact, according to Dr. Wilford H. Osgood, chief curator of the Field Museum of Natural History department of zoology, the animal has been something of a puzzle to zoologists and anatomists who have undertaken to find a logical place for it in schemes of classification of animals.

Aardvarks are common throughout much of southern and eastern Africa south of the equator. They live in relatively open, semiarid country wherever there is an abundance of the termites or so-called "white ants," upon which they feed almost exclusively. Individual aardvarks reach weights up to about 150 pounds and appear always fat and well conditioned. For such a large heavy animal to exist upon tiny termites is rather remarkable and testifies to the abundance of such food in Africa.

Osmium, Iridium, Thulium of Platinum Metal Group

Discovered in 1803, osmium is a rare, blue-white to gray metallic element, difficult to fuse, not affected by ordinary acids and insoluble in aqua regia. It is the heaviest of the elements. A member of the group of "platinum metals," it forms an alloy with iridium, labeled osmiridium, which is used in making fountain pen points.

Like osmium, iridium is a rare metallic element, conspicuously heavy, states a writer in the Kansas City Star. Silvery-white, iridium was discovered in 1804. It is important commercially for its alloys, which are used for making standard weights and parts of scientific apparatus which must withstand the action of the atmosphere and other factors; in electrical apparatus for contact points and other parts required to resist high temperatures and active substances, such as chlorine.

Among later elements found to be present in the sun, thulium is extremely rare, occurring in Nature with other metals of the rare earth's group. It forms a number of compounds, the characteristic color of which is light green. Discovered in 1879 thulium has no commercial use.

Red Honey Produced

Even reddish-brown honey can be produced, Paul Griswold Hayes writes in an article in Nature. Logwood blossoms on the island of Dominica in the West Indies produce a singular tasting variety, but the color comes from the sap of the tree, that contains a coloring principle much used in dyeing. Most famous of the dark honey of Europe is that from the Scottish heather, with a cheaper type being derived from the English heather. In Southern Europe the favorite honey is probably the Roman, derived from the rosemary, and the Mt. Hymettus variety from the wild thyme of Greece. Although most ordinary honey crystallizes in six months after bottling, the white tuclo will remain liquid after 10 years. On the other hand, the blue-curl nectar granulates almost at once in the wax cells.

Monkey Business

"The Confusion in this City, occasioned by Counterfeit Copper English Halfpence amongst us, is almost inconceivable; for notwithstanding the large Quantities of good Pence we have long had, there is now hardly any Sum offered, but there are Counterfeit Ones intermixed; and to such a Degree of Suspicion, is the Common People raised, that many good Pence, which have passed current perhaps for above 20 Years past are now refused."—From the New York Post Boy of December 3, 1753.

The Great Dipper

The great dipper only appears to revolve, owing to the revolution of the earth. It makes an apparent revolution every 24 hours, the same as the sun. It is visible throughout the entire night because it is within what is called the circle of perpetual apparition, or that part of the heavens which is always in sight to the observer. This circle enlarges as one travels from the equator, where it is nothing, to the pole, where it takes in the whole Northern Hemisphere.

Walnut in Victorian Era

During the Victorian era walnut was used almost exclusively in the construction of practical furnishings—dining room and bed room pieces especially—though handsomely carved whatnots and other living room items, settees, small tables, occasional chairs and massive hall chests were also fashioned of the light-toned wood.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

By JACK MORRIS

CLOSE RACES IN LOCAL TWI LEAGUE

With little less than a week to go the races in both divisions of the Newton Twilight League continue to be close. Auburndale, by taking two straight games from the Pals now holds first place by a margin of 1½ games. A single game is the margin Pals hold over Cabot and Y. M. C. A. who are tied for 4th place. Any team but the Cubs can still land first place in the American division.

Outstanding pitching performances have been given by Herrick and Paul of Auburndale and Frye of the Y. M. C. A.

In the National division Upper Falls and the Giants are waging a merry battle with the Falls hold 1½ game advantage. The Center is still a contender for 1st place honors and these three teams appear to have the play off berths clinched.

Each league has selected an all-star team for the league benefit game to be held Monday evening at West Newton Common. Jack Leary and John "Gyp" Lawless have been selected to umpire. Manager Ryan has selected Fran Doherty and "Chatterbox" Murphy as his starting battery and Manager Cronin of the Nationals will probably use "Tucker" Rhodes and Marty Daley.

Newton Company Will Insulate Homes

Under the name of Paramount-Rich Corporation, the Paramount Home Improvement Corp., of Newton Highlands, Mass., has extended its building activities to include home insulation. For years, the Paramount Company has designed and built enclosed porches, a modern building development which converts the old-fashioned open porch into an extra outdoor living room enjoyable in all seasons. By insulating houses, old and new, with Flintkote Mineral Wool, the new company will bring years around comfort indoors.

Mr. William N. Rich, who is associating himself with this new firm, has for the past ten years been serving architects, contractors and home owners of New England in the insulating business. He is an insulating engineer with a sound knowledge of the industry as a whole and has, through his own company, insulated over 1100 dwellings, churches, and all types of buildings. In his capacity as insulating engineer his understanding of the varied problems that concern the control of heat losses will be valuable to the clients whom this new firm will serve. Combining as he will his broad knowledge with his engineering ability, assurance can be expected of a fine installation, and understanding of the client's needs.

The Paramount-Rich Company also offers its customers the experience gained by the Flintkote Company, for many years manufacturers of Mineral Wool insulation. Paramount is the exclusive local distributor for Flintkote, and the association of the two companies assures the home owner of prompt, efficient insulation service.

The uninsulated house is as much out of date as the old open porch. The modern house, insulated with Mineral Wool, is 10 per cent to 15 per cent cooler in summer and uniformly warmer in winter. It is also economical, the everlasting insulation paying for itself in a very short time by saving from 25 per cent to 40 per cent in fuel bills each year. The Paramount-Rich Corporation of Newton Highlands will be glad to give full particulars about Flintkote Mineral Wool Insulation, which can be installed quickly and easily in the roof or walls of any house.

West Newton Man Hangs Self

Michael J. Dempsey, 54, of 334 River st., West Newton, while temporarily deranged, hung himself in the cellar of his home about noon Monday. Mr. Dempsey, a respected citizen of West Newton for many years, had been employed as a trackman on the Boston & Albany railroad, and before that for many years was in the employ of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway. He was a native of County Galway, Ireland. He was a member of St. Bernard's Court, M. C. O. F., and the John Boyle O'Reilly Associates. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ellen Cunningham Dempsey; two sons, William and John Dempsey, and a daughter, Mary Dempsey. His funeral service was held on Thursday morning at St. Bernard's Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

"Miss Lizzie", Story Of Old Newton

"Miss Lizzie" an interesting story of the life of the late Miss Elizabeth Spear of Newton, written by Mrs. Bent, a former Newton resident and associate of Miss Spear, has been published and there is a considerable demand for it. Among the purchasers of the book is Rev. Raymond Calkins of Cambridge, a former Newton resident. He says that the book ought to find a ready sale among Newton people because of its great historical and personal interest. Miss Spear, who died a few years ago, for many years conducted a school in Newton and for over 40 years was outstanding in philanthropic work in this city.

TINTAGEL, WHERE LEGENDS OF KING ARTHUR STILL CLING

Modern critics may doubt that King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table ever existed, but in Tintagel, England, Arthurian legend is so real that a stone memorial hall has been erected to the memory of the monarch who is said to have led the Christian Kings of Britain against the Saxons of Kent in the 6th Century.

Mutiny at the Nore Was Partly Caused by Cheese

The mutiny at the Nore in 1797 was partly caused by cheese, according to a London, England, authority.

Early in the Eighteenth century there was a statement as to the value of particular cheese for the navy. It was to the effect that one third of a pound of Cheshire cheese was equal to one pound of Suffolk cheese.

What would appear to be a harmless reference to the individual taste of the sailors of that time, was one of the principal causes of the mutiny, for the sailors, particularly those from Suffolk, much resented that there should be any differentiation against them.

Preserved food was introduced to the navy in 1840, when the Admiralty installed a plant at the Deptford Victualling yard. Some years later the issue of tinned meat coincided with the murder of a child named Fanny Adams, whose body was cut up.

From that day the navy called tinned meat "Fanny Adams."

In the mutiny at the Nore the ringleader, Richard Parker, styled himself "President of the Floating Republic." He was hanged from the yardarm of his ship.

President Grant Called

Uncle Sam at West Point

President Grant was named Hiram Ulysses, but by a curious error he became known in history as Ulysses Simpson Grant, writes a correspondent in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. When he was about seven years old he received his appointment to West Point Military Academy through Congressman Thomas L. Hamer. Grant had been familiarly known by his middle name, and Hamer, who was sufficiently acquainted with him to know that, gave the young candidate's name as Ulysses S. Grant, Simpson being the maiden name of his mother. This circumstance was probably the origin of the error.

Grant applied to the West Point authorities and later to the secretary of war to have the error corrected, but somehow it was never done. He did not press the matter, and his associates at West Point promptly adopted the initials U. S. and called him Uncle Sam, a nickname he retained to some extent in the army. He was graduated in 1843, and his commission and diploma both styled him Ulysses S. Grant, by which name he was always afterward known.

Irrigation Old

Irrigation is as old as the first farmer. In ancient Egypt, as now, the water of the Nile was stored during the annual overflow and distributed later through small ditches, notes a writer in the Washington Post. More than 1,000 years before Christ, the Babylonians had a great irrigation system, based on the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, which enabled what is now a barren waste of sand to support a huge population. Palestine, with a scanty rainfall, has always found irrigation necessary. China has 50,000,000 acres under irrigation and India 55,000,000. This is about double the area of irrigated land in the United States. Japan, Australia, Italy, Spain, southern France and Mexico also depend on irrigation for much of their foodstuffs and most of the western part of the United States would be worthless for farming without it.

Congressmen

In popular usage the term congressman is applied to a member of the house of representatives, but officially, he is designated a representative, and a member of the senate, a senator. Strictly speaking, however, a member of either the house or the senate might be called a congressman, because congress consists of two branches—the senate and the house of representatives. While this is technically correct, it is misleading, because the average person uses congressman when speaking of a representative, and this usage has become so well established that a senator is never called a congressman.

Deep Water Wells

One of the deepest water wells in the world is at Putnam Heights, Conn. It goes down 6,004 feet, but yields only two gallons per minute. Another, at Passy, France, is 1,923 feet deep and shoots 5,000,000 gallons a day to a height of 54 feet above the ground. Wells have many uses. They supply water for irrigation, and even for keeping hospitals warm. Some deep wells send up water which is hot the year round. One at Charleston, S. C., for example, spouts water which registers 87 degrees.

Hand-Loom Weaving

Hand-loom weaving is an art which dates back to the beginning of civilization. Its greatest impetus in the United States took place during the Revolution when our supply of fabrics from the mother country was shut off. From then on, notes a writer in Successful Farming, until factory-made cloth became so cheap it was developed extensively. By the middle of the last century, only a few hand looms were still in operation, and these only in isolated mountain regions.
